The 31st December 1894.—IN continuation of the Notification of the 12th April 1887, and the notification of the 3rd September 1894, No. 3831J., the following rules, regarding the administration of the District Chaukidari Reward Fund, which have been prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal under the authority vested in him by section 65 of Act VI (B.C.) of 1870 as amended by Acts I (B.C.) of 1871, 1886 and 1892, are published for general information:—

1. The assets of the District Chaukidari Reward Fund constituted under section 42 of the Act will ordinarily consist of (a) fines and penalties levied under sections 8, 27, and 38, and (b) such sums as may from time to time be allotted to it by the Inspector-General of Police from the annual Provincial grant under the general head of Rewards. Such allotments will be drawn on enfaced bills.

2. Subject to the provisions of section 3A, the power to fine chaukidars departmentally under section 38 is vested in the District Magistrate. A copy of every order passed under section 8 or 38 by any officer to whom the District Magistrate has delegated his powers under section 3A shall be forwarded at once to the District Magistrate. On receipt thereof the particulars shall be entered in Register A prescribed by rule 6.

3. An appeal from any order imposing a fine under section 8 or 38 and passed by any officer other than the District Magistrate shall lie to the District Magistrate if lodged within 30 days from the date on which such order was communicated to the panchayat or chaukidar fined. Subject to the provisions of section 64, no appeal shall lie from any such order passed by the District Magistrate.

4. (a) All fines imposed under sections 8 and 38, and penalties imposed under section 27, and realised by a tahsildar appointed under section 46A, shall, on realisation, be at once deposited in the District or Subdivisional Treasury to the credit of the District Chaukidari Reward Fund by means of duplicate chalans.

(b) Penalties under section 27 realised by panchayats should be entered in their Register II (as prescribed by Rule VIII of the rules issued in the notification of the 12th April 1887) and sent at the close of each quarter to the officer in charge of the police-station, who will grant a receipt for the amount and deal with it under the preceding clause of this rule.

5. The Treasury Officer will retain one of the chalans and return the other, duly receipted, to the official depositing the money, who will forward it, together with the fine statements prescribed by rule 7, for entry in the accounts of the Fund.

6. Two registers, A and B, in the forms given in the appendix, shall be kept in the office of the District Magistrate (or of the District Superintendent of Police) showing the details of the operation of the above rules.

7. One clear week before the date fixed for the quarterly payment of chaukidars' salaries, the District Magistrate shall send to the officer in charge of each police-station a consolidated statement showing the fines recoverable from the chaukidars of such station. The officer in charge thereof shall thereupon at the time of the payment of salaries realise such fines and forward them under duplicate chalans for credit in the District or Subdivisional Treasury, together with any sums received by him from panchayats or tahsildars as penalties levied under section 27 of the Act. On receipt from the treasury of the duplicate chalans referred to in rule 5, he will return them, with the fine statement above mentioned, to the Magistrate with an explanation of his inability to recover any particular fine, or part thereof.

8. (a) The only officers authorised to grant rewards to chaukidars are District Magistrates, Subdivisional Magistrates, and District Superintendents of Police.

(b) Such rewards should not ordinarily exceed the sum of Rs. 5, but the District Magistrate may, if the state of the Chaukidari Reward Fund justifies it, sanction a reward of not more than Rs. 25. For any amount exceeding Rs. 25, the sanction of the Commissioner should be obtained.

(c) Rewards should, wherever possible, be paid by the District Superintendent in person, and in his absence by an officer not lower in rank than an Inspector. They should, as a rule, be presented at chaukidari parades, and in all cases with as much publicity as possible.

10. Fifteen days from the last day of each quarter the office of the District Magistrate (or of the District Superintendent of Police) shall prepare, in the form marked (C) in the appendix, an abstract account of the transactions of the Chaukidari Reward Fund during the said quarter. Such account shall be audited and compared with the Treasury accounts by an officer nominated for the purpose by the District Magistrate, to whom the result of such audit shall be duly certified.

NOTIFICATION—No. 5228J.

The 31st December 1894.—IN continuation of the Notification of the 12th April 1887, and the notification of the 3rd September 1894, No. 3831J., the following rules, regarding the administration of the District Chaukidari Reward Fund, which have been prescribed by the

Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal under the authority vested in him by section 65 of Act VI (B.C.) of 1870 as amended by Acts I (B.C.) of 1871, 1886 and 1892, are published for general information:—

1. The assets of the District Chaukidari Reward Fund constituted under section 42 of the Act will ordinarily consist of (a) fines and penalties levied under sections 8, 27, and 38, and (b) such sums as may from time to time be allotted to it by the Inspector-General of Police from the annual Provincial grant under the general head of Rewards. Such allotments will be drawn on enfaced bills.

2. Subject to the provisions of section 3A, the power to fine chaukidars departmentally under section 38 is vested in the District Magistrate. A copy of every order passed under section 8 or 38 by any officer to whom the District Magistrate has delegated his powers under section 3A shall be forwarded at once to the District Magistrate. On receipt thereof the particulars shall be entered in Register A, prescribed by rule 6.

3. An appeal from any order imposing a fine under section 8 or 38 and passed by any officer other than the District Magistrate shall lie to the District Magistrate if lodged within 30 days from the date on which such order was communicated to the panchayat or chaukidar fined. Subject to the provisions of section 64, no appeal shall lie from any such order passed by the District Magistrate.

4. (a) All fines imposed under sections 8 and 38, and penalties imposed under section 27, and realised by a tahsildar appointed under section 46A, shall, on realisation, be at once deposited in the District or Subdivisional Treasury to the credit of the District Chaukidari Reward Fund by means of duplicate chalans.

(b) Penalties under section 27 realised by panchayats should be entered in their Register II (as prescribed by Rule VIII of the rules issued in the notification of the 12th April 1887) and sent at the close of each quarter to the officer in charge of the police-station, who will grant a receipt for the amount and deal with it under the preceding clause of this rule.

5. The Treasury Officer will retain one of the chalans and return the other, duly receipted, to the official depositing the money; who will forward it, together with the fine statements prescribed by rule 7, for entry in the accounts of the Fund.

6. Two registers, A and B, in the forms given in the appendix, shall be kept in the office of the District Magistrate (or of the District Superintendent of Police) showing the details of the operation of the above rules.

7. One clear week before the date fixed for the quarterly payment of chaukidars salaries, the District Magistrate shall send to the officer in charge of each police-station a consolidated statement showing the fines recoverable from the chaukidars of such station. The officer in charge thereof shall thereupon at the time of the payment of salaries realise such fines and forward them under duplicate chalans for credit in the District or Subdivisional Treasury, together with any sums received by him from panchayats or tahsildars as penalties levied under section 27 of the Act. On receipt from the treasury of the duplicate chalans referred to in rule 5, he will return them, with the fine statement above mentioned, to the Magistrate with an explanation of his inability to recover any particular fine, or part thereof.

8. (a) The only officers authorised to grant rewards to chaukidars are District Magistrates, Subdivisional Magistrates, and District Superintendents of Police.

(b) Such rewards should not ordinarily exceed the sum of Rs 5, but the District Magistrate may, if the state of the Chaukidari Reward Fund justifies it, sanction a reward of not more than Rs. 25. For any amount exceeding Rs. 25, the sanction of the Commissioner should be obtained.

(c) Rewards should, wherever possible, be paid by the District Superintendent in person, and in his absence by an officer not lower in rank than an Inspector. They should, as a rule, be presented at chaukidari parades, and in all cases with as much publicity as possible.

9. Rewards should ordinarily be given for—

(i) Information leading to the prevention or detection of crime.

(ii) Seizure or recovery of stolen property.

(iii) Arrest of offenders or absconders.

(iv) Personal courage shown in resisting dacoits or in capturing thieves or other offenders.

(v) Meritorious conduct not included in the above clauses which the District Magistrate with the concurrence of the Commissioner considers deserving of a special reward

10. Fifteen days from the last day of each quarter the office of the District Magistrate (or of the District Superintendent of Police) shall prepare, in the form marked (C) in the appendix, an abstract account of the transactions of the Chaukidari Reward Fund during the said quarter. Such account shall be audited and compared with the Treasury accounts by an officer nominated for the purpose by the District Magistrate, to whom the result of such audit shall be duly certified.

The 31st December 1894.—In continuation of the notification of the 12th April 1887, and the notification of the 3rd September 1894, No. 3831J., the following rules, regarding the administration of the District Chaukidari Reward Fund, which have been prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal under the authority vested in him by section 65 of Act

VI (B.C.) of 1870 as amended by Acts I (B.C.) of 1871, 1886, and 1892, are published for general information:—

(1). The assets of the District Chaukidari Reward Fund constituted under section 42 of the Act will ordinarily consist of (a) fines and penalties levied under sections 8, 27, and 38, and (b) such sums as may from time to time be allotted to it by the Inspector-General of Police from the annual Provincial grant under the general head of Rewards. Such allotments will be drawn on enfaced bills.

(2). Subject to the provisions of section 3A, the power to fine chaukidars departmentally under section 38 is vested in the District Magistrate. A copy of every order passed under section 8 or 38 by any officer to whom the District Magistrate has delegated his powers under section 3A shall be forwarded at once to the District Magistrate. On receipt thereof the particulars shall be entered in Register A prescribed by rule 6.

(3). An appeal from any order imposing a fine under section 8 or 38 and passed by any officer other than the District Magistrate shall lie to the District Magistrate if lodged within 30 days from the date on which such order was communicated to the panchayat or chaukidar fined. Subject to the provisions of section 64, no appeal shall lie from any such order passed by the District Magistrate.

(4). (a) All fines imposed under sections 8 and 38, and penalties imposed under section 27, and realised by a tahsildar appointed under section 46A, shall, on realisation, be at once deposited in the District or Subdivisional Treasury to the credit of the District Chaukidari Reward Fund by means of duplicate chalans.

(b) Penalties under section 27 realised by panchayats should be entered in their Register II (as prescribed by Rule VII of I the rules issued in the notification of the 12th April 1887) and sent at the close of each quarter to the officer in charge of the police-station, who will grant a receipt for the amount and deal with it under the preceding clause of this rule.

(5). The Treasury Officer will retain one of the chalans and return the other, duly receipted, to the official depositing the money, who will forward it, together with the fine statements prescribed by rule 7, for entry in the accounts of the Fund.

(6). Two registers, A and B, in the forms given in the appendix, shall be kept in the office of the District Magistrate (or of the District Superintendent of Police) showing the details of the operation of the above rules.

(7). One clear week before the date fixed for the quarterly payment of chaukidars' salaries, the District Magistrate shall send to the officer in charge of each police-station a consolidated statement showing the fines recoverable from the chaukidars of such station. The officer in charge thereof shall thereupon at the time of the payment of salaries realise such fines and forward them under duplicate chalans for credit in the District or Subdivisional Treasury, together with any sums received by him from panchayats or tahsildars as penalties levied under section 27 of the Act. On receipt from the treasury of the duplicate chalans referred to in rule 5, he will return them, with the fine statement above mentioned, to the Magistrate with an explanation of his inability to recover any particular fine, or part thereof.

(8). (a) The only officers authorised to grant rewards to chaukidars are District Magistrates, Subdivisional Magistrates, and District Superintendents of Police.

(b) Such rewards should not ordinarily exceed the sum of Rs. 5, but the District Magistrate may, if the state of the Chaukidari Reward Fund justifies it, sanction a reward of not more than Rs. 25. For any amount exceeding Rs. 25, the sanction of the Commissioner should be obtained.

(c) Rewards should, wherever possible, be paid by the District Superintendent in person, and in his absence by an officer not lower in rank than an Inspector. They should, as a rule, be presented at chaukidari parades, and in all cases with as much publicity as possible.

NOTIFICATION—No. 566For.

The 28th January 1895.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 31 of the Indian Forest Act (VII of 1878), and with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following rules for the Protected Forest in the districts of Singhbhum, Lohardaga, Palamau, Hazaribagh and Manbhum in the Chota Nagpur Division:—

I.—Persons who are bonâ fide residents of villages in the said forest (hereinafter referred to as "villagers") may do any of the following acts, free of charge, within the limits of their respective villages, namely:—

(1) cut, convert and remove to their homes for their own private use, but not for sale or barter, any green trees or timber not of a reserved species as defined in Notification, No. 3589-For., dated the 17th July 1894, any dry trees or timber of whatever kind, and any other forest produce;

(2) cut, convert and remove such green trees of any reserved species, excepting Mohua (Bassia latifolia), Kohua (terminalia arjuna), and Hara (terminalia chebula) trees, and trees whose girth at four feet from the ground is less than two-and-a-half feet, as may be required for the construction or repair of their houses, or for the manufacture or repair of articles for their own domestic use or of implements of agriculture or other industry for their own use;

(3) pasture any cattle (other than sheep or goats) which are bonâ fide their own property:

Provided as follows:—

(a) sheep and goats may be pastured within such areas as may be allotted by the Deputy Commissioner;

(b) the Deputy Commissioner may, in order to promote tree-growth, close any area to the pasturing of cattle, for any period not exceeding five years, when there is, in his opinion, sufficient grazing ground available elsewhere, not too inconveniently situated with reference to the villages concerned.

II.—If it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner that the area within the limits of any village cannot produce the timber or other forest produce reasonably required by the villagers for their own private use, or cannot afford proper pasturage for cattle, bonâ fide the property of the villagers, and that the area within the limits of some other village can supply the deficiency in addition to supplying the wants of the inhabitants of such other village, he may, by order in writing, authorise the said villagers to do any of the acts mentioned in rule I within the limits of such other village.

III.—(1) Licenses may be granted by the Forest Officer—

(a) to any inhabitant of a town or village in the vicinity of the said forest, authorising him to take trees, timber or other forest produce for his own use; or

(b) to any person, authorising him to fell or remove trees or timber or other forest produce from the said forest for the purposes of trade; or

(c) to any person, authorising him to pasture cattle in the said forest.

(2). Every such license shall provide for payment by the licensee at the current rates for all trees, timber or other forest produce taken, or for any right of pasture conferred, thereunder.

IV.—No person shall cut, convert, or remove from the said forest, or otherwise deal with, any tree, timber or other forest produce of the said forest, or pasture any cattle therein, except as provided by rules I, II and III.

V.—If any green trees of any reserved species should be cut, converted or removed by villagers otherwise than as provided by rule I, clause (2), the Deputy Commissioner may, by order in writing, prohibit the cutting of any tree of any reserved species until the written permission of the Forest Officer has been obtained and the trees permitted to be cut have been marked by such Forest Officer.

VI.—No person who is authorised by or under these rules to cut, convert or remove trees, timber or other forest produce shall injure or wastefully use any tree of any reserved species, whether in the course of collecting forest produce or in any other way: Provided that this prohibition shall not extend to the lopping of Asan (terminalia tomentosa), Kusum (Schleichera trijuga), or Paras (Butea frondosa) trees for the collection of cocoons or lac which may have formed on them.

VII.—Any person who fells a green tree under these rules shall cause the same to be cut as level with the ground as may be feasible.

VIII.—No land in the said forest shall be cleared or broken up for cultivation or any other purpose without the written permission of the Deputy Commissioner.

IX.—No person who is authorized by or under these rules to do any act shall use fire in the collection of forest produce, in the clearing of land for cultivation, or for the improvement of pasturage lands.

X.—Nothing in these rules shall be held to permit any infringement of the rules for the time being in force in the "Protected Forests" of Bengal for the regulation of hunting, shooting and fishing.

XI.—The Deputy Commissioner may, by order in writing, delegate to the Forest Officer all or any of the powers conferred on himself by these rules, and may, by a like order, resume any powers so delegated.

COMPLAINT OF ASSAULT AGAINST MR. BEATSON BELL, OFFICIATING DISTRICT MAGISTRATE AND COLLECTOR OF KHULNA.

NOTIFICATION—No. 563J.

The 28th January 1895.—The following correspondence is published for general information.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 1146, dated Simla, the 20th October 1894.

From—H. LUSON, ESQ., Under-Secy. to the Govt. of India, Home Department,
To—The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

I AM directed to say that Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India desires to be furnished with a report upon the case in which a complaint of assault was laid against Mr. Beatson Bell, Officiating Magistrate and Collector of Khulna. I am to ask that a report may be submitted at an early date, and that it may also deal with the action of the Deputy Magistrate before whom the complaint was made. I am further to enquire whether His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor saw reason for taking any, and if so what, notice of the conduct of Mr. Beatson Bell and of the Deputy Magistrate concerned.

No. 4228J., dated Calcutta, the 12th November 1894.

From—H. J. S. COTTON, ESQ., C.S.I., Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 1146, dated 20th October 1894, intimating that Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India desires to be furnished with a report upon the case in which a complaint of assault was laid against Mr. Beatson Bell, Officiating Magistrate and Collector of Khulna, and also enquiring whether His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor saw reason for taking any, and if so what, notice of the conduct of Mr. Beatson Bell and of the Deputy Magistrate before whom the complaint was made.

2. In reply, I am to say that the Lieutenant-Governor called upon Mr. Bell at the time for a full explanation of his conduct, and I am to enclose a copy of the report then received for the information of the Government of India and the Secretary of State. Sir Charles Elliott, upon a careful consideration of this explanation, was unable to hold Mr. Beatson Bell to have been very seriously to blame. Mr. Bell received extreme provocation and lost his temper, and then struck the offender with a small cane which could not do any serious injury. In doing this he was unquestionably wrong, and he has borne the consequences of his intemperate action. The case against him was eventually compromised by his paying to the complainant Rs. 350 as compensation for damages and all costs incurred. This and the exposure and annoyance which he has suffered were, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, quite sufficient punishment, and His Honour considered it unnecessary to do more than censure him for his hot-headedness. He is an excellent officer, and this single act is opposed to the whole tenor of his life and character, which has been marked by unusual kindness to, and sympathy with, the people of the country.

3. As regards the misconduct of the Deputy Magistrate, Babu Satish Chandra Bose, I am to say that the Lieutenant-Governor can only attribute his action to the fact that he had not properly recovered his health, and that his brain was still affected by the cerebral attack under which he had been suffering when compelled to take leave three months previously. I am to enclose a copy of a letter No. 3426J., dated 14th August 1894, addressed to the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, in which the Lieutenant-Governor's views are expressed, and to add that the Deputy Magistrate is now on four months' medical leave in pursuance of the orders then passed. Babu Satish Chandra Bose is an officer who has hitherto borne a high reputation, and as his name happened to stand according to seniority first for promotion from the sixth to the fifth grade of Deputy Magistrates, His Honour saw no sufficient reason for passing him over when a vacancy occurred, and he was accordingly promoted in his turn on the 14th September last.

THE FACTS ABOUT THE CHUKNAGAR CASE.

1. It is true that on 20th July I assaulted a muharrir at Chuknagar. I have afterwards heard that his name is Keshob Lal Mittra. I struck him several times with a small cane which I produce (sent by parcel post). It is absolutely untrue that he fainted, and equally untrue (as the accompanying evidence will show) that he was ill with fever in the village for several days. There is not a word of these assertions in the sworn evidence before the Deputy Magistrate upon 30th July. They seem to have been added as a futile attempt to explain the fact that no action was taken for ten days, and the very day when my back was turned, a criminal petition was filed before the Deputy Magistrate, a notice of a civil case (damages Rs. 10,000) was sent to me, a letter written to the Lieutenant-Governor, and a letter written to the Commissioner. The present proceedings in the High Court have not been taken to secure a further enquiry: the Sessions Judge was willing to pass such an order, as the complainant well knew. I had myself asked him to do so. Neither were the proceedings taken in order to secure compensation: I myself made a full offer of apology and pecuniary reparation before the motion was filed. The proceedings in the High Court were instituted with avowedly political objects.

2. To explain the actual facts, it is right that I should begin from the beginning. My first visit to Chuknagar was on 10th June 1894, before I had been a fortnight in the district. My servants arrived in the course of the afternoon, and I arrived at sunset. My servants made vain and repeated attempts to secure the help of the cutcherry people in obtaining provisions for my dinner and a little straw for my horses. My khansamah tells me that he actually saw the naib and offered to pay for everything he secured, but the naib said:—"I can give you no help." The khansamah then asked him to depute one of his servants to point out the house of the chaukidar. But the naib answered:—"You can go and look for it yourself." He finally found it after a long search, but the chaukidar was not at home. When I arrived I found that not a particle of straw had been got for my horses, and that only one fowl and a few eggs had been procured, and they were got from another village beyond the river. I was very angry, especially when I found that the naib had disappeared with the obvious intention of still further insulting me. I finally obtained a little straw for my horses through the chaukidar, two fowls through an official who called himself the dewan of the cutcherry, one fowl through a servant of the sub-overseer, and some eggs direct from the raiyats. For every one of these things I paid in full, and produce my accounts in support of the same. Not only so, but the dewan demanded double the proper price for the fowls, i.e., eight annas instead of four annas each. I sent for the raiyats from whom he had got them, and they accepted four annas for each fowl. So it appears that the dewan attempted to do me out of eight annas, and probably to cheat the raiyats also. I have noted these facts in full as an interesting comment upon the assertion sworn to the High Court:—"The petitioner according to time-honoured custom purchased the fowls and eggs, and did not ask for or accept payment for them." I am personally most anxious to pay for everything I take. I have even thrown money upon the road in front of a cutcherry rather than not pay at all. I can produce zamindars to prove that I have again and again returned fowls and eggs when they have come in a "dolly."

3. My treatment upon this first visit to Chuknagar was so scandalous that even the zamindar became ashamed, and had an enquiry made by his mukhtear, at which my chaprassi gave evidence (I have just heard). The result was that the mukhtear came to me and apologised, and said they had dismissed the naib. I begged them not to do so, and said that I desired the man no ill. The mukhtear answered that they had other matters against him apart altogether of his treatment of me. I am not aware whether they actually dismissed him. On neither of my visits has the naib given me the pleasure of his society. The mukhtear ordered that he had given orders for my proper reception on next visit.

4. My next visit was on 20th July. On that day (which was hot and close) I rode straight through from Khulna to Satkhira, a distance of about 40 miles. One of my horses was at Chuknagar, which is almost exactly half way, in charge of my syce, Kakhnu. He arrived on the previous day, and told the cutcherry people that I wanted some milk next morning at 8 A.M. He offered to pay in advance, but the naib (whom he says he saw) said he would settle with me when I came. I never asked for fowls or eggs, and my syce assures me that neither did he. I wonder if any one expected that I should eat a living fowl while my saddle was being changed from one horse to the other! After what had happened on my last visit, and after what the mukhtear had said to me, I naturally expected that there would be no difficulty in getting a drink of milk upon the 20th. I was tired and simply parched with thirst. Judge, then, of my surprise when informed by my syce that the cutcherry people had up till then secured me not a drop of milk, and that the naib as before had disappeared. This was between 8 and 9 A.M. The bazar was filled with cows. I asked some of the people about if I could get some milk from them. The first answer given was that these cows could not give milk; the second answer was that no one knew how to milk them. I came to the very natural conclusion that I was again the victim of a conspiracy to insult me. Such a thing had admittedly happened shortly before in this very village. I went over to the cutcherry. I saw some fowls and eggs there; but no one ever said, to the best of my recollection, that they were for me. The fowls were hung up with string to their legs in a grossly cruel manner. Before going any further I had them cut down by a bystander, and made some vehement remarks about cruelty to animals, which no doubt served to work up my indignation against the cutcherry. Then the muharrir, Keshob Lal Mittra, came out. I asked him for milk, and he said that no milk could be got in the village. I see he has stated that he had cows in the cutcherry ready to be milked for me. This is quite untrue. I asked him where the naib was, and he said he had gone to Khulna. I asked him where the peon was, and he said he had gone to bring milk. I did not believe a word he said. I thought he had conspired with the naib to insult me and to gloat over my thirst. I accused him of disregarding not only the Collector, but his own landlord (referring to what the mukhtear had said to me). I fairly lost my temper and struck him several times with the cane which I produce. The cane being small and juicy probably did more harm than I intended. The man certainly never fainted, nor did he look the least like doing so. I then got on my horse and rode away. When I came to a river ten miles further on, I was so overcome with thirst that I stooped down and repeatedly drank the water with my hands. I met an old woman on the further bank selling milk. I bought a glass of milk from her and paid her a full rupee, for which she was very grateful.

5. I returned from Satkhira through Chuknagar two days afterwards. While chatting with the villagers (and drinking some milk procured for me by an up-country servant of the sub-overseer) I was informed that the muharrir had left the village immediately after my last visit, upon the very same day. They said he had gone to Khulna to bring the naib. I reached Khulna that day (Sunday) at 11 A.M. I did my work all that week and went to Bagerhat on 30th July. All through the week no communication or complaint of any kind was made to me by the muharrir. But, as already stated, the very day my back was turned, he launched a shower of petitions in all directions. Hearing a rumour of this at Bagerhat, I immediately wrote a letter to the Sessions Judge, and also went personally and explained matters to the Lieutenant-Governor upon his arrival. I had up to this time not seen any of the petitions.

6. I do not in the least seek to justify myself for committing the assault. It was quite wrong for me to do so, and I am ready to apologise and make reparation. I only stipulate that my version of what occurred shall have the same publicity as the story of the complainant. I see it stated that I should have apologised much earlier. I freely admit that to have done so would have been a highly honourable action: I therefore wish I had done so. At the same time I do not think there are many people who, if they struck a man in a moment of anger, thinking (rightly or wrongly) that he had grossly insulted them, can honestly say that they would seek him out, although ignorant even of his name, and insist on making an apology which he had never even suggested that he desired.

7. I have heard to-day for the first time that two hours after I left Chuknagar some milk turned up at the cutcherry. I give full prominence to this, as it goes to show that the conduct of the cutcherry officials upon my second visit may have been not intentionally rude, but only careless and inconsiderate. My impression that I was being insulted with malice aforethought may therefore have been erroneous, although perfectly bonâ fide.

N. D. BEATSON BELL.

KHULNA,
The 8th August 1894.

Statement of Kakhnu Mian syce (warned that he must speak the truth even if it goes against his master).—I reached Chuknagar at 8 A.M. on 19th June along with the sahib's horse. I tied the horse at the inspection bungalow and went to the zamindar's cutcherry. This was the first time I had been there. There was a man there whom people called the naib, and another whom they called the muharrir, and one or two others. I said to the man whom they called naib that the sahib would come next morning at 8 A.M., and that he wanted milk. I did not ask for any fowls or eggs. They asked if I wanted them, and I said:—"No, only three seers of milk." I offered to pay either then or to let them get the price when the sahib came. The naib said he would settle with the sahib when he came. He said the milk would be supplied. I said to the naib:—"Give me some straw for the horse." The naib said:—"You will get it in a little." I returned to the bungalow.

Nothing came up to noon, and I then returned to the cutcherry. I then saw the muharrir and heard that the naib had gone away somewhere. I did not see the naib again; I got no straw from the cutcherry. I finally got some thatch from the roof of the inspection bungalow to use as bedding for the horse. The sub-overseer gave me this. The roof of the inspection bungalow was being amended, and I got some of the old roof. After that, about 6 P.M., the chaukidar came with a little straw. Perhaps he got it through the cutcherry. He did not ask anything for it, and I did not give him anything. It was worth, perhaps, six annas. I asked the chaukidar for milk. He asked who would pay, and I said I would. He then said he would bring it at 8 A.M. I asked him to bring it at 6 A.M. I had also asked the naib to bring it at 6 A.M. After that I went again at evening to the cutcherry, and asked the muharrir whether he would supply the milk, or whether I should make arrangements elsewhere. He said :—"I shall be able to get a whole maund for you at 6 A.M."

I again went to the muharrir at 7 A.M., and the muharrir said :—"I have sent the chaukidar for the milk." I said :—"The sahib is coming: I am going to the ghat to look along the road. When the milk comes, send it quickly." The sahib came at 8-30 or 9 A.M., but no milk had yet arrived. I went over in the ferry boat to meet the sahib. He asked me whether I had made arrangements for milk, and I answered :—"The people here do not listen. No milk has turned up." The sahib asked me if the naib was there, and I said :—"The naib is not here, the muharrir is. The naib has gone away. The people here all say that whenever a sahib comes the naib flees away." Then the sahib went towards the cutcherry, and I went to the inspection bungalow to change the saddles of the horses. I did not see what happened at the cutcherry. After one hour I went to the cutcherry, having heard that the sahib had much beaten the muharrir, and I went to see him. The muharrir was sitting on the chowki inside, and two or three Bengalis were sitting beside him. The muharrir was not senseless: he was talking to the other people. The only marks I saw on the muharrir were two marks on his side where the skin was broken. People said that he had been struck 17 times, but that the skin was only broken at two places. I afterwards heard that the muharrir had gone away in a boat to his own home. This was before 12 noon that very day. I did not actually see him going. When the sahib returned on the Sunday, he got some milk from the servant of Kartik Babu (sub-overseer) and paid him 4 annas. The peon of the naib was also there with milk, but the sahib said :—"I have already drunk milk: what is the use of your milk? You people are great budmashes." It was then not 7 A.M. I have served Mr. Bell for more than one-and-a-half years. He has never once struck me or given me gáli.

TRUE COPY OF DR. JAGANNADHAM'S STATEMENT.

On the evening of Monday, the 30th July 1894, when the Magistrate, N. D. Beatson Bell, Esq., was at Bagerhat, Babu Keshob Lal Mittra was brought over to me for examination of his person and the granting of a medical certificate. On examination I found to the best of my recollection three scars on the outer aspect of the left arm and three transverse bruises on the outer aspect of the left half of the back. The scars were white in colour and the bruises black. The man was in good health, and before he exposed his person I could not spot the injured man. The man complained to me of no illness he had had, or any fever he had suffered from. From the examination of the wounds, their position, and the appearance of the individual I should not infer that he had fainted or suffered much after the infliction of the wounds. The wounds had healed, and needed no treatment. The man was when he came to me in excellent health.

I granted him no certificate, as he had brought no form, but told him to bring me one when I would do the necessary.

KHULNA,
The 8th August 1894.

No. 3426J., dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1894.

From—H. J. S. COTTON, ESQ., C.S.I., Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

THE attention of the Lieutenant-Governor has been drawn to the reports in the newspapers of the orders passed by the Deputy Magistrate, Babu Satish Chandra Bose, on certain complaints preferred by one Keshob Lal Mittra against Mr. Beatson Bell, the Officiating Magistrate and Collector of the Khulna district.

2. The Deputy Magistrate was Settlement Officer of Midnapore, and as a consequence of hard work and exposure in that district, it was reported in April last that his brain was affected, and the Civil Surgeon then certified that he was suffering from cerebral derangement. He was accordingly allowed the privilege leave of two months and 21 days to which he was entitled, with effect from the 1st May last. While on leave he was transferred to Khulna, and he joined at that district on the 26th July. The complaint of Keshob Lal Mittra was preferred before him on the 30th July. This complaint the Deputy Magistrate dismissed on the ground that the assault complained of was too trivial to take notice of, and that on the face of it it was false. It was his obvious duty to have laid the case, which, under section 443, Criminal Procedure Code, he was not competent to try, before the District Magistrate for orders. The Deputy Magistrate, however, not only dismissed the complaint, but directed that the complainant should be called on to show cause why he should not be prosecuted for instituting a false charge. He also threw unnecessary difficulties in the way of the complainant obtaining copies of the orders passed. The whole of the action taken by the Deputy Magistrate on this occasion is, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, inexplicable, except on the hypothesis that his mind has not yet regained its equilibrium, and that he is still unfit to discharge properly the duties of a Deputy Magistrate. His Honour desires therefore that he may be at once relieved of his duties, and be called on to take further leave (if necessary without pay) for such period as may afford him a fuller opportunity of recovering his health. It is to be regretted that he was allowed to resume work without a medical certificate, and he cannot be permitted to rejoin his duties on the expiration of the further leave he is now required to take until he is certified by a Presidency Surgeon in Calcutta to be quite recovered. I am to request that you will give immediate effect to these orders, and report, for the information of Government, the date on which Babu Satish Chandra Bose again proceeds on leave.

No. 56, dated Calcutta, the 26th December 1894.

From—The Government of India, Home Department,
To—Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

WE have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your telegram, dated the 16th October last, requesting us to enquire into the case in which a complaint of assault had been laid against Mr. Beatson Bell, Officiating District Magistrate and Collector of Khulna, and after consideration to report our opinion on the subject.

2. In reply, we beg to forward a copy of a letter from the Government of Bengal, and of its enclosures, which we have received in response to a reference* made to that Government, asking for a report concerning the case both as regards Mr. Bell, and also the action of the Deputy Magistrate before whom the complaint of assault was preferred.

* Vide letter to the Government of Bengal, No. 1146, dated 20th October 1894 (copy enclosed).

3. The circumstances under which Mr. Bell committed an assault on the 20th July last upon a zamindar's clerk at Chuknagar, a village in the Khulna district, are detailed in the correspondence received from the Government of Bengal. They have been brought into greater prominence than would otherwise have been the case, owing to the fact that Mr. Bell was, when the assault was committed, holding temporary charge of the office of Magistrate of the Khulna district. Mr. Bell had at the time served about 4½ years in India, and had acquired the reputation of being a sympathetic and promising officer.

4. The fact that he had, on a previous visit to Chuknagar, been treated with a want of courtesy, and the suspicion that he was, on the occasion of his second visit, being subjected to similar treatment, appear to have irritated him when after a long and hot ride he arrived at the village. It does not appear that there was on this occasion any intention of being disobliging to him, and he might, had he not been impatient, have speedily discovered this. It was Mr. Bell's plain duty, when he recovered his temper, to have sent for the zamindar and expressed to him his regret for what had occurred. Had he followed this course, he might probably have heard nothing further about the matter, and it was not till a week after the assault, during which time he was at his head-quarters, with the zamindar within call, that the complaint was made in the Deputy Magistrate's Court.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor thought it his duty, as explained in Mr. Cotton's letter, to censure Mr. Beatson Bell for his hot-headedness, but considered that it was, in the circumstances, undesirable to add, by punishment or public censure, to the annoyance which the publicity involved in the institution of proceedings against him in the High Court had caused to an officer of meritorious service who had apologised for his conduct and paid considerable compensation. It is possible that this silence has been misconstrued, but we do not think that the circumstances of the case are such as to require that any further notice should now be taken of Mr. Bell's conduct.

6. Turning to the conduct of the Deputy Magistrate, Babu Satis Chandra Bose, it appears that the complaint of assault was preferred before him on the 30th July, and that he not only dismissed it on the alleged ground that it was trivial and false, but also directed that the complainant should be called upon to show cause why he should not be prosecuted for instituting a false charge. He also threw unnecessary difficulties in the way of the complainant obtaining copies of the orders passed. The Local Government attributes this action to the fact that the Deputy Magistrate, who had been suffering from a cerebral attack had not properly recovered his health. He had been compelled on this account to take three months' leave, and had only returned to duty four days before the complaint was laid in his Court. The Deputy Magistrate's proceedings appear to us to be such as might be expected in a man suffering from mental derangement.

7. The Deputy Magistrate was required to take further leave on medical certificate on 14th August. He is, as explained by the Government of Bengal, an officer who has hitherto borne a high reputation, and during the second period of his absence on leave he became the Senior Deputy Magistrate in the sixth grade. Promotion from the sixth to the fifth grade is made according to seniority, and on a vacancy occurring in the fifth grade on September 14th, the Lieutenant-Governor did not consider that there were sufficient reasons for passing over Babu Satish Chandra Bose in favour of an officer junior to him. While we see no reason to question the intention of the Local Government in promoting the Deputy Magistrate, we think that his peculiar proceedings in this case and the fact that he had been recently declared by the Local Government to be still unfit to discharge the duties of his office, rendered it inexpedient to promote him until his fitness had been further tested.

RETIREMENT OF MAHAMAHOPADHYAYA MAHES CHANDRA NYAYARATNA, C.I.E.

The 19*th February* 1895.—The retirement of Mahámahopádhyáya Mahes Chandra Nyáyárátna, C.I.E., from the Principalship of the Sanskrit College affords the Lieutenant-Governor a suitable opportunity for placing on record his appreciation of the services rendered by the Pandit, during his long career as a Government officer, alike to Sanskrit learning and to the spread of education. While his general culture in the field of Sanskrit learning is exceptionally wide, his special reputation as a student of Nyáya stands high among the scholars of India and Europe. Since his first appointment as Officiating Principal of the Sanskrit College in 1877, he has steadily devoted himself to the encouragement of the study of Sanskrit in the indigenous Tols of the country. The institution of the Sanskrit Title Examination, which has proved so popular and successful a measure, and the substantial rewards more recently offered to tol-pandits and their pupils throughout the Province, for proficiency in Sanskrit as tested by examination, owe their origin to his direct initiative. Both these measures have appealed widely to popular sympathies, and have elicited large contributions from private liberality in their support. When he has been consulted upon measures affecting the public weal, the influence of the Pandit has been steadily ranged on the side of order and good government, while his sound and temperate judgment, his uprightness and loyalty, have lent weight to his counsels. The cordial good wishes of the Government of Bengal follow Mahámahopádhyáya Mahes Chandra Nyáyáratna in his well-earned retirement.

RULES FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF SUB-INSPECTORS OF POLICE.

THE next divisional examination of candidates to fill vacancies in the rank of Sub-Inspector of Police will be held on the 22nd and 23rd July 1895, at the following centres:—at Calcutta for the Presidency, Rajshahi, and Burdwan Divisions; at Bankipore for the Patna, Bhagalpur, and Chota Nagpur Divisions; at Dacca for the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions; and at Cuttack for the Orissa Division. The following classes of candidates will be admissible to the examination:—

(a) Persons who have passed the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University, provided they are not less than 21 nor more than 25 years of age.

(b) Persons now serving as head-constables and writer-constables in the police, who have obtained the permission of the District Magistrate to appear at the examination, provided that they are not more than 30 years of age, and are of not less than two years' standing in the Department. This permission will only be given to persons who satisfy the conditions laid down in Rule 2.

2. No person will be deemed qualified who does not satisfy the following conditions:—

I.—That he has no disease, constitutional affection or bodily infirmity unfitting him, or likely to unfit him, for police duties, and that he is up to the physical standard prescribed for the area in which he wishes to serve.

NOTE.—"Stuttering or stammering" is a constitutional defect, and represents a physical disqualification.

II.—That he is of good moral character.

III.—That he belongs to a respectable family.

IV.—That he produces a certificate of ability to ride signed by a district officer.

3. Applications for permission to appear at the examination must be submitted, not later than one month before the date fixed, to the Magistrate of the district in which the candidate resides, stating the place at which he desires to appear for examination. Each application from class (a) candidates must be accompanied by a fee of Rs. 5. All candidates will be required to satisfy the conditions specified in Rule 2 above. The certificate of health should be signed either by the Civil Surgeon of the district in which the candidate ordinarily resides, or in Calcutta by one of the Professors of the Calcutta Medical College. Forms of application are available in the offices of District Superintendents of Police.

The Magistrate should require a personal identification of each candidate by some known person, whose name should be recorded, and satisfy himself that the certificates of respectability and moral character refer to the individual applying for permission to appear at the examination, and send him to the District Superintendent for certificate as to physical fitness. This certificate should contain the applicant's descriptive roll, thumb impression, signature and address for purposes of identification. The District Superintendent will then obtain a health certificate, the fee for which will in all cases be Rs. 4 from the Civil Surgeon, and send it, together with the certificate of physical fitness, to the Magistrate, who will, after subjecting the candidate to an examination in riding and noting the fact, grant a written permission to appear at the examination.

As these certificates form the verification rolls of candidates, they should be very carefully examined and enquiries made when necessary.

The above papers with the examination fee will be forwarded without delay by the Magistrate of the district in which the candidate resides to the Magistrate of the centre at which the candidate wishes to be examined.

The Examination Committee before the examination will compare the descriptions, thumb impressions, duplicate impressions being taken for the purpose, if necessary, and signatures, and satisfy itself about the identity of the person appearing.

At the examination the candidate will be required to sign the papers in every subject, writing his father's name and his own address on them to avoid confusion arising out of a similarity of names.

After the result of the examination is known, the certificates of passed candidates will be forwarded to the Inspector-General's Office, and will then be treated as verification rolls.

The certificates of unsuccessful candidates will be returned if asked for within two months or destroyed at the end of that period.

4. The subjects of examination will be as follows:—

I.—Dictation, letter-drafting, précis-writing, and a short translation from Bengali, Uriya or Hindi into English. Europeans and Eurasians will be allowed to choose one out of these three languages to be examined in. No candidate failing to obtain half-marks in this paper will be considered qualified for appointment.

II.—Paper on general knowledge. The questions will be set so as to test the general information and intelligence of candidates.

III.—Mathematics, including arithmetic and algebra, and account-keeping.

IV.—Law, including the Penal Code, the Criminal Procedure Code, and the Evidence Act.

N.B.—Class (b) candidates will be exempted from passing in algebra.

5. The marks will be given on the following scale:—

1.	Dictation and language	200
2.	General knowledge	200
3.	Mathematics	200
4.	Law	200

6. The number of candidates to be selected by the Examiners for each Range will be notified in the Calcutta Gazette on or before the 19th June 1895. This number will be determined by the Inspector-General of Police with reference to the number of vacancies existing or estimated as likely to occur within the course of the following year.

7. After the results of the examination have been ascertained, a list will be prepared for each Division of the candidates selected for appointment during the year. Those who have not obtained half-marks in dictation and language, and one-third marks in the aggregate of the remaining papers, may be struck out as ineligible for appointment. Of the remaining candidates a list will then be composed as follows—(a) one-half of the candidates who stand highest on the list in order of merit; (b) one-half of candidates selected from among those candidates who have obtained not less than one-third of the marks. At least two-thirds of the appointments will, if qualified candidates are available, be given to outsiders.

8. Natives of Bengal Proper will be eligible for appointments in all Bengal districts and in Manbhum; natives of Bihar in Bihar districts and in Hazaribagh and Lohardaga; and natives of Orissa in the Orissa Division and the district of Singhbhum. Selected candidates, will be liable to be transferred to any district.

9. Selected candidates on appointment will undergo a three months' course of instruction at a centre to be selected by the Inspector-General. This course will include drill, elementary surveying, anthropometry, and instruction in prosecuting cases in Magistrate's Courts. At the end of the three months all probationers obtaining a certificate of proficiency will be posted to districts and receive appointments in due course as 5th grade Sub-Inspectors. During the period of probation candidates will receive 20 rupees a month as salary. Candidates who fail to display due diligence during their period of probation will be liable to lose their appointment.

10. Candidates resident in any of the districts of the Patna, Bhagalpur, and Chota Nagpur Divisions, who take up Hindi at this examination, will be considered to be natives of Bihar. Candidates competing at Cuttack, who take up Uriya, will be considered natives of Orissa.

11. Information as to the hour and place of examination can be obtained 15 days before the examination by applying to the District Magistrates of the 24-Parganas, Dacca, Patna, and Cuttack.

Public Works Department Resolution No. 2523G., dated the 28th September 1893.

OBSERVATIONS.—In paragraph 9 of the Resolution read above, the Government of India published a series of cadre numbers and limiting scales for the promotion of Executive and Assistant Engineers attached to the several lists; and decided that these cadre numbers and scales should take effect from the 16th August 1893, and should, subject to reconsideration, under certain circumstances which were explained, regulate the promotions on each list up to the end of 1894. Under this proviso the cadre number and limiting scale of the lists shown in the margin were revised during the year.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor-General in Council is now pleased to fix the cadre numbers and limiting scales of the several lists for the year 1895, or, pending further orders, as below—

LISTS.	Cadre number for 1895.	LIMITING SCALE.
		Exe. Engineers.			Asst. Engineers.

2. The following rule is also laid down for regulating temporary promotions to the 3rd grade of Executive Engineers under the above scales; namely, that no more promotions of that class shall be made than suffice to bring up the total strength of Executive Engineers present on duty to half the actual strength charged against the above limiting scales, or to the number of posts, in the sanctioned scale of each list, allotted for Executive Engineers, as shown in the margin, whichever of these two numbers is the greater.

Madras 31
Bombay 31
Bengal 26
North-Western Provinces and Oudh 34
Punjab 45
Local Administrations ... 54
Railways 86

This rule is not intended to prevent the promotion of officers to officiate as Executive Engineers for those absent on privilege leave or deputation, when necessary.

Nor will it be enforced in cases where it would operate to prevent the promotion of men qualified for promotion to Executive Engineer, 3rd grade, under the time rule. In such cases promotions may be made up to the full number allowed by the limiting scale.

In cases where temporary promotions made up to the end of 1894 are in excess of those allowed by this rule, no further promotions should be made until the temporary scale is adjusted in accordance with the rule; but officers already promoted will not be reverted in consequence of the rule.

REVISED WATER-RATE RULES FOR THE ORISSA CANALS.

The 6th March 1895.

No. 83.—Notification.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 99 and 78 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to pass the following rules and to fix the undermentioned rates to be charged for water supplied from the Orissa canals. These rules and rates will supersede those now in force.

A draft of the alterations was published in the Calcutta Gazette of the dates noted in the margin, as notification No. 330, dated 6th November 1894:—

The 7th, 14th, 21st and 28th November; and 5th, 12th and 19th December 1894.

C. W. ODLING,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

1. The Divisional Canal Officer is responsible for maintaining the canal in an efficient state of repair, for providing drainage channels where necessary, and generally for all engineering work involved in its management, as well as for the distribution of water to lessees. The word "canal" is here used as defined in section 3 of the Act.

2. The Deputy Collector is responsible, except so far as is otherwise expressly provided, for the assessment and collection of water-rates accruing to Government from the canal.

3. Water shall not be distributed otherwise than on the application of a lessee or to a person in whose favour a provisional license under rule 15 has been issued. Such application may be made verbally or in writing to any subordinate in charge of that part of the canal from which water is required.

4. If any lessee apply for water to the Deputy Collector or one of his subordinates verbally, he shall be directed to address himself to an irrigation officer or subordinate. If he makes such an application in writing, his petition shall be forwarded to the Subdivisional Canal Officer in charge of that part of the canal from which the petitioner's village is supplied.

5. The Divisional Canal Officer shall map out the irrigable area into blocks in accordance with the natural features of the ground, and so determine that the whole block shall be irrigable from one outlet or from one set of outlets. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by drainage lines.

6. Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded with its irrigable area in registers to be maintained by the Divisional and Subdivisional Canal Officers. The blocks shall also be marked on maps to be maintained by the same officers.

7. Leases for not more than seven years may be granted for the whole irrigable area of a block, or, subject to the provisions of Rule 13, for definite parts of a block, under the following conditions:—

I.—Ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village, so far as situated within the block, must be included in the lease. Lands not irrigable by flow may at the discretion of the Canal Officer be excluded; but in that case water will not be supplied to them on a season lease.

II.—When a village is divided by drainage channels into distinct blocks, each block shall be recognized as a separate village for the purpose of this and all other rules under the Irrigation Act.

III.—All leases within one block shall be granted, so that they shall expire on the same date.

IV.—No permit shall be granted when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a village-channel exists, which in the opinion of the Subdivisional Canal Officer will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

8. The rates to be charged for water supplied on a long term lease between the 16th of June and the 30th November, whether by flow or lift, to lessees on application shall be—

I.—For a term of seven years—Re. 1-8 per man for each season.

II.—For water supplied on a provisional license for which a permit for a term of years is not subsequently issued—Rs. 3 per man.

III.—Provided that the leases, whether new or renewals, required for shorter terms than seven years in order to develop the system of blocks as explained above (Rule 7-III), shall be charged Re. 1-8 per man only.

IV.—Beali lands included in a long lease are not exempted from assessment, but no charge will be made for water supplied to them in the rabi season, that is, up to 25th March. No special arrangements to supply water will, however, be made.

V.—Low-lying lands forming part of the rice-cultivated area of a village which do not ordinarily benefit by canal water, though requiring irrigation in years of drought, will be charged at one-third of the usual rate, i.e., at eight annas per man for each season. Lands which are so low that they never under any circumstances require water will be altogether excluded from the lease.

9. The rates for water supplied otherwise than on a lease for a term of years are those detailed in schedule I.

10. For the unauthorised use of canal water a rate of Rs. 5 per man or such less rate as may be sanctioned by the Divisional Canal Officer shall be charged.

11. Application for water-leases under section 74 of the Act may be presented to the Subdivisional Canal Officer of the division in which the applicant's land lies, or to the Sectional Officers for transmission to the Subdivisional Canal Officer.

12. Every application for a permit for a term of years shall be in the form, Appendix I, to these rules, provided that a provisional license may be granted, where water is urgently required, on an application in the form, Appendix II. Application for a season lease shall be in the form, Appendix III.

13. A separate application must be presented for each village, but tehsilalaida or other lands lying within the village boundary at the time of survey may be included.

14. Before a permit for a term of years is granted, the written consent of the Divisional Canal Officer shall be obtained, but permits for one year only and provisional licenses may be issued with the written assent of the Subdivisional Canal Officer. Subject to the above conditions, permits may be issued by zilladars under the orders of the Deputy Collector. A copy of the permit shall on the day of issue be forwarded to the Deputy Collector for transmission to the Divisional Canal Officer.

Existing leases may, with the written consent of the Divisional Canal Officer, be extended for not more than three years, without enquiry or remeasurement, payments being made in accordance with the existing assessment, modified, if necessary, in accordance with rules 5, 6, 7 and 8.

15. When a water-lease is granted, a permit shall be given to the lessee or lessees in a form similar to that prescribed in Schedule C of the Act. Pending the completion of a lease, the zilladar may, with the written consent of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, issue a provisional license for the supply of water to an area covered by an application.

16. The Subdivisional Canal Officer is authorized to supply water for seed beds in a long-term lease before the 20th June, if a supply of water is available in the canal.

17. When it comes to the knowledge of the Subdivisional Canal Officer that canal water has been taken without authority, he shall hold a local investigation and transmit the record thereof to the Divisional Canal Officer. If the Subdivisional Canal Officer considers that water-rates under Rule 10 should be charged, he shall serve each person liable to be assessed with a notice, by post or otherwise, and fix a date for hearing objections. Any objections made shall be recorded. Separate proceedings shall be taken in the case of each village irrigated without authority.

18. On receipt of the record mentioned in Rule 17, the Divisional Canal Officer, after a further enquiry, if he considers one necessary, shall determine whether water-rates can be legally charged, and if so, he shall proceed to assess, subject to the maximum rate provided in Rule 10, the land irrigated without authority. Water-rates shall not be charged where the unauthorized irrigation has occurred through the act, neglect or default of a Canal Officer or subordinate.

19. The statements of the amounts demandable for water-rates leviable under the rules in force shall be prepared under the supervision and signature of the Deputy Collector in such form as shall from time to time be sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor. Persons charged under rules 10 and 18 shall be served by the Deputy Collector, by post or otherwise, with a statement showing the amounts charged to enable them to lodge an appeal to the Collector, if they desire to do so. The Collector shall hear and determine any such appeal preferred within thirty days of the issue of the notices specified in this rule. The petition of appeal shall be accompanied either by the notice received or by a copy of the order passed by the Divisional Canal Officer under rule 18.

20. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any leased area is habitually wasted, or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Superintending Canal Officer to direct that the lease shall be cancelled with effect from the 1st of June next following. The order to cancel a lease shall be passed before the 1st of April of the year in which it takes effect.

21. The rates for water supplied from June to November shall in each season fall due, and shall be paid on the 1st February following, but the Subdivisional Canal Officer may require one-half of the rates due on applications filed after the 1st of September to be paid in advance, and may refuse to issue a permit for more than one year. The rates for water supplied at other times shall be paid on the dates mentioned in schedule I.

22. Water-rates imposed under rules 10 and 18 shall fall due as soon as the assessment is made, and shall be realized after the expiry of thirty days from the despatch of the notices prescribed in rule 19. The Collector may, if an appeal under rule 19 is preferred, direct that the collection of water-rates shall be suspended until the appeal has been heard and decided.

23. The Superintending Canal Officer may, with the concurrence of the Collector, direct the Deputy Collector to—

I.—Cease to issue permits for the irrigation of lands in villages where there have been constant difficulties in realizing water-rates until all the arrears of water-rates due are paid up, and also, if specially so ordered, unless half the amount due under new applications is paid in advance. An order under this rule shall be in force for the time stated therein, which shall not exceed three years.

II.—Cancel any lease for a term of years if on the 1st of June of any year water-rates to the extent of half the demand for one year are in arrears.

24. Remission of water-rates, either in whole or part, as the case may require, shall be granted by the Deputy Collector for—

I.—Errors in the assessment of rates, and by the Divisional Canal Officer for—

II.—Injury to the crop on a leased area caused by deficient supply of water, provided a written application for remission has been made 15 days at least before the crop is cut.

25. The Divisional Canal Officer may grant remissions of water-rates, either in whole or part, for injury to the crops on leased areas caused by excess of water due to deficient drainage.

26. The Divisional Canal Officer may commute rates charged under rules 10 and 18 to those chargeable for water supplied on application, provided that a lease either for a term of years or for the season has been subsequently executed for the lands in question.

27. Remissions on other grounds than the above require the sanction of Government.

28. In cases where sums due on account of water-rates cannot be collected owing to the death, bankruptcy, or absconding of the defaulter, the amount which is non-realizable may be written off as irrecoverable on the authority of the Superintending Canal Officer.

29. Before awarding compensation under section 16 of the Act, or making a reference under section 17 of the Act, the Collector shall obtain the written opinion of the Superintending Canal Officer, and his written opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

30. The chaukidar of any village in which lands are leased for a term of years shall be entitled to a remission of water-rates for his holding either as a jaghir or raiyati up to a limit of 3 acres, provided he gives efficient and willing assistance to the Canal Officers in respect to the following matters—

I.—In the preparation of applications for leases.

II.—In the measurements of irrigated lands.

III.—In giving the names of the occupiers of the various fields.

IV.—In receiving demand statements and informing the cultivators of the demands against them.

V.—In receiving tappas from the zilladars and distributing them.

VI.—In being present when complaints are investigated by Canal Officers, and giving information regarding the matters under investigation.

VII.—In reporting to the zilladars any mutations in holdings of persons who have signed a lease for a term of years.

31. Tanks may be filled with canal water without charge wherever water can be made available without injury to the cultivation dependent on a canal, under the following conditions:—

I.—No tank shall be filled unless the water is to be exclusively used for domestic purposes or for watering cattle.

II.—No tank shall be filled from which irrigation is practised.

III.—No tank shall be filled which intercepts any line of drainage, or is liable to overflow from the accumulation of water from natural causes.

IV.—No tank shall be filled except on the written order of the Subdivisional Canal Officer issued on the written application of the persons concerned.

V.—No tank shall be filled unless the village channel used to convey water to it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Subdivisional Canal Officer to be in a sound condition when the application is made.

VI.—The privilege here accorded may, by the written order of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, be suspended for twelve months for the breach of the above rules.

32. No person shall, without the permission in writing of the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer, pass or cause any animal or vehicle to pass on or across any of the works, banks or channels of a canal or drainage work after he has been desired by a notice in writing, served in a registered letter, or as provided in the Civil Procedure Code for the service of summons, to desist therefrom, except by means of such bridges, fords and ferries and their approaches as are provided by the Divisional Canal Officer. A penalty not exceeding rupees twenty may be imposed for a breach of this rule.

33. No officer employed on the Canals, unless especially exempted by the Lieutenant-Governor from the operation of this rule, shall have any interest in the distribution of water from any of the canals, or purchase or bid for any Government property sold thereon, either in his own name or in the name of another, or jointly, or in shares with others.

34. Except as provided in the Act and in these rules, no appeal shall lie from any order passed by a Canal Officer; but the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall modify any order passed by him in accordance with the order of the Divisional Canal Officer, and the Subdivisional Canal Officer or Divisional Canal Officer shall modify any orders passed by them in accordance with the orders of the Superintending Canal Officer, who shall exercise a general control over the proceedings of all Canal Officers.

35. In appeals to the Collector under the Act other than those specially provided for in rule 19, the Collector may require the Superintending Engineer to state his opinion in writing, which shall form part of the record of the proceedings in the case.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

NOTIFICATION—No. 1637L.R.

The 25th March 1895.—With the sanction of the Secretary of State for India and the Government of India, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to direct the publication of the following correspondence on the proposed repeal of the Bengal Patwari Regulation XII of 1817, for general information.

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 483T.-R., dated Darjeeling, the 22nd September 1894.

From—C. E. BUCKLAND, ESQ., Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Revenue Dept.,

To—The Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L.P.

IN continuation of my letter No. 482T.-R., dated 21st September 1894, I am desired to address the Board of Revenue regarding paragraphs 6 and 7 of the Government of India's letter No. $\frac{2548}{61}$, dated 4th September, which deal with the question of the repeal of the Patwari Regulations. A copy of those paragraphs is appended to this letter for easy reference.

2. The Board will observe that the Secretary of State in paragraph 9 of his Despatch of 5th July 1894 speaks of the repeal of Regulation XII of 1817 as a feature common to both of the rival schemes placed before him; he saw no objection to the repeal, and he desired in paragraph 16 that provision for it should be embodied in the Bill for the Maintenance of Records It was with some surprise, therefore, that Sir Charles Elliott read that the Government of India considered that the selection of one of the rival schemes should lead to the postponement of the proposal for repeal, which the Secretary of State considered to be common to both schemes.

3. Nothing contained in the letter from the Government of India has shaken Sir Charles Elliott's opinion that the position of the patwari in Bihar is untenable and mischievous, and that his legal status under the Regulations ought to be abolished. But His Honour desires a careful and independent expression of the Board's views, uninfluenced by the fact that the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department, and the Lieutenant-Governor, are at variance as regards the matter under discussion.

4. The arguments used in paragraph 7 of the Government of India's letter may be summed up thus—

(1) The Regulations give the Government much control over the patwari, which might be, though it has not been, usefully employed;

(2) The patwari is even now often a valuable protection to the raiyat against illegal claims;

(3) He has often been made use of for numerous important uses throughout Bihar;

(4) He is the nucleus from which an effective Land Record Agency can be developed.

It is to these arguments that His Honour requests the Board of Revenue specially to address themselves, and he would particularly desire to be favoured with any facts which are on record and which support the arguments numbered (2) and (3).

5. The case of Orissa must be distinguished from that of Bihar. In the parts of that division which are temporarily settled, and now under revision of settlement, the Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that a patwari establishment ought to be created on the model of the North-Western Provinces, a patwari cess imposed, and annual revision of the Settlement Record and map carried out. The measures requisite to this end should be well thought out, and the question does not press, as the new establishment could only be introduced from 1897 at earliest. But if it is decided to repeal the Patwari Regulations as regards Bihar, care must be taken to do nothing which will prejudice the introduction of a more elaborate patwari system in Orissa.

ENCLOSURE TO GOVERNMENT ORDER No. 488T.-R., DATED 22ND SEPTEMBER 1894.

Extract, paragraphs 6 and 7, from Government of India Revenue and Agricultural Department letter No. $\frac{2548}{61}$, dated Simla, the 4th September 1894.

PARA 6. In paragraph 16 of his despatch under notice, the Secretary of State suggests that the Bill may also provide for the repeal of the Patwari Regulations. On this subject I am to remark as follows. The draft Bill forwarded for the consideration of the Secretary of State provided for the repeal of these Regulations; but it did so because it also provided for a new agency, under the name of land record-keepers, which would take the place of the patwaris, and be paid by a cess imposed for the purpose. The imposition of the cess, and therefore the creation of the new agency, have, however, been disallowed for the present; and it would seem that the abolition of the existing agency, which the new agency was to have superseded, should similarly be postponed.

7. Much has been done of late years to develop and improve the village agency in Northern and Central India. In Bombay the question of the better maintenance of village records is engaging attention. In Madras, both in rayatwari tracts and in permanently-settled zamindaris, such as we have in Bihar, the Government have lately moved in the direction of improving the patwari staff. The Bengal Regulations on the subject give Government much control over the patwari establishment; and if the existing condition of that establishment is very far from what could be desired, it is so mainly because no such earnest and sustained effort has yet been made in Bihar, as has been made in other Provinces, to improve it. Even as he is, the Bihar patwari is not without his uses. He is influenced by village opinion, and when brought on the Government registers is often, in the strength of the semi-independent position which he enjoys under the Regulations, a valuable protection to the raiyats against unjust and illegal claims. Moreover, being theoretically a Government servant, he has often been made use of for numerous important duties throughout Bihar. But it is not only upon his present value that the Government of India desire to lay stress. He is the nucleus from which it may be possible to develop an effective land record agency, should the agency which it is immediately intended to create prove ineffective. The Supreme Government are not convinced that it may not be desirable to foster such development in the future. In every other Province in India we are laboriously improving our village organizations, having recognised the truth that, without a proper local agency, we cannot bring ourselves into contact with fact, or appreciate the real necessities and feelings of the people. This is a policy with which His Honour Sir Charles Elliott's name has been heretofore identified. The Permanent Settlement Regulations leave the Government a very limited measure of control over the land in Bengal; and such means of control as they do provide should be jealously guarded, and not surrendered without an adequate substitute. His Excellency in Council is opposed to abandoning a valuable village agency that costs nothing to the Government, to depriving the raiyats of what is often a protection to them, and to forfeiting a valuable vantage ground in the future maintenance of the record-of-rights unless something as good or better is provided to take the place of the Regulation patwari. I am to say, however, that if Sir Charles Elliott desires to substitute for that organisation any other agency which will fulfil the conditions indicated above, his proposals will receive the fullest consideration from the Governor-General in Council.

No. 1296A., dated Calcutta, the 23rd October 1894.

From—M. FINUCANE, ESQ., Offg. Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P.,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

THE HON'BLE C. C. STEVENS.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 488T.-R., dated the 22nd September 1894, on the question of the repeal of the Patwari Regulations, and to reply as follows.

2. The Board have carefully considered, from every point of view, the question of the repeal of the Patwari Regulations on which their opinion is asked in your letter, and the conclusion to which they have come is that it would be inexpedient to repeal these Regulations unless and until provision is made by law for the creation of a better village or local peripatetic agency for the maintenance of the records.

3. Mr. Stevens did not officially express his opinion on Sir Charles Elliott's scheme for the maintenance of records as sketched out in your No. 492T.-R., dated 30th June 1892, because he understood that His Honour, on consideration of the criticisms made upon it by the local officers and by the Director of Land Records (copies of which appear to have been unofficially submitted to Government direct) had decided to abandon the scheme. The Board, however, were of opinion that the criticisms referred to showed that the scheme was open to very great objections, the most important of which was that, without some local agency for the discovery of changes on the ground, it was unreasonable to expect that mutations would be voluntarily reported by the tenants and landlords themselves, and if landlords and tenants did not report them voluntarily, that they could be compelled to report by any system of fines and penalties. They still adhere to this view. The landlords are not required, and the tenants under the scheme will have little or no inducement, to register changes of their own accord. On the contrary, apart from their natural apathy and their ignorance of the new obligation which the law will impose on them, they will have a strong incentive to refrain from registering mutations, for by doing so they will avoid the payment to the Sub-Registrar of the legal fee and escape the inconvenience entailed by visits to his office, and at the same time will not be subjected to any real punishment for their neglect in this respect. The scheme has, however, been accepted, and the Board have every desire that it should be given a fair trial. It is primarily on this account that they think the Patwari Regulations should not be repealed. With such aid as may be obtained from the patwaris, it is, they think, not impossible that the scheme may prove successful. Without the powers given by the Patwari Regulations the scheme is, in the Board's opinion, foredoomed to failure. If the tenants do not voluntarily report mutations, and the Patwari Regulations are repealed, Government will be left absolutely destitute of any means of finding out mutations and compelling registration of them. But given the patwaris, such as they are, and the legal powers now held over them, it is evident that they can be utilised for finding out and reporting mutations so as to enable action to be taken under the penal clause 11 of the Bill. The Board cannot see in what other manner the Collector is to discover omissions to give the notice required under the scheme, or how, therefore, the penalty section can ordinarily be brought into operation at all. If, on the other hand, patwaris are retained as at present, it is evident that with the powers now existing of compelling them to give information to the Collector or Sub-Registrar, by the aid of the new maps and records, they might be made to render valuable assistance in helping the raiyats to report mutations in the forms that may be prescribed, and also in bringing to light omissions on their part to report these mutations. From this point of view, then, the Board think, if the scheme is not to be altogether inoperative, it is essential to retain the Patwari Regulations.

4. It seems also clear that the control which the Regulations give Government over patwaris may, when a survey has been made and record-of-right prepared, be more usefully exercised than it hitherto has been. Much of the fault found hitherto with patwaris in Bihar arose from the fact that either they did not furnish returns when called upon to do so, or that they supplied incorrect returns. But it is often forgotten that without maps and records, such as the survey and settlement will give, it has been impossible for patwaris to furnish the returns called for. With the aid of maps and of the survey and settlement records, it seems to the Board that the case may be different in future. The existing law gives the Collector large powers in the appointment of patwaris, in regulating the amount of their pay, and in compelling them to furnish such information as the Collector may require. If these powers are properly exercised, if care is taken that in making new appointments only properly qualified men are selected, and if patwaris are registered and their circles arranged by Revenue officers during the course of the present survey and settlement operations, it seems quite possible gradually to create an efficient agency for the correction of the records under the present Regulations. But at all events it seems inadvisable to repeal these Regulations and abolish patwaris without any substitute being supplied in their places, "the last potentiality (to use the words of Sir Antony MacDonnell) of Government control over village agrarian economy being thus wiped out."

5. In regard to points 2 and 3 of paragraph 2 of your letter, I am to invite attention to the letters of the Commissioner of Patna, No. 1113B., dated 7th September 1880, and 218R., dated the 4th May 1880, and to the Board's No. 712A., dated 21st October, which formed one of the enclosures to the Board's more recent letter No. 861A., dated 27th June 1893, addressed to the Director of Land Records, and to the other enclosures to that letter (copy annexed for ready reference). The duties which patwaris now perform in the several districts of the Patna Division are enumerated at length in the Commissioner's letter of the 7th September 1880. They are, it will be seen, very useful to the raiyats and to the administration, and may be recapitulated here for facility of reference:—

Patna.—In Patna it is reported the patwaris have—

(1) To measure annually the holdings of raiyats.
(2) To give receipts for payment of rents.
(3) To make an estimate of the produce of lands held bhaoli.
(4) To attend on public officers when engaged in local enquiries.
(5) To receive processes or orders issued by public officers to zamindars.
(6) To collect rents when there is no gumashta for the estate.

Gaya.—In Gaya, where the bhaoli system extensively prevails, the patwaris are chiefly employed on danabundi and agorabatai. In effecting danabundi, the duty of the patwari is to make an estimate of the crops and to settle the shares of the zamindars and raiyats, while in the case of agorabatai, the patwari is to set watch over the crops which are stored at the harvest time till they are divided. The patwaris in Gaya are also occasionally employed on collecting rents in conjunction with the jeyt or head raiyats. They have to execute petty works for the improvement of estates, locally called giandaai, and they are required to supply Government officers with necessary information when a village is under settlement.

Shahabad.—In Shahabad the functions of a patwari are purely those of an accountant. In addition to the duty of keeping the village accounts, he has to perform the following duties:—

(a) To give receipts and farakhatis to raiyats.
(b) To copy the khatiani of water-rate demands, and supply demand slips to each raiyat.
(c) To attend the amin who prepares the demand statement as representative of villagers, in order to see that their rates are correctly entered in the khatiani, &c.
(d) To give receipts for payments of chaukidari cess.
(e) To keep accounts of collections of chaukidari cess.

Tirhut.—In Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga the patwaris have to perform the following duties:—

(1) To prepare measurement khasras.
(2) To prepare kankuti khawas or assessment of bhaoli crops.
(3) To furnish local officers with statistical information about local rates in the neighbourhood when settlements or re-settlements of Government estates are made.
(4) To give information as zamindars' agents of unnatural deaths (section 196, Criminal Procedure Code).
(5) To act as a member of the punchayet appointed under Act VI (B.C.) of 1870.
(6) To act as enumerators during census operations.
(7) To keep the mortuary returns.
(8) To give receipts to raiyats.

Champaran.—The duties performed by the patwaris in Champaran are described by the Commissioner to be—

I.—Collection of rents.
II.—Giving receipts to raiyats for rents paid.

III.—Making valuation of crops of bhaoli lands.
IV.—Measurement of lands settled with raiyats.
V.—Giving information to the police of any occurrence.

Saran.—In Saran the patwaris are required to perform the following duties:—

(a) Collecting rents.
(b) Giving receipts for rents.
(c) Giving pattas.
(d) Attendance at the Civil Courts on behalf of the zamindars in rent and similar suits.
(e) Attendance in butwara proceedings.
(f) Attendance on behalf of the zamindar in settlement proceedings.
(g) The performance of all correspondence and accounts for the zamindar whenever required.
(h) To be present at the danabundi or batai in villages where that system is in force.
(i) To settle new lands for the maliks.
(j) Acting as the zamindar's representative in all minor matters between him and the revenue authorities.

The Commissioner (Mr. Halliday), in his report No. 248R., dated the 4th May 1880 (paragraphs 18 and 20), wrote:—"In all these matters (i.e., matters described in the preceding paragraphs of his report) they (the patwaris) are no doubt useful, and may become even more so * *" "I would certainly not advocate the abolition of patwaris; on the contrary, I would prefer to see the institution more strongly established."

6. The Board (Mr. Reynolds), in reviewing the reports of the local officers above referred to in Mr. Cotton's letter No. 712A., dated 21st October 1880, wrote:—

The duties in which the agency of the patwari appears to the Board to be especially valuable are the granting of rent receipts, and attendance at the valuation or division of the crop where the bhaoli system prevails. Considering the ignorance and helplessness of the mass of the Bihar peasantry, the Board would be inclined to attach very great importance to the performance of these duties by an official who is presumably one of the most respectable inhabitants of the village, and who is, in some measure at least, independent of the zamindar. It would, in the Board's opinion, be greatly to be regretted if the trouble which has been taken to effect the partial reorganization of the patwari system in Bihar should now be thrown away by the final abandonment of the scheme. The usefulness of the patwari, even under the drawbacks of the present imperfect arrangements, is universally acknowledged by the local officers: and appeals which come before the Board sufficiently indicate that the appointment is keenly sought by respectable persons.

Government, in replying to the Board's letter in Mr. Bolton's No. 1762L.R., dated 15th December 1880, said:—

"On the whole, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks it best that the institution should be left for the present on its existing mixed basis. If the patwari were formally allowed to become a mere zamindari servant, his usefullness to the raiyats and his amenability to village considerations, would entirely disappear, and he would become simply a petty gumashta, the worst enemy of the raiyats."

7. It will thus be seen that in the discussions that took place on the subject in Sir Ashley Eden's time in 1880 to 1882, it was generally held by the local officers, the Board and Government, that the patwaris, imperfect as they were, performed functions useful to the raiyats and to Government, and that even officers who were opposed to any violent change in the law relating to them were equally opposed to the repeal of the Patwari Regulations and to the entire abolition of the system, it being held by so strong an advocate of the Bengal system of non-interference and so powerful an opponent of the North-Western Provinces system as Sir Ashley Eden that, "if the patwari were formally allowed to become a mere zamindari servant, his usefulness to the raiyats would entirely disappear, and he would become simply a petty gumashta, the worst enemy of the raiyats." The Board (Mr. Schalch), reporting on the subject previously in 1875, recorded that, "In regard to the Patna Division, patwaris had been maintained from the first in various districts with various degrees of efficiency, and had proved most useful. Although the Patwari Regulations had not been carefully maintained in their full force, yet the efficiency of the class had been to a great extent preserved." Sir Richard Temple in reply then wrote: "In Bihar * * the institution of patwaris is calculated to be of special value and may prove to be of great use * * Though parts of the system have become obscured, still its essential vitality is unimpaired, and its position is vindicated by some of the best informed local authorities."

8. The subject came under discussion again in 1885, when the then Commissioner of Patna, Mr. Halliday, reported on it in his No. 1173, dated 2nd January of that year. The Collector of Shahabad then remarked as follows:

Vide page 169 of the papers relating to the Bill to amend the law relating to Kanungoes and Patwaris.

"The raiyats would be highly aggrieved if patwaris were declared to be dependent solely on the zamindars, and I think with reason." * *

"The patwaris are most useful officials, keeping accounts, collecting canal dues and chaukidari tax, and helping in many ways. I would just as soon hand over the chaukidars, the police, or any other public service, for the exclusive benefit of a class, as abandon the claim of Government to the services of the patwari."

Messrs. Burrows, Mylne, and Thomson of Beheea, themselves zamindars of the best type, wrote thus:—

"The patwaris of Shahabad are much more the servants and patwaris of their brother cultivators and rent-payers than they are of either zamindar or Government; for they are, as a rule, not only themselves cultivators, but in all the relationships, interests, and surrounding are identified with the cultivating classes."

These latter remarks apply to other districts of Bihar likewise, though in the reports from them no special reference seems at that time to have been made to the assistance afforded by the patwaris to raiyats. All the officers consulted appear, however, to have been of opinion that the patwaris gave much useful information to Government officers and performed functions useful to the raiyats, and might be made to do more. Various suggestions for their improvement were offered, but no officer in Bihar has ever yet proposed their entire and unconditional abolition.

9. The Board, as now constituted, agree with the local officers of Bihar and with their own predecessors in the Board, and with all previous Governments of Bengal, in thinking that the Bihar patwaris are a source of some protection to the tenants. They also give useful information to Government and perform useful functions such as have been enumerated above. The Board would therefore deprecate their entire abolition by the repeal of Regulation XII of 1817 unless and until some other local agency is substituted for them. The zamindars would, no doubt, gain and would be much pleased by the repeal of the Regulation, but the raiyats and Government would lose, and there is, the Board think, no sufficient reason for taking any action that is likely to bring about such results.

10. I am to explain that the Board supported Sir Antony MacDonnell's proposal to repeal the Patwari Regulations, but their support of it, like the proposal itself, was contingent on a more efficient peripatetic local agency being substituted for the patwaris. As no such agency is now to be substituted, they think that the patwaris, imperfect as they may be, are better than nothing, and therefore would be averse from their abolition.

11. As has been above stated, the Board think that, given maps and correct records, it may be found possible so to improve the patwari system under the present law as to keep the records corrected from year to year by their instrumentality without the imposition of a cess, though they would prefer the more complete scheme put forward by Sir Antony MacDonnell.

12. Since Sir Steuart Bayley was Commissioner of Patna in 1874, more or less sustained effort has been made to register patwaris and bring them under control of the authorities, and the Board think that it would be greatly to be regretted if the results of these efforts were now to be thrown away.

No. 5764L.R., dated Calcutta, the 21st December 1894.

From—C. E. BUCKLAND, Esq., Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Revenue Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Govt of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 2346/21, dated the 4th September 1894, and to say that the Bill for the Maintenance of the Record of Rights has been for some time under preparation, as desired in the fifth paragraph of your letter, and will shortly be submitted. The Lieutenant-Governor has thought it better to address you separately on the subject of the abolition of the Patwari Regulation, which, but for the remarks contained in the sixth and seventh paragraphs of your letter, would have been included in the draft Bill.

Secretary of State's sanction to repeal of Patwari Regulations.

2. The Right Honourable the Secretary of State, in paragraph 9 of his Despatch No. 88, dated the 5th July 1894, wrote of the proposed repeal of Regulation XII of 1817 as a feature common to both of the schemes for the maintenance of the record of rights then under his consideration, and stated, in paragraph 16 of his Despatch, that provision for it could be embodied in the Bill for the Maintenance of the Record of Rights. His Honour had hoped that this decision would have closed the controversy on the subject. He felt therefore both regret and surprise on reading that the Government of India considered that the selection of one of the schemes before the Secretary of State should lead to the postponement of the proposal for repeal of the Patwari Regulation which the Secretary of State had regarded as a feature common to both schemes. In forwarding a copy of the correspondence regarding the Bihar Cadastral Survey to the Board of Revenue, and consulting them specially on the subject of the Patwari Regulations, Sir Charles Elliott requested them to address themselves to the arguments used in paragraph 7 of the Government of India's letter under reply, summed up as follows:—

Board of Revenue consulted.

(1) The Regulations give the Government much control over the patwari, which might be, though it has not been, usefully employed;
(2) The patwari is even now often a valuable protection to the raiyat against illegal claims;
(3) He has often been made use of for numerous important uses throughout Bihar;
(4) He is the nucleus from which an effective Land Record Agency can be developed; and the Board were particularly desired to favour the Lieutenant-Governor with any facts on record which support the arguments numbered (2) and (3).

Board of Revenue's reply.

3. I am to forward, for the information of the Government of India, a copy of the Board's letter No. 1296A., dated the 23rd October, and its enclosures, in which they deprecate the entire abolition of patwaris by the repeal of Regulation XII of 1817, unless and until some other local agency is substituted for them. The Board's letter may be summed up as follows. First, they consider that Sir Charles Elliott's scheme of maintenance of the record of rights may prove successful with such aid as may be obtained from patwaris, but that, without the powers given by the Patwari Regulations, it is foredoomed to failure. Secondly, they quote at some length from correspondence of 1880-82, and more briefly from reports of 1875 and 1885, to show that all the officers consulted were of opinion that the patwaris gave much useful information to Government officers and performed functions useful to the raiyats, and might be made to do more. Thirdly, they assert that no officer in Bihar has ever yet proposed their entire and unconditional abolition, and that they agree with the local officers in Bihar, with their own predecessors in the Board, and with all previous Governments of Bengal, in thinking that the Bihar patwaris are a source of some protection to the tenants.

Utilisation of patwaris in the maintenance of records.

4. With regard to the first head of the Board's reply, I am to observe that the Bill shortly to be submitted to the Government of India contains no provision for the utilisation of the patwari. If the scheme it embodies is successful, it will not be through the aid of the patwari; if it fails, it will not be for want of such support. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that it is conclusively established that the unreformed patwari as he now exists is an instrument which cannot be employed effectually for the purpose of keeping village accounts or maintaining the record. It has never been His Honour's intention to utilize the patwari, as the Board propose, in finding out and reporting mutations. He relies, as the Government of India will see, on disabilities and on penalties for making the registrations of transfers compulsory and effective.

In advocating the non-repeal of the existing law, the Board say that "if these powers are properly exercised, if care is taken that in making new appointments only properly qualified men are selected, and if patwaris are registered and their circles arranged by Revenue officers during the course of the present survey and settlement operations, it seems quite possible gradually to create an efficient agency for the correction of the records under the present Regulations." This view can hardly be treated as anything more than a pious opinion, for though many attempts have been made in past years to carry out the reforms suggested, they have never been successful, and cannot be successful so long as the patwari retains the position created by the Regulation of 1817. At the best, it requires the concurrent achievement of three important conditions, which have never yet been attained since 1817, to arrive at a possibility of success. There is no sound reason for the Board's reviving now, and treating as within the sphere of practical politics, a scheme which both the present Lieutenant-Governor and the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor in 1893 refused to contemplate.

The argument from past experience.

5. The argument drawn by the Board from past experience, "quod semper, quod ubique, quod ab omnibus," is a weighty one; and if it were justified by facts, the Government would undoubtedly hesitate in accepting a proposal which is opposed to the consensus of authoritative opinion. The patwari question has, however, been under consideration on many occasions, its literature is multifarious, and, although the whole of it may not have come under the official cognizance of the Board, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot help thinking that the Board's assertion would have been more weighty and less positive if they had dealt exhaustively with all the records which were accessible to them. The Secretary to this Government in the Revenue Department has, at the Lieutenant-Governor's request, examined this literature with care, and a note on the subject signed by him forms the first Appendix to this letter. In Sir Charles Elliott's opinion a perusal of these documents, and of the correspondence from which they are culled, drives an impartial student to a conclusion diametrically opposed to that at which the Board of Revenue has arrived.

6. Mr. Buckland's note contains extracts from the discussions which took place on the following occasions:—

(1) in 1878-79, when the revision of the rent law was first under consideration;
(2) in 1880-82, when reports were called for on the working of the patwari system in Bihar;
(3) in 1884-85, when correspondence took place preparatory to the introduction of the Patwari Bill;
(4) in the debates in Council on the Patwari Bill in 1885;
(5) in 1886, when the mode of maintaining the record of rights framed in the Muzaffarpur experimental survey was discussed;
(6) in 1887, when the special difficulties caused by the peculiar conditions in Muzaffarpur were ascertained;
(7) in 1887-88, when the retention of the registers prescribed for patwaris was under consideration;
(8) in 1892-93, when reports were submitted on the first sketch of the present Lieutenant-Governor's scheme for maintenance of settlement records in Bihar.

All this correspondence is pervaded by one prevailing and almost universal opinion, that the patwari's position as created by Regulation XII of 1817 is an impossible one, and that the Regulation must be repealed. Naturally, as long as the Patwari Bill or any scheme of that nature was in the air, the Bihar officers recommended, not the entire abolition of the patwari, but an imitation of the system which prevails in other parts of India, by which his divided allegiance should be destroyed and he should cease to be a servant of the zamindar and become solely a servant of Government. That scheme was wrecked by the impossibility of imposing a cess to provide for his pay, and from that time official opinion became more and more unfavourable to him, till at last, when a suggestion was made for keeping up a record of transfers without the intervention of the patwari, several of the Bihar officials advocated his entire abolition as a Government servant. It cannot therefore fairly be made a charge against the present proposal that no former Lieutenant-Governor, and no former Member of the Board, have urged the complete abolition of the patwari. What was originally advocated was the repeal of Regulation XII of 1817, and the substitution of an Act bringing the patwari completely under Government control. What is now advocated is the repeal of the Regulation and the substitution of the Bill, the principle of which has been approved by the Secretary of State, and the text of which will immediately be submitted to the Supreme Government.

Opinions of present local officers mostly unfavourable to the patwari.

7. Finding that the Board had not reported on the state of things now existing, but confined themselves to a summary of opinions expressed many years ago, the Lieutenant-Governor thought it necessary to ascertain the views of the Bihar Commissioner and Collectors, and of the Manager of the Darbhanga Raj; and I am to enclose in Appendix II a copy of their reports for the information of the Government of India. Two of the Collectors, Messrs. Marindin and O'Donnell, are in favour of the retention of the patwari even under the present law but the majority are desirous of his abolition. Mr. Forbes and Mr. Blyth have dwelt on the subject with great thoroughness and impartiality. The general conclusions to be drawn from this collection of papers are that the patwari in his present state is worthless; that he is a potent cause of active mischief; that he is often used without legal authority; and that, to be really useful, he must be thoroughly reformed. Mr. H. Bell, Manager of the Darbhanga Raj, gives instances of the rascality of the patwari, and dwells on the unfairness of compelling the zamindar to retain him, and the impossibility of turning him to any useful account, either for the purposes of Government or the zamindar, unless he is wholly the servant of one or the other.

8. I am now to submit the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion on the four arguments used in paragraph 7 of your letter under reply.

First, it may be admitted that the Regulation gives the Government some control over the patwari; but that control cannot be used for any good purpose. The frequent effect of the power of Government in respect of appointment and dismissal of a patwari is to prevent a zamindar from selecting the best man or the man he can trust, and thus to justify his complaint that he is hampered in the management of his estate. The Government can appoint a patwari, but cannot compel a zamindar to employ him in keeping village accounts or to give him any information. In divided villages, where there are many proprietors, the patwari of the Regulation cannot exist and therefore cannot be usefully employed, since every separate share-holder can insist on employing his own patwari, and there have been known to be as many as ten patwaris in a single village. Time after time the most zealous and most sanguine officers in Bihar have attempted to organise and use the Patwari Regulations, and time after time they have fallen back baffled from the infructuous endeavour. It is idle to hope that any similar effort will be more successful now, and as a matter of fact the Government of India itself does not contemplate making such an effort.

9. Secondly, it is impossible to prove a negative, that is, to prove that the patwari is never a valuable protection to the raiyat against illegal claims; but the onus of proof lies on those who assert it. No such evidence has been found in the correspondence which has been examined, and no single fact of the kind has been brought to the Lieutenant-Governor's knowledge. Of course when a patwari has fallen out with his zamindar, he will take the side of the raiyat in a dispute, even to the extent of fabricating false evidence in his behalf, and this is all that the Lieutenant-Governor understands

Mr. O'Donnell to mean when he say he knows of cases in which the patwari actually did protect the raiyat and incurred the ill-will of the zamindar in consequence. It is not contended that the patwari can never be an honest man, but there is an immense weight of evidence that he is, as a class, corrupt and untrustworthy, and follows his interests by siding with the stronger party, the zamindar. Even if the contention of this argument were sound, he would not be, as Mr. Forbes remarks, more of a protection to the raiyat than any zamindar's gomashta would be who turns againt his master. His "semi-independent position" is only of service to him when he has quarrelled with his zamindar and desires to retain his post against the zamindar's will; and only then, if the Collector refuses to sanction his dismissal. In the Shahabad district this seems to have been often refused: in the Muzaffarpur district it has been so little the habit to support the patwari, and his post is so little worth having, that the Collector is hardly ever appealed to for protection against the zamindar.

10. The third argument is discussed at length in part II of the first Appendix, and its inherent error exposed. The patwari may have been useful in important ways, but the fact that he is theoretically a Government servant has not increased his usefulness or enabled him to do more than he might have done had he been only a zamindar's gomashta. His usefulness did not arise from the position created for him by the Regulation, but from his being a man (often the only man) of some education and importance in the village. The services which are claimed for him by Messrs. Marindin and O'Donnell, such as usefulness in the famine and in the census and for help in communicating with the villagers, could be demanded from him and performed by him equally if the Regulation of 1817 were repealed; and as a matter of fact they are performed equally in other parts of Bengal where no patwaris exist. If the second and third arguments used in your letter under reply were correct, it should follow that the raiyat is better off and the administration more efficient in Bihar than in the rest of the province; and this assertion cannot seriously be made.

11. Lastly, the argument that the patwari is the nucleus for an effective land record agency reads strangely when it is considered that the Land Record-keepers Bill, as drafted in 1893, and as modified and sent to London in January 1894, made no mention or use of patwaris at all, and provided for the repeal of the Regulation. As a matter of fact, there is no logical connection between the existence of a body of patwaris and either of the two systems devised for maintenance of the records or for registration of mutations. In both of these projects it is postulated that the patwaris of the Regulation cannot be utilised, and that other means must be devised to arrive at the desired end. Sir Charles Elliott's scheme has no room for the patwari; and, if he is allowed to survive, a festering sore will be continued, which all persons who care for the welfare of the country should desire to excise. If Sir Charles Elliott's scheme fails, Sir A. P. MacDonnell's scheme will be tried, and that, too, provides no employment for the patwari and presumes his disappearance. In neither case, therefore, can the Lieutenant-Governor admit that anything will be gained by retaining the patwari as a nucleus of future reforms.

12. It has been said in your letter under reply that the improvement of our village organizations and the development of a proper local agency is a policy with which Sir Charles Elliott's name has been heretofore identified. He has no hesitation in acknowledging that he has always given his support to schemes for getting the best possible work out of the patwari, and utilising him to the utmost, where he exists in reality and not in name only. He also advocated, before he came to Bengal, the creation of a Patwari Establishment throughout the Province, provided the patwari was a Government servant, as was contemplated in the Patwari Bill of 1885. In writing to the Board on the present occasion, he was careful to say that the case of Orissa must be distinguished from that of Bihar, and that in the parts of that Division which are temporarily settled and now under revision of settlement, a patwari establishment ought to be created on the model of the North-Western Provinces, a patwari cess imposed, and annual revision of the settlement record and map carried out. But in permanently-settled Bihar, in the face of the Secretary of State's decisions against the imposition of a cess in 1886, on account of the patwari, and in 1894 on account of the maintenance of records, Sir Charles Elliott cannot see his way to making any constructive recommendation for the purpose. The simple truth is that there is but one reform possible consistent with the maintenance of the patwari, and that is to pass some such law as the Patwari Bill of 1885. That law will not be passed, and as the patwari cannot be mended, he should be ended.

13. I am to request that when the Government of India address Her Majesty's Government again on this question, a copy of this letter may be submitted to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State.

APPENDIX I.

Note on certain assertions contained in the Board of Revenue's letter No. 1296*A.*, dated the 23*rd October* 1894.

1. The Board of Revenue in paragraph 9 of their letter of 23rd October 1894, write that they "agree with the local officers of Bihar and with their own predecessors in the Board and with all previous Governments of Bengal in thinking that the Bihar patwaris are a source of some protection to the tenants. They also give useful information to Government." It is desirable to examine the records of past discussions on the subject, in order to see how far this contention as to the practical unanimity of previous official opinion is borne out by the facts.

I.

Views of the Bihar Rent Committee, 1878-79.

2. The Bihar Rent Committee of 1878-79 certainly struck a very different note from that which is heard in the Board's present letter. The 4th paragraph of their report, submitted with the Commissioner of Patna's No. 214R., dated 8th March 1879, ran as follows:—

"Patwaris.—We do not deem it desirable to incorporate the law relating to patwaris with the rent-law. A separate draft Bill regarding patwaris has been submitted for our consideration. That Bill involves the imposition of a 'patwaris' cess' to which a majority of us are, under present circumstances, opposed. We have therefore no suggestions to offer with regard to patwaris. We are, however, of opinion that the patwari should be made (first) either a boná fide public servant paid by the State, a village record-keeper, and nothing more; or (secondly) that he should be made entirely a zamindari servant, liable to dismissal at the pleasure of his master, the landholder. The present system, under which the patwari is nominally a public servant, but is in reality the zamindar's paid servant, we are unanimous in condemning."

3. Reference may also be made to a note,* dated January 1878, written by Mr. Finucane, when Secretary to the Bihar Rent Committee. After stating the opinions of several gentlemen, he wrote· "It thus appears that there is a general consensus of opinion—

* Page 111 of the volume of papers on the patwari Bill of 1885.

1st.—As to the patwaris being now not worthy of trust;

2nd.—As to the expediency of severing the patwari's connexion with the zamindar as his paid servant;

3rd.—As to the expediency of rendering the patwari altogether a Government servant, paid by Government.

As to the first point everybody is agreed."

Again he wrote:—"I therefore think with Mr. Gibbon that we should aim at improving the patwari, and not at abolishing him; that this object can only be attained by making him a village registrar and accountant, and nothing more; that he should be independent alike of the raiyat and the zamindar; that he should be paid by the State direct," &c., &c. The report submitted at the time by Mr. (now Sir) W. B. Hudson, then Secretary of the Bihar Planters' Association, contained the following passages:—"It is inconceivable that men with the smallest experience of these vile parasites (patwaris) should propose to allow them any executive functions whatever. Were it possible by a stroke of the pen to do away with them entirely, that simple pen stroke would do more real good to the Bihar raiyat than all the provisions of the new Act are likely to afford him.

"In the name of justice, let Government try to place landlord and tenant face to face without the intervention of this post. If he cannot be dispensed with at present, then make him simple village registrar under severe penalties for dishonesty, but let him have no executive functions whatever."

Views of the Bihar Landholders' Association.

* Page 147 of the Volume of papers on the Patwari Bill of 1886.

4. The Bihar Landholders' Association also wrote to the same effect. In their letter of the 24th September 1882 to Government, the Association included* the following extract from their annual report:—

"A petty Government official, on a small salary, whose works cannot be supervised, and whose every-day conduct is not closely scrutinized by an official superior, is a public infliction. In the present case, even the safeguard of public opinion, which unfortunately under the present circumstances of the country is the weakest hold on the honesty of public servants, is entirely wanting; and the patwari reigns supreme in his village, remote from official supervision and public opinion of any kind, and sometimes backs the raiyats against the zamindar, and sometimes sides with the zamindars against the raiyats, according as it suits his pleasure and interest. That interest is always best served by creating disputes and by keeping the two at loggerheads. Oftentimes he aims at a higher game, and actually succeeds, for purposes of his own, in creating dissensions among the different members of the proprietary body itself." and the Association asked that he (the patwari) "should not be allowed to go on unchecked in his position as a quasi-Government servant doing mischief all around to the zamindars and raiyats alike, under the protection which the Regulations afford him. It is a grave mistake to suppose that the patwari is a disinterested third party present in the village. The fact is he is always for making the best of his little position, and goes on fomenting quarrels, where otherwise there would be none, simply to further his selfish ends."

†Not dated or numbered; see pages 149-152 of the same Volume of papers.

The Association wrote† also to the Comissioner of Patna:—

‡Now VII.

"The duties of the patwari towards the raiyat are stated in rule 8,‡ which is as follows: 'The patwari shall as a rule attend at the danabandi of each raiyat's crops, but he shall not act as an arbitrator, but shall merely act as a recorder of the transaction. Similarly, where the battyya system prevails, he shall be present at the division of the corn, and record the extent of the zamindar and raiyat's share in the produce.' There seems to be no necessity to retain a patwari for the performance of such duties as these. When there is no dispute as to the division of the crop, the patwari's attendance is unnecessary: when there is a dispute, it is practically useless, for he cannot interfere in any way, and it would of course be mischievous to give him the power of interference."

II.

Correspondence of 1880-82.

5. In paragraphs 5 and 6 of their letter, the Board have quoted largely from the correspondence of the year 1880-82 as supporting the contention (in their 7th paragraph) that "it was generally held by the local officers, the Board and Government, that the patwaris, imperfect as they were, performed functions useful to the raiyats and to Government, and that even officers who were opposed to any violent change in the law relating to them were equally opposed to the repeal of the Patwari Regulations and to the entire abolition of the system." The meaning of the last clause in the sentence is obscure, for those who are violently opposed to a change in the law would naturally be opposed to its repeal. The only references to this point appear to be Mr. Halliday's advice (paragraph 20 of his report and paragraph 6 of Board's letter of 21st October 1880) that Regulation XII of 1817 should be repealed wholly and recast in a new Act, in a form more applicable to the circumstances of the present day, and Mr. Dampier's suggestion (note of 27th May 1880, and paragraph 17 of Board's letter of 21st October 1880) that the Regulation of 1817 should be repealed and re-enacted in a form which should leave the sections relating to the patwari unaltered, but should modify those relating to his duties. Both those suggestions were put aside for the time, pending the introduction of the Patwari Bill.

6. As regards the performance by the patwaris of functions useful to the raiyats and to Government, the entire correspondence referred to is appended to the Board's letter, and it is doubtful if a reader, who observes how much of what was usually held to be the patwari's duty was set aside, will set great store by the usefulness of the petty functions that remained. The main purpose for which the patwari was constituted was that of keeping the village accounts, and as to this the Bengal Government in summing up the discussion on 15th December 1880 pronounced that "the accounts filed by the patwaris are worth absolutely nothing and consequently do more harm than good, and may be the means of misleading the authorities who attempt to use them." The Board, however, desired "to see the patwari maintained on his present footing as a servant of both Government and the zamindar, chiefly for the performance of all customary services to the State covered by the Regulation, and for granting rent receipts and attendance at the valuation or division of the crop in districts and villages where the bhaoli" (metayer) "system prevails." It is interesting therefore to enquire what these customary services were, or are. The granting of rent receipts, mentioned in the letter quoted above and in the list for Patna (No. 2), Shahabad (No. 1), Tirhut (No. 8), Champaran (No. 2), and Saran (No. 2), is no longer the duty of the patwari, but it is imposed by the Bengal Tenancy Act on the landlord. Presence at the valuation or division of crops is also mentioned above, as well as in the Patna, Gaya, Champaran, and Saran lists, but the extracts from the Bihar Landholders' report, given in paragraph 4, show how little useful that presence was, since under Rule VII of the Patwari Rules he is to do nothing but act as a recorder of a transaction and cannot interfere in a dispute. The collection of rents, mentioned in the Patna, Gaya, Champaran, and Saran lists, never was the duty of the patwari as such, and was only performed by him as a servant of a zamindar. Four out of the five "customary" duties in Shahabad were connected with the collection of canal water-rates and chaukidari cess. With the former the patwari has now nothing to do; with the latter he is connected, not as a patwari, but only if he happens to be a member of the Chaukidari Panchayat. Such duties as attendance on public officers engaged in local enquiries (Patna 4), furnishing local information of unnatural deaths (Tirhut 4), acting as Census Enumerator (Tirhut 6), giving information to police of any occurrence (Champaran 5), attendance at Civil Courts in rent suits, &c. (Saran d), attendance on batwara proceedings (Saran e), attendance on settlement proceedings (Saran f), keeping the zamindari correspondence and accounts (Saran g), acting as the zamindar's representative (Saran j), were performed by the patwari, not in consequence of the position created for him by the Regulation, but as a servant of the zamindar or a member of the public, and would be equally performed by him now if the Regulation were repealed and he became a gomashta of the zamindar. Keeping mortuary returns (Tirhut 7) is now the duty of the chaukidar, not the patwari. As to furnishing local officers with statistical information when settlements are being made (Tirhut 3), the remarks of the Bengal Government in the letter of 15th December 1880, as to the incompleteness and untrustworthiness of the patwaris' accounts, apply. It appears therefore that there is not a single one of the duties enumerated in Sir John Edgar's letter of 7th September 1880, and in paragraph 5 of the Board's letter now under examination, which still devolves upon the patwari because of his appointment to that post under the Regulation of 1817. The services, if rendered as an employé of the zamindars or as a member of the public, were unobjectionable and may have been useful, but there is hardly anything said in the correspondence to justify a conclusion on that subject. The most definite remark bearing on it is contained in paragraph 2 of the Board's letter No. 183A. of 28th March 1882, to the effect that in Shahabad the patwaris were not "able to resist the pressure brought by zamindars to have all raiyats entered as tenants-at-will." In this respect at least they do not appear to have been "useful to the tenants and to Government."

III.

Opinions of local officers and non-officials in 1884-85.

7. In paragraph 8 of their letter of 23rd October 1894, the Board quote extracts from some enclosures to a letter written by Mr. F. M. Halliday, Commissioner of Patna, on 2nd January 1885, and referring to the discussions of that time, which preceded the introduction of the Patwari Bill of 1885, and are printed in pages 155-173 of the volume of papers relating to that Bill, they say that "all the officers consulted appear, however, to have been of opinion that the patwaris gave much useful information to Government officers, and performed functions useful to the raiyats, and might be made to do more." It is worth while therefore to quote some opinions to a contrary effect, which must have escaped the notice of the Board, as in them it was held that the patwari was not useful, and that his retention (unless his position was altogether changed) was injurious to the interests of all classes.

Mr. Barlow, Commissioner of Bhagalpur, wrote:—

No. 729R., dated 20th May 1884.

"I do not believe that we can at once get patwaris, on the pay, who will act quite honestly and independently of the zamindar. In the correspondence it is clearly admitted that in the last matter the zamindar has the game mostly in his hands, and can checkmate the patwaris by withholding information."

Mr. St. Clair Grant, zamindar and planter, wrote:—

"The village servant is not always, as is often supposed, the unprincipled agent of the zamindar. He, too, often plays the part of the unjust steward. * *

"The measurement of the lands is a very important point, and in this as in the appraisement and partition of crops, and in almost every other matter concerning the raiyats, they are very much better represented by the principal man of their village than by any one else."

Mr. Halliday's letter (quoted above) contained a summary of the opinions of the officers of the Patna Division and other gentlemen, from which the following extracts are made:—

Mr. Vowell, Collector of Patna, wrote:—

"The reform of patwaris should commence by making them Government servants. Our object is to secure in them impartial accountants, and place them beyond village influences. If they remain dependent on the zamindars for their pay, the balance is immediately depressed. For the same reason they should have nothing whatever to do with the collection of rents."

The Maharaja of Dumraon quoted the 4th paragraph of the report of the Bihar Rent Committee (see paragraph 2 above), and urged that "the position of the patwari is perfectly anomalous under the present law" and that "in the present attempt to revise the Patwari law, this recommendation should not be lost sight of."

Again—"The Maharaja points out that the patwari happens oftener to be an inhabitant of a distant village than a resident of a village where he holds his office, wanting in sympathy with all about him; even the raiyats do not admit that he is more respectable than they, and, whatever advantage he has over his follows as a lettered man, he always abuses this to the detriment of the raiyats or the landholders."

Also—"The Maharaja says that it is a policy of very doubtful utility to attempt to introduce a more active administration with the patwaris as the local units of such administration."

Mr. Price, Collector of Darbhanga, was of opinion "that if the patwari is to be made useful at all, if he is to be a reasonably honest and good village accountant, his connection with, and subordination to, the zamindar must be put an end to; he must for the future become a Government servant, accountable only to the Collector for the due performance of his duties. Let the patwari be a Government servant pure and simple, paid monthly or periodically by the Collector."

Colonel R. C. Money, Manager of the Darbhanga Raj, wrote:—

"The evils of the present system have been so fully pointed out that it is needless to recapitulate them. At present the patwari is the greatest source of mischief and loss to both zamindars and raiyats, and in the interest of both it is very desirable that early action be taken to do away with his anomalous position."

The Maharaja of Hatwa wrote:—

"As a public servant, the patwari has therefore no existence now except in name. Notwithstanding the parwana of appointment he receives from the Collector, he is wholly the servant of the zamindar, from whom he draws his remuneration, and whose good-will it is his main object to secure. His primary duty is to collect rents and grant receipts, and such being the case, he is not looked upon by the raiyats as their friend. To make such men therefore the real custodians of the village rent-roll, trustworthy informants of all matters connected with the rates and areas of rent-paying lands, &c., will not further the interests of the raiyats, whose welfare the Government really seems to have in view. The education of the patwaris as a class is so limited, their remuneration so small, their traditions so demoralising, that to entrust them with such important duties as those contemplated is to make light of the duties themselves."

Mr. Worsley and Mr. Henry in Champaran reported that the patwaris could be made useful under proper supervision.

Mr. Gibbon, Manager of the Bettiah Raj, was strongly of opinion that neither the present law nor any future law would serve any good purpose until the patwari's position under it in reference to Government, zamindar, and raiyat, were authoritatively decided.

Mr. Halliday gave his own opinion as follows:—

"On the first point I have no hesitation in stating that the patwari should be absolutely forbidden to render private services to the zamindar, and should be converted into a strictly dublic officer, subordinate to his official superiors alone. It is, in my opinion, to his discharge of such duties as the collecting of rents, granting receipts, &c., that is mainly due the general distrust or suspicion with which the patwari is regarded by the people. His office, as a rule, is valued by himself, more for the irregular emoluments which he is enabled to obtain, whether by fraud, oppression or influence, than for the moderate remuneration allowed by law. And not only must his business of rent collector and the frequent and various demands made upon him by the zamindar seriously interfere with the performance of those duties which he owes to the village community, but he is liable at any moment to be sued for accounts or charged with embezzlement, and thus rendered incapable of attending to his public business for weeks and months together. It is seldom in the trans-Gangetic districts, even on estates owned by a single proprietor, that the patwari enjoys the confidence both of zamindar and raiyat; while in joint undivided estates, of which the shareholders are numerous, he is invariably the object of more or less antipathy to all. In such estates, even if he is inclined to be honest, it is often impossible for him to attend impartially to the interests of all the shareholders."

These quotations will show that the Board's general statement ("all the officers consulted," &c.), quoted at the beginning of this paragraph, is not borne out by the papers. Some of the officers thought that the patwari even as he was, had his uses; some thought the reverse; but all agreed that in order to make him efficient and trustworthy, a radical alteration in the law was required.

IV.

The Patwari Bill of 1885.

8. On the 31st January 1885, the Honourable Mr. (now Sir) A. P. MacDonnell moved in the Bengal Legislative Council for leave to introduce a Bill for the amendment of the law relating to kanungos and patwaris in the provinces under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. Its main principles, were—to declare the patwari a Government servant free from the zamindar's control; to disassociate him from the collection of the zamindar's rent, where-ever he may now happen to collect it; and to levy, through the zamindar, a cess not exceeding three-fourths of an anna on the rupee of rent for payment of the patwari's wages.

Government of Bengal's letter No. 610—234L.R., dated 16th February 1886.

In criticizing the unsatisfactory character of the law, Regulation XII of 1817, which was a compromise, the Hon'ble mover said:—

"The compromise resulted in no practical good; for the improvements effected by it were altogether incommensurate with the object in view. In fact, where it has not been entirely ignored, I am ready to admit that Regulation XII, 1817, has only had the result of causing inconvenience to the zamindars without benefiting to any material degree the raiyat or the Government. Under it the patwari is regarded as a Government servant appointed by the Collector on the nomination of the zamindar, and subject to the Collector's orders in regard to the production of his accounts. As the patwari, however, is paid by the zamindar, or by the raiyats with the zamindar's approval, it will be readily understood that, where the patwari and landlord have not quarrelled, the former is practically the latter's servant; while, where they have quarrelled, the patwari loses not only his occupation, but practically his emoluments too. In fact, wherever the patwari is not the zamindar's servant, he is a sinecure. * * * In my experience as District Collector I have known patwaris practically shorn of emoluments and duties of the office by the will of the zamindars, yet maintained in nominal office by the order of the Collector."

And again—

"I find it difficult to imagine experienced men in 1817 satisfied with Regulation XII, or failing to perceive that it was from its very essence fore-doomed to failure. For the essence of Regulation XII, 1817, is an attempt to reconcile irreconcilable interests. It strove to make a man serve two masters whose interests were conflicting, and it placed it within the power of one master to checkmate the other. Of the many provisions in our old Regulations conceived in a spirit of trustfulness in the self-denial of a class, or in people's abnegation of their own pecuniary interests, none, in my opinion, surpasses Regulation XII for fatuity of conception or for sterility of results."

Further, in the course of the same speech, the following observations were made:—

"To every attempt to establish an impartial record of facts, the zamindars opposed a persistent and successful resistance, and they found a powerful ally in the law which imposed on the patwari a dual allegiance. Within the past few years, however, the relations of zamindars and raiyats have undergone an examination more thorough and exhaustive in its character than the proceedings of our Indian Governments have yet exhibited. The lessons which past experience teaches us have been taken to heart by the Bengal Government, and none has been more appreciated than this, that if any good is to be got out of the ancient system of village accounts, the patwari must be made a Government servant.

"No one knows better than they (the zamindari party) do what a pestilent member of society the patwari often is, and always may become. He preys upon the tenantry and foments dissension among the landlords. His peculations know no bounds, and his conscience no scruple. He does nothing without a fee, and if for a fee he gratifies the raiyat, he also for a fee forswears himself to please the zamindar.

"When to this I add that the patwari of to-day is, as a rule, as remarkable for intelligence and astuteness as for complete want of moral principle, Hon'ble Members will understand how desirable it is, apart from the larger question of agrarian reform to which I have referred, that he should be brought under proper control. It will, I grant, be no easy task to reduce him to order, and to check the evil propensities which a century of mismanagement has engendered."

When the Patwari Bill was introduced and read in Council on the 14th February 1885, the Hon'ble Abdul Jubbar observed:—

"The object of the Bill is, I understand, to reorganize the system of kanungos and patwaris—a system which has entirely ceased to exist in Bengal and has worked mischievously in Bihar. The reason for this state of things is not far to seek.

"In Bengal, the law which requires the zamindars to appoint patwaris, has been rendered nugatory by inexecution, and in Bihar patwaris have been looked upon as servants of the zamindars, and not as responsible public functionaries. If patwaris are properly to discharge the duties required of them, they should be placed under the control and supervision of the revenue authorities and made quite independent of the zamindars. * * * * * * * * * *

"I have said that the patwari system has worked mischief in Bihar, and I think that I ought to explain what I, from my seventeen years' experience of that province, know, that under the existing system it is impossible to get from the patwaris any reliable information on any point in dispute between landlords and tenants. Where the patwari is under the orders of the zamindars, he is hostile to the raiyats, and where he takes the side of the latter, he does all he can to sacrifice the interests of the former."

At the same Council meeting, the Hon'ble Joy Prokash Lal said:—

"The Government of Bengal is to be congratulated on the recognition of the principle that the present anomalous position of the patwari as a quasi-Government official with obligation of service to the Government which do not pay him, and the zamindar who pays, should not be allowed to exist. This was condemned by the Bihar Rent Commission, and the Bihar landholders have persistently urged that, whatever other directions the revision of the patwari laws may take, the present anomalous system under which the nomination of the patwari was vested in them, and appointment and dismissal with the Collector, and under which, while they have to pay the patwari, the Collector can at any time, and for any length of time, command his services, should not be allowed to exist. In so far therefore as the present Bill proposes to repeal Regulation XII of 1817, under which this dual system was established, I have only to offer my heartiest thanks to Government for this concession made to the complaints of the Bihar landholders."

These quotations show how forcibly the opinion was expressed during the discussion of the Patwari Bill in Council, that the unreformed patwari was not, as the Board express it, useful to Government and to the raiyats, but an official who oppressed the raiyats and whose information could not be trusted by Government.

V.

Correspondence subsequent to the Patwari Bill of 1885

9. The next discussion took place when the Secretary of State refused to sanction the imposition of a new tax to support the maintenance of the records of rights prepared by the Muzaffarpur experimental survey. The Government of India in paragraph 8 of their letter No. 130—27-4, dated the 3rd March 1886, made the following observations:—

"I am desired to suggest, for His Honour's consideration, whether the requirement so strongly insisted on by the Secretary of State, that the payment of the new class of village accountants shall not impose additional expense on the landowners for the collection of their rents or the keeping of their accounts, might not be met by an endeavour to utilise the already existing patwaris, whom the Regulations already require the zamindars to keep up and remunerate, instead of creating an entirely new class of officers independent of the landowners. The Government of India are aware that in Bihar the opinion has hitherto been very strongly held, and expressed that the present patwaris are incapable of improvement, and that a reform of the system must take the shape of putting them altogether on one side, and introducing a new agency responsible only to the Government. But in Oudh, where a state of things not altogether dissimilar to that which exists in Bihar formerly prevailed, it has been found possible to obtain not unsatisfactory results from the zamindari patwaris, without taking away from the landowners the control over their appointment and remuneration. * * * It is true that in Oudh, owing to the operation of Act XIII of 1882, the Government was able to offer the landowners an inducement to improve their patwari system by taking upon itself the charge for salaries, and that this inducement cannot be applied in Bihar. But with reference to the High Court's decision declaring the levy by zamindars from their tenants of a cess for the payment of the patwaris to be illegal, I am to suggest, for His Honour's consideration, whether the same end might not be attained if the Government were, while recognizing the position of the patwari as the zamindar's servant and account-keeper, to offer the landlords legal facilities for the collection of such a cess from the raiyats."

The Government of Bengal's reply to these suggestions (paragraph 15 of letter No. 1011—409L.R., dated 23rd March 1886) was as follows:—

"It remains to consider the concluding paragraph of your letter. This paragraph suggests that the existing staff of patwaris should be retained in their present relations to the landowners, the Government, and the raiyats, but that they should be better supervised. The adoption of this proposal would not, in view of the ruling in Chultan Mahton's case, relieve the Government from the necessity of levying a patwari cess, or rather of legalizing the cess now declared to be illegally levied by landowners; but it would relieve the zamindars from the expenditure which the ruling in that case will inevitably in course of time impose on them. This would be an advantage to the zamindars, but in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion it would be the only advantage which would result from the adoption of the suggestion.

"In the first place, the adoption of the suggestion would impose on Government a very large expenditure in payment of the salaries of the supervising staff, which then would have to be very different from, and far more expensive than, the supervising staff contemplated by the Patwari Bill as now revised. We are now precluded by section 34, Regulation VIII of 1793, from charging the land with the payment of kanungos' salaries; consequently the expenditure on salaries of the supervising staff would fall wholly on Government.

"Again, there is unanimity on the point that no amount of supervision would be of avail in making out of the existing patwaris a trustworthy village agency such as we require. The defects of the present system are far too radical to be cured by supervision.

It appears that at this time Sir Rivers Thompson, Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, instead of holding that the patwari was useful to Government and to the raiyat, judged him incapable of reform and unworthy of retention unless his position was entirely changed by legislation.

VI.

The experimental Muzaffarpur survey-settlement.

10. Some special difficulties affecting the utilisation of the unreformed patwari in the Muzaffarpur district, where the villages are owned by large numbers of small proprietors, were brought to light by the experimental survey-settlement. Mr. Collin, in submitting his proposals for the maintenance of the Muzaffarpur survey records in July 1887, made the following remarks:—

"The patwaris have become almost entirely the servants of the proprietors. Owing to the great subdivision of villages into estates, and the extension of leases, the number of patwaris has increased, and they no longer represent a village, but an estate. The majority of patwaris are not registered in the Collector's office, and they are therefore entirely under the control of the proprietors. They have lost their hereditary and permanent character, and are to a great extent merely servants of the proprietor or lessee, removable at pleasure, and dependent for all information upon their employers."

Mr. Collin was of opinion that, as the patwari system had practically become obsolete, it would be better to recognize the fact, and to deal directly with the landlords rather than with their servants. He recommended, therefore, that the landlords should be called upon, under sections 31 and 32 of Regulation XII of 1817, to produce the necessary returns for the correction of the records, the cost of supervision being defrayed by Government.

Mr. Finucane, then Director of Land Records, in advocating that an attempt should be made to maintain the records, made certain proposals to the Board as follows:—

"To summarise the preceding remarks, it would appear that—

(a) As a fact a registered patwari does not exist for each village.

(b) That if a separate patwari were now to be registered for each separate village, it would be impossible for him to maintain and correct the records unless he were also to perform the actual work of keeping all the accounts of the village, and it would be impossible to secure this in practice, as every landlord has now his own patwari, who is his accountant.

(c) That the only practicable way under the existing law of utilizing the present staff of patwaris is to register such of them as are now doing the duties of patwari, each for the specific area on which he performs patwari's duties.

(d) That the success of the plan depends on the voluntary co-operation of the landlords and tenants concerned.

(e) That the two alternative schemes, namely, that of appointing circle patwaris in addition to, or in lieu of, the existing staff, and that of throwing upon zamindars the entire burden of filing such returns as may be required, are impracticable without alteration in the law, which it would be here out of place to suggest or discuss."

The Board (Mr. Halliday), in forwarding the correspondence, concurred "in the view taken by the Director that, notwithstanding the considerations which may be advanced on the other side, an attempt should be made to maintain the records and keep them corrected up to date: and they agree with him that, in the absence of any other agency, there is practically no course open but to utilize the patwaris for the purpose. * * * It has not escaped the Board's notice that Mr. Finucane does not regard the scheme submitted by him as a complete and satisfactory one; but they concur with him that it would be desirable to give it a trial." After further consideration the Board (Mr. Reynolds) wrote again on the 15th June 1888:—

"In submitting to Government the proposals of the Director of Land Records and of the Settlement Officer regarding the measures to be taken for the maintenance of the survey and settlement records in the area lately brought under survey in Muzaffarpur, the Board, in their letter No. 532A., dated the 4th August 1887, expressed, though with much hesitation, their concurrence in the Director's opinion that an attempt should be made to keep the records corrected up to date, and that the agency of the patwaris should be utilized for the purpose. Mr. Collin, on the other hand, considered that, as the patwari system has practically become obsolete, it would be better to recognise the fact, and to call upon the landlords to file the necessary returns, the cost of supervision being defrayed by Government. * * * * * * *

"In its own estates the Government can do what it thinks proper, and it is possible that, in estates which come under temporary settlement, engagements might be taken which would provide for the maintenance of the record, though the enforcement of such engagements would be a matter of some difficulty. But in a permanently-settled area, such as is now under consideration, the Board are reluctantly compelled to say that the existing law leaves the Government practically without any resource. It is hopeless to expect that the record can be maintained by the agency either of the patwaris or of the zamindars. Mr. Collin's scheme proposes a supervising establishment at an annual cost of about Rs. 4,000, though this makes no allowance for the work of the Collector or his deputies. The Board are unable to recommend that any such expenditure should be authorized upon a plan which, in their opinion, is necessarily foredoomed to failure.

"The feeling which has prompted Messrs. Finucane and Collin to urge the adoption of some measures which will give a permanent value to the work in which they have taken so much interest, and which they have accomplished so well, has the entire sympathy of the Board. But the Board would be wanting in their duty if they failed to represent that Government has practically before it only the alternatives of abandoning all measures for the proper maintenance of the records of the Muzaffarpur survey; or of invoking the aid of the Legislature for the establishment of an efficient system of patwaris and kanungos."

The Collector of Muzaffarpur's opinion, enclosed in this letter from the Board, was as follows:—"The uselessness of patwaris under the present law is, however, best evidenced by the simple fact known to every one who has had any experience of them, that a patwari, when asked for accounts, commonly replies that it is out of his power to produce them, as the landlord does not give him access to his papers; nor is there any provision of law compelling the landlord to do so."

These opinions sufficiently indicate the hopelessness of expecting the records to be maintained and corrected by the agency of patwaris under the existing conditions in the Muzaffarpur district, and the same difficulties exist in all other parts of North Bihar where the fundamental assumption of Regulation XII of 1817, that there is but one patwari to a village, who is employed to keep the accounts of a single proprietor or a combined body of proprietors, does not apply.

VII.

Correspondence with the Board in 1886-1888 about patwaris' registers.

11. The next occasion, somewhat overlapping the last mentioned, on which the patwari question was discussed, also deserves to be included. In a letter, No. 1385—497L.R., dated 1st June 1882 (which forms one of the enclosures of the Board's letter of 23rd October 1894), this Government ruled that, pending the issue of orders by the Government of India on the proposed amendment of the rent-law, no changes should be introduced into the existing state of affairs with regard to the patwaris and their work. This subject therefore remained in abeyance until this Government, on the 10th December 1886, wrote to the Board as follows:—

"In your letter No. 183A.,* dated 28th March 1882, you conveyed an expression of the opinion of the Board of Revenue that, without any formal revision or amendment of the Patwari Rules, Collectors should be directed to allow Rule XV,† prescribing the maintenance of certain registers, to remain in abeyance. In reply, it was stated in the letter of this department, No. 1385—497L.R., dated 1st June 1882, that pending the issue of orders on the amendment of the rent-law then proposed, no change should be introduced.

* An enclosure of the Board's letter of 23rd October 1894.

"The Bengal Tenancy Act having come into operation, and the Patwari Bill having been abandoned, it is now desirable to reconsider the question of the maintenance of registers by the patwaris in Bihar. I am therefore directed to invite the renewed attention of the Board to the subject, and to request the favour of a report showing how far these registers are in practice maintained, and whether they should be modified.

"The question of the registers to be maintained on such Government estates in Bihar as have been, or may hereafter be, surveyed may be separately considered. Recent discussions have drawn prominent attention to the distinction between the value of the statistical information obtained from patwaris in villages as to which there is no original record of rights, or of the area of fields, and the value of that procurable where such information exists, and forms a basis on which to work."

The Board (Mr. Reynolds) replied‡ as follows:—

‡ No. 635A., dated 25th June 1888.

"The orders of Government conveyed in Mr. Nolan's letter No. 2505—952L.R., dated the 10th December 1886, invited the attention of the Board to the question of the registers to be maintained by patwaris in Bihar, and called for a report showing how far these registers are in practice maintained, and whether they should be modified.

"It is unnecessary, for the purposes of the present letter, to recapitulate the correspondence which had previously passed between the Government, the Board, and the Commissioners of Patna and Bhagalpur on the subject of the patwaris' registers and accounts. It appears sufficient to refer to the Board's letter No. 183A., dated the 28th March 1882, which reported the existing condition of things in the district of Shahabad, and conveyed an expression of Mr. Dampier's opinion that, when at the cost of great labour the object of getting the patwaris' registers kept in the prescribed form should have been attained, we should be almost as far as ever from the real object of securing the maintenance of trustworthy accounts.

"I am now to submit, for the consideration of Government, copies of the reports* received from the Commissioners of Bhagalpur and Patna upon the question. It will be seen that, in the Bhagalpur Division, Monghyr is the only district in which patwaris under Regulation XII of 1817, are supposed to have been generally appointed; and that in Monghyr none of the registers prescribed by the rules is kept up. In the Patna Division the registers are not kept up completely in any district.

* Commissioner of Bhagalpur, No. 356R. of 29th April 1887.
Commissioner of Patna, No. 285R. of 25th May 1888.

"The existing rules† prescribe three registers to be kept up by patwaris and one to be kept in the Collector's office. Register No. 1 is an annual account-current of the village under 23 different heads. No. 2 is a register of mutations of proprietors, tenure-holders, and raiyats. No. 3 is a register of pottahs granted during the agricultural year. The patwaris are directed to fill in the entries in these registers correctly and promptly, and to produce their books for inspection by the kanungo, or by any other official authorised by the Collector or Subdivisional Officer to examine them.

† Board's No. 882A., dated 24th October 1877, and Government order No. 3086, dated 26th November 1877.

"That registers of this kind 'are not kept up completely in any district' can hardly be a matter for surprise. Even if the patwari were the most deligent and the most loyal of public servants, it would often be quite out of his power to obtain the necessary information. The Patwari Rules, as they stand at present, maintain strictly the idea of the patwari as expressed in the old Regulations of the Bengal Code. One patwari, and only one, is recognized for each village, even if the village is too large to be undertaken by one man, no division of the charge is permitted, but an assistant patwari is appointed, who is wholly subordinate to the patwari. The recognized patwari is the man who receives a sanad of appointment from the Collector, and on whom the duty of maintaining the registers and accounts is imposed.

"But, as a matter of fact, the patwari of the old regulations no longer exists, and no sanad signed by the Collector can resuscitate him. The patwari of the present day is the servant of one out of a number of village landlords. As he cannot obtain access to the accounts of farmers and of rival shareholders, his information must necessarily be incomplete; and as he is naturally subservient to the zamindar whose actual subordinate he is, his registers will in general be untrustworthy.

"Among the reports now submitted, it will be observed that the Collectors of Monghyr and Gaya recommend no changes in the forms of the registers. But as the registers are not kept up in Monghyr, the Collector seems hardly in a position to offer an opinion on the point; while the Collector of Gaya apparently thinks that the present rules require copies of the registers to be sent to the Collector, which is not the case. Mr. Norman, the late Collector of Muzaffarpur, who thinks that any connection of the administration with patwaris is out of place in a permanently-settled district, had apparently forgotten that the patwari system works usefully and efficiently in the permanently-settled districts of the Benares Division. The Collector and the Commissioner of Bhagalpur consider that the forms of registers should be much shortened and simplified; and the Commissioner of Patna, who expresses a very similar opinion, supports the representation of the Collectors of Patna and Shahabad as to the necessity of an improved supervising agency.

"It appears to the Board that it is premature to discuss the question of the forms of the registers till the Government has finally decided whether any recourse is to be had to legislation. Even the simpler forms of registers, suggested by Mr. Wace and Mr. Boxwell, cannot and will not be kept up under the present law. And, if this is the case, it is useless to establish a supervising agency to examine and tabulate incomplete and untrustworthy returns. The kind of middle course which has hitherto been adopted, of giving a sanad to the nominee of the principal landlord, and calling him the village patwari (when he is really nothing of the kind), and requiring him to fill up the registers to the best of his ability and knowledge, has, in the Board's opinion, nothing to recommend it. If it is desired to make the office of village patwari a reality (and there is much to be said in favour of doing so), this can only be effected by a change in the law. If it is determined to leave the law as it stands, the Board cannot see that anything would be lost by cancelling the present patwari rules and abolishing the registers."

The Board's present opinion that the patwaris give "much useful information to Government officers" is in startling contrast to the view held in 1888, that they could not give correct information if they would, and would not if they could.

VIII.

12. In conclusion, some weighty evidence is contained in the reports received in reply to this Government letter No. 492T.R., dated 30th June 1892, bearing on the subject under discussion.

Examination of the correspondence of 1892-93.

Mr. Dalton (Collector of Darbhanga) observed in his letter of November 1892:—

"The rottenness of the present patwari system is, I take it, an acknowledged fact, and its abolition an accepted preliminary to any suggested reform."

Mr. Blyth (Collector of Champaran), in his letter dated 20th June 1892, wrote:—

"The late Commissioner, Mr. Lyall, in his letter No. 4R., dated the 1st April 1892, with which he forwarded to the Board of Revenue a report of the meeting held at Muzaffarpur to discuss the question of the cadastral survey, remarks concerning the patwari:—

'Even in the short time I have been in this division, I have seen how necessary such an officer is in Bihar.'

"I do not think that any of the other officials who have have had experience of Bihar concur in this view, and I believe that had Mr. Lyall had a little longer experience of this province, he would have come to the conclusion that his first impressions were not correct, and would have been convinced that the patwaris as a class are as useless, dishonest, and mischievous as they are held to be by every one who has had to deal with their work.

"The landlord must of course retain in the village some official whose duty will be similar to those now performed by the patwari; but it will be more satisfactory when this official is the servant of the zamindar than it is at present when he is practically the servant of no one, and merely uses his position for his own personal aggrandisement, and behaves dishonestly towards the Government, the landlord, and the raiyats in turn, as it suits his interests or convenience.

"All registers and returns which the patwari is at present supposed to keep up on behalf of Government can as easily be kept up by the landlord, and they will be at least as trustworthy in the latter case as in the former, and with the disappearance of the patwari as a quasi-Government servant will disappear a great element of discord from the village administration. Government should deal direct with the landlord, and should require him, under such penalties as may be necessary, to keep up the registers, &c., which are now kept up by the patwari, and should hold him responsible for their being correctly maintained.

"The patwari is entirely out of the question as the person to keep up the records of rights, and he should disappear from the village as an official recognised by Government. The kanungo would be in a very much inferior position to the landlord as a registering officer, and would in few instances be able to decide, without reference to the landlord, whether a mutation should be entered or not, and the landlord thus remains as the person who, from his position and knowledge, stands out as the proper and most convenient agent for performing the duty of keeping up the records."

Mr. Earle, Collecter of Saran—wrote in his letter of 12th December 1892:—

"With regard to patwaris under Regulation XII of 1817, I may say that popular as well as official opinion is entirely in favour of their abolition. Courts of justice, zamindars and raiyats have all had experience of how potent they are for mischief, and of how little they work for good."

Babu Bepin Bihari Bose, Manager, Hatwa Raj, reported on the 17th October 1892, as follows:—

"I agree with the views expressed by the Government that it is not at all advisable to revive the Patwari Bill; which was abandoned by the orders of the Secretary of State in 1886, and that the patwaris as a class of Government servants may be abolished altogether by the repeal of Regulation XII of 1817. It is a well-known fact that the patwaris of Bihar are a set of low-paid, unscrupulous men, with a statutory position, which enables them to fill their own pockets at the sacrifice of the interests of the raiyats and zamindars alike, particularly in the case of villages owned jointly by several proprietors where no individual landlord can exercise any effectual control over them, the result being that they become the de facto proprietors of the villages."

At the same time Mr. Hare (note of 14th February 1893) advocated the repeal of Regulation XII of 1817; and Sir W. B Hudson (note of 7th July 1892) saw no objection to its repeal. Mr. Forbes, in his report of the 21st March 1893, recommended the repeal of Regulation XII of 1817, and the abolition of the patwari as a Government servant. The Board have overlooked these reports when they wrote of the patwaris, that "No officer in Bihar has ever yet proposed their entire and unconditional abolition."

C. E. BUCKLAND,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 16th December 1894.

APPENDIX II.

REPLIES of officers of the Patna Division to a circular asking for their opinions on the four arguments for the retention of the patwari, as summed up in paragraph 2 of the letter to which this Appendix is an enclosure.

1. From A. FORBES, ESQ., Commissioner of the Patna Division, dated the 3rd December 1894.

I. The Regulation, no doubt, gives Government a certain control over the patwari, as his appointment, dismissal and punishment for negligence in the discharge of his statutory duties rest with the Collector. But the usefulness for Government purposes of this control is limited, owing to the facts that, first, the law confines the actual duties which the Collector can require of the patwari to the limits laid down in sections 16 and 22 of the Regulation, and secondly, and especially, that, if the landlord becomes dissatisfied with the man, he does not allow him to continue to work, and he becomes a patwari in name only, of no use to any one; and the law, as it stands, affords no real remedy for this. We can force the landlord to nominate a patwari, but we cannot oblige him to make use of him. Thus, so long only as the patwari continues to be an acceptable servant, in the fullest sense of the word, of the landlord, can he be of any use to us.

It seems to me that it would be much more to the purpose if the responsibility for the proper keeping of the village accounts, and for their production when required, were imposed by law upon the landlord himself, and if he were then left to make his own arrangements for doing so. And it will be noticed that all recent legislation has proceeded on these lines. Thus under the Cess Act, Butwara Act, &c., the person called upon to submit returns and accounts is, not the patwari, but the landlord. The existence of the patwari and his use for such purposes is entirely ignored. So, too, under the Tenancy Act, the landlord is solely responsible for the proper keeping of the accounts—see sections 57, 58, 59 and passim. The patwari is nowhere mentioned.

The fact is that the patwari in his character of a Government official is an anachronism. With the march of events his time has gone by. A reference to the preamble of the Regulation will show this. Three quarters of a century ago it was imagined that he would be of use to the Revenue Officers of Government in the following matters, viz.—(1) the division of estates, (2) the hearing of suits for rents, (3) the decision of boundary disputes, (4) the execution of decrees for possession. The direction taken by subsequent legislation has silently shelved the patwari,—quoad a Government official,—in all these matters. (1) He is ignored, as I have already noticed, in the Butwara Act; (2) rent suits have been made over from his former masters, the Revenue Officers, to the Civil Courts; (3) boundary disputes are settled under the Survey Act V (B.C.) of 1875, in which no reference is made to the patwari, or by civil suit; and (4) execution of decrees for possession is also entirely a matter for the Civil Courts. Regulation XII of 1817 is, at the present day, made of no use whatever in any of these matters. In other words its raison d'etre has passed away.

II. It seems to me a fallacy to suppose that the patwari is of any greater use as a protection to the raiyats against the landlord than any naib or gomashta or other village servant who deserts his employer, and turns his knowledge to account on the side of the raiyats. Theoretically, he is, in a measure, a Government servant; and he is so far safe from the landlord that he cannot be dismissed from his nominal post as patwari without the consent of the Collector. But there is no reason to think that this in any way tends to increase his sense of justice, or to induce him to disregard his own interests; and these are best consulted by his siding with the stronger party, which he invariably does. The Lalla class, to which he belongs, is of admittedly low morality—an unscrupulous, self-seeking, dishonest class; and his position of semi-independence, if of any use to him at all, is made use of for his own purposes. The fact is that the real protection of the raiyat is not, and never can be, this, that, or another low paid village muharrir; but the Tenancy Act itself and the accumulative evidence of his rights that the law gives in the shape of his receipts, of the accounts which the landlord is bound to keep, and lastly the record of rights which is now being prepared in Bihar.

I know that Mr. Marindin is in favour of retaining the patwari in Shahabad, his view being that, as the raiyats pay his "neg," he is practically a servant of theirs, and has thus an inducement to work in their interests; and he tells me that, when he proposed to abolish the patwari system in the khas mahals in his district, the raiyats so strongly objected that he abstained from carrying out the measure. How far the collection of "neg" from the raiyats holds in other districts I am not prepared at this moment (I write this note in camp), without reference to my office papers, to say; but I believe (I write from memory) that the Board have lately condemned the practice in Shahabad, and that in the other Bihar districts it is usually the landlord who pays the patwari; in all suits by patwaris for arrears of pay that have come before me it has invariably been the landlords and not the raiyats who were sued. And as regards the feeling among the raiyats referred to by Mr. Marindin, the question is not, I take it, the abolition of the patwari system, but the withdrawal by Government of any interference with the landlords in their relations—as master and servant—with their patwaris. The patwari system, as a collecting agency, if it be still found to succeed, will, doubtless, remain intact.

III. No doubt the patwari is occasionally of use to Government officials but such use will, I think, almost invariably be found to be outside of the Regulation. He was used for census purposes; but this was effected under the Census Act, under which many other servants of the landlord, besides patwaris, and many landlords themselves, were appointed as census officers. The Regulation had nothing to do with the matter. He may also possibly be of use in times of famine as an agent of the landlord, and he is sometimes of use in assisting to provide "russud" for troops and for officers on tour and in various other ways. But these are not a part of his duties under the Regulation, but are performed by him as the zamindar's agent, and not in pursuance of any orders that the Collector is legally empowered to give him quoad Regulation XII patwari. Landlords have similar duties to perform in Eastern Bengal, and they are exacted from them with equal ease there, though there are no Regulation patwaris.

IV. Looking at the matter from the above standpoints, I consider that the retention of the patwari on his Regulation XII status of independence towards his de facto master, the landlord, is without justification. The special duties for which his services were retained in the early days of our Raj have now passed away, having long ago devolved by law upon the landlords, or been replaced by the procedure of the Civil Courts. Yet his position of semi-independence towards his employer is still kept up as a thorn in the side of the landlords, of which they have, in my opinion, just reason to complain.

At the same time, provided that we can remove the cause of irritation, I see no reason why the patwari should not be retained as a quasi-Government official in view of his being made of use in assisting us to keep up the record of rights in Bihar. It is too early yet to say that he can be made of no use for this purpose. It would obviously be of considerable advantage to us to have an accredited agent of the landlord, possessing a full knowledge of details in each village, who is at the same time under our own control; and I would not recommend the total repeal of the Regulation until we gain some further experience of our needs in this respect. But what I would certainly do, and that as soon as possible, is to give landlords more free control over their patwaris than Regulation XII gives them. The patwari should continue to be nominated by the landlord for approval by the Collector, and negligence in respect of his Government duties should be punishable, as now, by that officer; but the landlord should be allowed to dismiss, transfer, or otherwise punish his patwari, as he does any of his other servants, without interference by Government. In other words, the landlord will be called upon to place his patwari at the disposal of Government for such purposes as we require. More than this I do not see that we can, in justice, ask.

The only difficulty would be where Government interests and the landlord's interests clash. The landlord may be irritated with his patwari for giving information to the Settlement Officers which he considers prejudicial to his own interests. I do not anticipate, if landlords see that we only wish to act fairly, that this will often happen. But to provide for such a case, the law might direct that, when the Collector is satisfied (for reasons to be reduced to writing—with an appeal to the Commissioner) that the cause of the landlord's dissatisfaction is in respect of the performance by the patwari of his duties towards Government he (Collector) may require payment of compensation (within certain limits) by the landlord to the patwari. The only alternative would be the reinstatement of the patwari by the Collector, but this would land us in exactly the same difficulty as Regulation XII now does, arising from our inability to compel the landlord to employ the patwari. I would therefore prefer the first alternative I have suggested.

This would leave the landlord free to deal as he likes with a patwari who, as regards his employer's relations with his tenants, his co-sharers, &c., appeared to him to be untrue to his salt, or whom for any other private reason he might wish to get rid of. It is this kind of freedom of action that the landlords claim, and which in justice should be granted them. The disadvantage in this respect, under which Bihar lardlords labour, is a very real one; and we have no excuse at the end of the 19th century for continuing it.

The most business-way of going to work would be to provide, in the proposed Bill, for the performance by the patwari of the requisite duties in connection with the preparation and up-keep of the record of rights—which Regulation XII does not effectively do, not having originally been intended for this particular purpose—and then to repeal Regulation XII altogether. The Bill should give the landlords thorough control over their patwaris in all matters outside of their duties towards Government, as I have suggested above.

2. From C. R. MARINDIN, ESQ., Collector of Shahabad, dated the 12th November 1894.*

IN districts where the Regulation is in use it helps to keep the Collector in touch with the zamindars and raiyats. Changes in the law and in the executive functions of the District Officer have, as His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor is aware, done much in the course of even the last 25 years or so to loosen the tie between the District Officer and the people, and the abolition of the Patwari Regulation would be cutting one more strand in the rope. I quite admit that this by itself is not a very cogent reason for its retention, but it is worth considering along with others.

A great objection to the proposed abolition lies, I think, in the fact that the Regulation enables the Collector to exercise a control over the appointment and dismissal of patwaris, which is often really useful in the interests of both zamindars and raiyats.

Cases under the Patwari Regulation form a substantial item in the work of this Collectorate. The post of patwari is one which is highly valued. The zamindar's nomination is not unfrequently hotly contested by a rival claimant. I often have to decide objections against the Deputy Collector's decision in such cases, and my orders are appealed against to the Commissioner and sometimes up to the Board of Revenue.

Then shareholders in an estate often differ and dispute over the nomination, and support different nominees between whom the Collector has to decide. Lastly, the zamindar on one side or the raiyat on the other complains to the Collector of the dishonesty or misconduct of the patwari and seeks his intervention. It might be argued that the number of such cases is in itself proof of the value of the Regulation, while, on the other hand, it might be contended that the zamindars had much better be left to decide all their matters for themselves. Were the interests of the zamindars alone concerned, the latter contention would doubtless carry great weight; but in my opinion there is much in favour of the other view, as the zamindar is not the only person whose interests we have to consider.

It would, I submit, be most disadvantageous to the raiyats were the patwari to become solely and entirely the servant of the zamindar. By custom, which has been embodied in the present law, the patwari is a village official holding an hereditary office, whose duty it is to keep the village accounts fairly as between zamindar and raiyat. The raiyats here certainly look to him to safeguard their interests against trickery and fraud by the zamindari amla. In this district, moreover, the patwari is actually paid by the raiyats, for on every estate a patwari's "neg" is levied, which is a cess paid by each raiyat in proportion to and in addition to his rent, out of which the zamindar pays the patwari's salary. This "neg" has lately been abolished in Government estates under the Board's orders, and in connection with this change I had to consider whether we could not do without patwaris on some at least of the khas mahals; but I found that, apart from the legal obligation to appoint patwaris, the raiyats looked upon him as their protector against the landlord, and that to abolish him would be a measure regarded with extreme suspicion and most unpopular.

The patwari being thus primarily a village official owing duties both to the raiyats and the zamindar, and the interests of these two classes being often conflicting, I consider that it is essential, in the interests of both, that the Collector should continue to exercise control over his appointment and dismissal under the Regulation.

I cannot deny that the zamindars would probably welcome a change which gives them the patwari's undivided allegiance, but the question is whether it would be right and just to the raiyats to help on the conversion of the patwari into a mere servant of the zamindar, by abolishing the Regulation. The measure would be I am obliged to say in my opinion most detrimental to the interests of the raiyat, and very unpopular with that class. It seems to me also to be a retrograde one in view of all that has been done by the Tenancy Act, and is being done by the Bihar Survey and Settlement in the raiyat's behalf. Moreover, I do not think that the present law is exactly a source of irritation to the zamindars. They are glad enough to have recourse to it themselves when there is a dispute among shareholders about the appointment of a patwari. They are too as a class very conservative in their views, and this must help to reconcile them to a system which has now been for so many years in existence.

I now turn to the question of the position of the patwari as a Government servant, and the arguments of the Government of India in favour of his retention.

1. I certainly think we might make much more use of the Patwari Regulation than is at present the case. Accounts are very seldom, I believe, examined by Revenue Officers for statistical or other purposes, and, as a matter of fact, our control is limited to questions of appointment or dismissal.

2. I believe the patwari is a valuable protection to the raiyat against illegal claims, and that he would cease to be so if he were converted into the zamindar's servant. I cannot recall any specific instance in support of this belief, but, as I have stated above, I do actually find in this district that the raiyat looks to the patwari to safeguard his interests against the zamindar.

3. I have not served much in Bihar Proper, but I can give the following instances where special use was made of the patwaris by Government:—

(1) In the Bihar famine in 1874, when I was Circle Officer at Behera in the Darbhanga district, a good deal of use was then made of the patwari in getting village lists for relief, and in distributing gratuitous relief and looking after village works. Again in the following year, when there was a slight recurrence of scarcity in the Madhubani sub-division of the same district, to which I was then posted, a similar use was made of him.

(2) In Darbhanga, in 1890-91, the patwari's services were utilized in the census operations.

(3) This reminds me that the patwaris were employed to take a rough census in my circle in the Behera thana in 1894.

(4) One has constantly looked to the patwari for help, when on tour, in the matter of supplies and as a medium of communication with the villagers. He is a link between the District Officer and the villagers.

4. The patwari, I have always thought, should be the nucleus out of which an effective agency for maintaining land records might be developed. Short of this, he is now about the only source from which a Collector can gather village agricultural statistics. He is not much used for this purpose I admit, but he might be, and it seems a pity to deprive Government of his services in this direction.

I might be allowed to remind you that the question of village sanitation is now very much to the fore. Sanitation, it is true, does not come within the scope of a patwari's legitimate duties, but when so much will have to be done by the personal influence of District Officers, it seems a mistake to deprive him of his hold over an individual who occupies such an important position in the village system as the patwari.

3. From W. D. BLYTH, ESQ., Collector of Champaran, dated 15*th November* 1894.

2. The correspondence in this Collectorate regarding the patwari system generally is not voluminous, and my views are therefore based chiefly on my own personal experience of the patwari as an individual during the period of close on five years that I have been in charge of this district.

3. In June 1892, in submitting to the Commissioner suggestions in connection with the maintenance of the record of rights, I proposed the abolition of the patwari as a quasi-Government servant, and remarked that as a class the patwaris are useless, dishonest and mischievous, and use their quasi-official position for their own personal aggrandisement, and behave dishonestly towards Government, the zamindar, and the raiyat in turn, as it suits their interest or convenience. After a further experience of two-and-a-half years I see no reason for modifying in any way the views which I then expressed. A copy of my report was forwarded to the Board by Mr. Forbes, with his letter No. 1365R., dated the 21st March 1893.

4. In your letter you have quoted the four main arguments advanced for the retention of the patwari under the existing Regulations. These are to the effect that—

I. The Regulations give the Government much control over the patwari, which might be, though it has not been, usefully employed:
II. The patwari is even now often a valuable protection to the raiyat against illegal claims.
III. He has often been made use of for numerous important uses throughout Bihar.
IV. He is the nucleus out of which an effective land record agency can be developed.

I propose to consider each of these arguments separately as shortly as possible.

5. It is said in the first place that the Regulations give the Government much control over the patwari, which might be, though it has not been, usefully employed.

Theoretically this may be so, and successive generations of officials have entertained the same idea, and have endeavoured to realize the ideal patwari, but on each occasion the attempt has been unsuccessful. The original effort made about one hundred years ago failed. I am writing from memory; the papers are all in the Board and the Secretariat. The subsequent effort which resulted in the passing of Regulation XII of 1817 was scarcely more successful, and after a fitful existence the system was allowed practically to die a natural death. About 1875 an attempt was made to reorganize the patwari system in connection with the Land Registration Act, but after much discussion Government some years later determined to make no change pending the amendment of the Rent Law. This was some two or three years before the passing of the Bengal Tenancy Act. One change was, however, made, and that was the cancelment by Government of the rule requiring the patwari to file a copy of the accounts. Last year, in connection with the Cadastral Survey, enquiries were again made regarding the existence of patwaris in the different villages, with a view to each patwari being employed on the Cadastral Survey of his own village.

The enquiry showed that, even where there were registered patwaris, they were in a large number of instances unfit for the survey work from ignorance, mental incapacity, sickness, and old age, and sometimes from youth, where a minor had been appointed in the place of his father or uncle, and a large number of substitutes had to be admitted to do the work for them—so that down to the latest date we find the system a failure. Whatever the patwari might have been before the time of the British Raj, he had, before he was taken in hand, become practically the servant of the zamindar, and every effort to convert him into an officer on whom reliance could be placed, and who would keep correct accounts and furnish Government with accurate information, proved ineffectual; he remained the servant of the zamindar, and the only effect of bestowing on him a quasi-official position was to give him more power to work in his own interests, and to render it more difficult for the zamindar to get rid of him when his work was bad. I do not see on what ground it is possible to base any expectation that efforts made to render the patwari a useful officer to Government would succeed in the future, when experience shows that all such efforts have failed in the past. Each failure has rendered the chance of success more faint, and I think that it is useless to hold any longer to the theory that Government could now, under any circumstances, usefully employ such small control as the Regulations give them over the present race of patwaris.

6 The second argument advanced is that the patwari is even now a valuable protection to the raiyat against illegal claims. So far as the papers to which I have access go, I can only find in them a general assertion made on one or two occasions by some officer, in reporting on the subject, that "the patwari is useful to Government, to the zamindar, and to the raiyat." The assertion is not often made, and where it is, I can find no reasons advanced in support of it. To the zamindar, in so far as he is his servant, keeps his accounts and acts generally as a rent collector, he is no doubt useful; but the efforts made at intervals to "reorganize" and "revive" the system seem to show conclusively that, as he at present exists, and as he has existed at any time during the last hundred years, he is of little use to Government, and the statement in the first argument advanced in his favour, that Government has not usefully employed the control the Regulations give them over him, seems to show that this is an admitted fact. Had he been useful, he would have been brought forward, instead of being allowed to remain in the back-ground, and the control would have been usefully employed. So far as the raiyat is concerned, I have never personally known of an instance in which a raiyat obtained "valuable protection" from the patwari. The raiyat can, no doubt, in a suit with his zamindar, call for the production of the patwari's papers; but as these are practically the zamindar's papers, I am unable to see that the raiyat gets any more benefit from them than he would from papers produced directly from the zamindar's sarishta. Possibly where a patwari, in collusion with the raiyat and with an eye to his own interests and gains, has altered the papers, the raiyat might obtain an unfair advantage; but this, of course, is not the protection which is meant. I have on many occasions discussed the subject with European leaseholders—gentlemen who manage their zamindaris well, and are desirous of promoting the welfare of their raiyats—and I have never been told by any one of them that the patwari protects the raiyat; on the contrary they, as well as the native landlords to whom I have spoken, have unanimously represented the patwari as a man who preys on the raiyats in his village, and adds field to field to the great detriment of the poorer cultivators. With the more wealthy and influential cultivators the patwari generally refrains from interfering. Mr. Coffin, of Sathi, in this district, has told me that he found that the raiyats were so oppressed by the patwaris, not only in regard to the various cesses which they realized from them for their own benefit, but in actual short credit given to them for sums paid in as rent to the patwari as rent-collector, that he has begun to collect his rents direct from the raiyats. The cultivators come in to Mr. Coffin's cutcherry, pay in the rents to him direct, and he himself gives them their receipts and writes up their accounts. The patwaris at first used every means in their power to dissuade the raiyats from making these personal payments, but the raiyats have come to see that the system is most advantageous so far as they are themselves concerned, and they have fully adopted it; and Mr. Coffin now collects in a few days, and with fewer arrears, the rents which the patwaris formerly collected and paid into his office in small amounts over a term of many weeks. Mr. Coffin works his zamindari well, and has done much for the benefit of his raiyats in the way of making irrigation channels, for which he has charged the raiyats nothing, either in the shape of a contribution to the cost of excavation, or as increased rents, and I have no hesitation in accepting as correct, for his zamindari, the facts which he has stated with regard to the patwari. Other European ticcadars have also adopted the system of making direct collections, and taking this duty out of the hands of the patwaris, on account of the mischief that they have been found to do. I frequently receive complaints against patwaris of embezzling portions of the rents collected by them, and then representing the raiyats as either not having paid at all, or as having paid a portion only of the sum that they actually handed over to the patwari. Some patwaris are given land by the zamindar as remuneration for their services, but as a class they all hold land, most of which they have acquired through the advantage which their position gives them. A case came before me some little time ago, in which a patwari induced the son of an absconding raiyat to execute and register a fictitious deed of sale, making over to him the holding which his father had left for a supposed sum of money which he never received. This is not an uncommon method on the part of the patwari of acquiring land, and the manipulation of the jamabandi papers gives him ample opportunity of enriching himself at the expense of the smaller cultivators who are too poor to struggle successfully against him. It is, perhaps, unnecessary to go into any more details of this kind, but, if I do not give them, it is not because they are not forthcoming. There are no grounds whatever, in Champaran at least, for the allegation that the patwari is a valuable protection, or indeed any protection at all, to the raiyat against illegal claims; he is rather the person who himself brings forward the illegal claims in the shape of various salamis which have to be paid to him by the raiyats in the shape of "neg," "raseedown," "farkhown," "dwat pujah salami," &c., and who generally enriches himself at their expense whenever he sees a suitable opportunity. He is, to a certain extent, looked up to by the villagers, but the respect is that which is always paid in this country to the person who is acknowledged to be in power. The stipulated remuneration of the patwari is small, and were that all that the post were worth, candidates for nomination would not be willing to pay the large salami for the nomination which they are now ready to give to the zamindar when a vacancy occurs. It is to the "pickings" which come out of the pockets of the raiyats that they look, and if these were not very considerable, there would be no large salami offered for the nomination, nor would there be the expensive fights in the Collector's Court as to the rights of nominees to be appointed, nor would there be the costly appeals to the Commissioner and the Board against orders of dismissal. The appointment is undoubtedly a very valuable one to the holder, and it is the unfortunate raiyat who has to pay for its being so.

7. It is said in the third place that the patwari "has often been made use of for numerous important uses throughout Bihar." As regards the other districts in Bihar I am not in a position to say anything, but so far as Champaran is concerned the patwaris have not rendered any important service, nor have they been put to any important use during my five years of office, nor have I found any trace in this office of their having been useful to any of my predecessors. It is true that they were to some extent made use of during the census, but the census is taken only at intervals of ten years, and it would scarcely be worth while to retain patwaris as quasi-Government servants merely to utilize them on these rare occasions, even if under the Census Act they were not, as purely zamindari servants, liable to give exactly the same assistance when called upon to render it. For the Cadastral Survey they were not found to be a success. They furnish no information on agricultural subjects, and no assistance is given by them towards supplying the materials for any of the statistical returns which are sent in by the Collector of the district. They are now not required to submit copies of their accounts, as they were considered to be unreliable and of less value than the zamindari papers filed under the Road Cess Act, and, though they are supposed to keep up certain registers, they never do so, and, if called on to file any papers under any special circumstances, they invariably, on various pretexts, ask for time, which merely means that they have not got the papers, and that they have either to prepare them, or to search for them in the zamindar's sarishta. Papers and accounts they no doubt keep, but not such as it would be desirable from their point of view to produce in Court, or to file in the office of the Collector of the district. The solitary official use of the patwari seems to me to be to make arrangements for officers camping in the district, and the zamindar's agent should be able to perform the same duties, though no doubt he might not be as ready to obey the behests of the District Officer as is the patwari, over whom the Collector claims a shadowy control. It is possible to conceive that there might be some other duties in the performance of which he could be utilized, but it is not so easy to specify any, which, under Regulation XII of 1817 and the Board's Rules, he could legitimately be forced to perform, should he neglect or refuse to perform them. If they were duties which are now performed by others, there would be no necessity for altering the existing arrangements; if they were duties not at present performed by any one, it seems clear that they would not fall within the scope of Regulation XII and the rules. In short, had the patwari been of "important use" to Government, it is impossible to conceive that in the intervals between the various efforts to reorganize and revive the system, the patwari would have been as lost sight of and as neglected by Government officials as he undoubtedly was, and the repeated detailed enquiries which were made at different times to ascertain whether villages had or had not got registered patwaris would have been unnecessary. As a Government servant the patwari was never really used, and it was only when called on for a report regarding him that the District Officer began to make specific enquiries as to his existence, of which he had previously been only dimly conscious.

8. The fourth and last argument is that the patwari is the nucleus out of which an effective land record agency can be developed. On this subject I had some little conversation with Mr. W. C. Macpherson when he was recently here. Mr. Macpherson thinks that the patwari might be used to look after and report transfers and other changes in his village, but the patwari to whom he refers is not the existing zamindari servant, but the ideal and non-existent patwari, honestly performing his duties to Government, without any thought for the interests of his more immediate master, the zamindar, where the interests of the latter clash with the work to be done on behalf of Government. It is only the theory advanced in argument No. I appearing in another form. It is useless, I think, to discuss what might be done with the reformed patwari when we have found that every effort to reform him has been unsuccessful. We have rather to consider whether we could do anything with the patwari as we find him, and I do not think that the most sanguine officer, after a little experience of him as he exists, would venture to say that he had any hope of making anything out of him. The patwaris as a class have for years been practically servants of the zamindar and possessed of all the local information which their position affords them, and they have naturally an intimate local knowledge of the circumstances of the villages in which they hold office, and were they zamindari servants pure and simple, they would, I believe, work better and more honestly than they now do. As it is, they pose as quasi-Government officials when it suits them, and they know that they cannot be ousted from their appointments without great difficulty, and under these circumstances it would be wonderful had they not taken advantage of the situation and used their position and influence to advance their own interests rather than those of either the zamindar or the raiyat. The customs and traditions of the patwari as a class are now stereotyped, and it is too late to try and do anything with him; unreliable and dishonest he is, and unreliable and dishonest he will remain, and the best course under the circumstances is to make him over to the zamindar, and let the zamindar have absolute power of dismissing him, and so be in a position to control him completely instead of imperfectly as at present. It is vain to regard the patwari as a bulwark protecting the raiyat; he is nothing of the kind. If the zamindar is a bad one, the patwari aids and abets him; if the zamindar is a good one, the patwari harasses the raiyats feeling sure that the difficulty and expense of the proceedings necessary under the Regulations in order to procure his dismissal by the Collector of the district will in most instances deter the zamindar from undertaking them. In either case he flourishes; and the Regulation, which should protect the raiyat from the extortions of the class, is of no avail in the case of a bad zamindar, while in the case of a good one, it places almost insurmountable obstacles in the way of his interfering with the patwari in the interest of the raiyats. I do not propose to enter here into any discussion of the question whether the existence in the village of an officer of a rank somewhat resembling that of the patwari would be any material assistance in connection with the maintenance of the record; the question is a very complex one; but assuming for the sake of argument that the presence of such an official would be beneficial, I have no hesitation in saying that he must not be the present patwari, one of the landholders in the village, but an independent officer, holding no land in the village and debarred from acquiring any rights, therein, and he must be appointed by the Collector and be absolutely under his control, and be in no degree whatever at the bidding of the zamindar. I am quite aware of the objections which could be raised to such a proposal, not the least of which is that the official would be unable to obtain any information which the zamindar did not wish him to have; but I am not at present discussing these points: I am assuming for the sake of argument that such an official is considered necessary. If such an official is wanted, then an independent outsider is infinitely better than a patwari who will only make use of his new powers, in accordance with his nature, his habits, and his traditions, to enrich himself and his family at the expense both of the zamindar and the raiyat. It would be impossible to put the present race of patwaris into such a position of trust, and if the arrangement is to be introduced within any reasonable period of time, it would be impossible to wait till the present lot of patwaris die out and are replaced by men judiciously selected by the zamindar. Even if we waited, it is questionable if the rules regarding the next-of-kin having the best claim to the vacant appointment would not interfere with the "judicious selection," and it is still more doubtful if the bad zamindar, against whom it is desired to guard, would ever make a judicious selection from the Government point of view when he had the opportunity. Assuming then that you are to have the official, I see no way out of the difficulty, save that of repealing Regulation XII and disestablishing the present race of patwaris, leaving it to the zamindars to keep them on as rent-collectors if they choose, and passing a fresh Act appointing a new set of men absolutely independent of the zamindars and having no landed interest in their villages, whose new duties and responsibilities would be clearly defined in the Act. This would give the best chance of success in the case of the adoption of a scheme of village officials. In no case could an honest or efficient land record agency be developed out of the present race of patwaris.

9. Finally, as to the opinion of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor as to the practical inutility of the patwari to Government or the raiyat. After what I have already written, it is superfluous for me to repeat that I entirely agree with Sir Charles Elliott in his views that the patwari "serves no useful purpose either as regards Government or the raiyat, and that he is a source of irritation to the zamindars" (to those at least who try to manage their estates properly), "who have to maintain an official who owes them a divided allegiance." The patwari as a quasi-Government official is not only useless, but mischievous, and the support which his official recognition gives him only enables him to do with comparative impunity illegal or oppressive acts which he would in all probability not otherwise attempt. He is useless to Government and useless to the raiyat, and the sooner he is handed over to the zamindar and made solely responsible to him, the sooner will the good zamindars have it in their power to bring him under more efficient control.

10. The reports from the various District Officers of North Bihar sent to the Board by Mr. Forbes with his letter to which I have above referred (copies of which have been sent to this office) show that they are all unanimous in their opinions of the existing patwari.

MY recent experience of Bihar is only 17 months, but I was three years here between 1876 and 1879. I am in favour of the retention of the patwari as a quasi-Government official, and if his position were strengthened and his independence safeguarded, he would be an invaluable check on the rent enhancement, which is rampant in these districts.

I consider all four arguments of the Government of India valid, and in fact irrefutable. If the patwari were maintained as intended by Regulation XII of 1817, without further elaboration, he would be a protection to the raiyat, and he would be an useful aid to administration in executive matters—famine, census, land statistics, and especially as a land record agency.

As to the second argument, I know of cases in which he actually did protect the raiyat and incurred the ill-will of the zamindar in consequence.

As to the third argument, it is a fact that he was useful in the famine of 1874, and has always been the chief agency for the taking of a census.

Such being the case, it seems advisable that his position and independence should be fortified. If any officer reports to the contrary, it is because he derives his experience from areas like the Darbhanga and Hutwa estates, where the patwari, except as a zamindari servant, has been crushed out of existence. The Darbhanga gross rental-roll has grown from 20 to 30 lakhs in 18 years.

5. From L. HARE, ESQ., Collector of Muzaffarpur, dated 19*th November* 1894.

Question 1.—No doubt the Regulations give the Government much control of the patwari. But in this district not much use has been made of this power. Here, owing to the great sub-division of estates, the patwari is very frequently not only not a patwari of the whole village, but is not even a patwari of the whole of one of the many estates within the village. It is bad enough to have a patwari under two masters—Government and one zamindar—but it is much worse to have him under Government and many zamindars. To have again for a village many patwaris, and those only covering a part and not the whole of the village, is to degrade the patwari to an impossible position in which he is of very little use, and almost wholly an evil. Before the patwari could be made of much account, he would have to be reformed and brought back to the position of the sole patwari of the village, and this would be looked upon as a very great hardship. Even more than this should be aimed at, and he would need to be sole patwari of several villages, if he is to be put into a position and to receive a remuneration which would hold out any hope of honesty and respectability.

Question 2.—The patwari has much power, and the general absence of reliable papers and records much increases this power. Where he is a resident of the village, and the zamindar lives a long way off, he may and no doubt does often give very valuable assistance to the raiyat in resisting his zamindar. But it is doubtful whether he does not quite as often betray the raiyat, and under the conditions explained above, he is almost wholly useless as a protection to the raiyat.

Question 3.—The patwari was used for famine relief. But any jeyt raiyat who could write, or say the panchayat of chaukidars, would have been quite as useful.

Question 4.—If he could be reformed as I have explained above, he could be utilised as a land record agency. He would then tend to become almost exclusively dependent on Government, who would have to see to his being paid, each proprietor being made to contribute his share. As he is at present he would be quite ineffective.

The chief use of the patwari, in my opinion, is as a political pawn. Many zamindars pay a great deal for him, and look upon themselves as aggrieved by having to do so, as they employ him very little if at all on their own duties. But owing to the division of estates, there is much land for which there is no patwari, i.e., no patwari keeps the records of that land, and the proprietor of the land pays no contribution to any patwari's pay for the land. Unless we insist on carrying out the original intention of having only one patwari for the village and making all contribute to his pay, there will be many maliks to whom the abolition of the patwari will make no difference. Darbhanga would no doubt rejoice, but thousands of petty maliks would not be affected if the present patwari were abolished.

6. From F. A. SLACK, ESQ., Collector of Saran, dated 21*st November* 1894.

AFTER a careful search, I can find no cases or facts bearing on the second and third arguments of the Government of India. So far as my own personal experience goes, the patwari, as he is, does nothing more than any other zamindari servant would do, and he is to all intents now a zamindari servant, and is only likely to turn towards the raiyats when he has fallen out with the zamindar.

I agree with the first and fourth arguments of the Government of India, but in the fourth for "can" I would place "might," since looking at the past history of the patwari there is but scanty hope that generally an effective land record agency will be created out of the members of the class. If it is, it will entail excessive hard work on the part of the Collector and his staff of Deputies for many years.

7. From H. BELL, ESQ., Manager of the Darbhanga Raj, dated 22nd November 1894.

NOTE ON THE RETENTION OF THE PATWARI AS A QUASI-GOVERNMENT SERVANT.

BEFORE noticing the argument in favour of the retention of the patwari, I wish to make one or two general remarks. There is an absolute consensus of opinion, both official and non official, that the patwaris as a body are notoriously and hopelessly corrupt. The one great inducement offered to the zamindars to accept the survey was that the patwaris should cease to be Government servants: and after the Secretary of State in his very conciliatory despatch has sanctioned the abolition of the patwaris, I think it would be a very grave mistake for the Government to insist upon retaining a body of men who are not only mischievous, fradulent, and corrupt, but most oppressive to the raiyats.

2. In the Minute of Sir A. P. MacDonnell of 30th September 1893, paragraph 67, it was not contended that the patwaris were not corrupt and utterly unreliable; but he proposed to retain them if his scheme for the maintenance of the record was not accepted. What Sir. A. P. MacDonnell practically said was this:—Here is my scheme for the maintenance of the record, and if you wont accept it, so far from abolishing the patwaris, I will make you feel the burden of the patwaris more intolerable than it has ever been. Sir A. P. MacDonnell's scheme was objected to by the zamindars, both European and native, because they believed it to be disastrous and unworkable; and the Government, I feel sure, will not retain the patwari, simply because that scheme has been rejected, but will do their utmost to give effect in its entirety to the Secretary of State's despatch. If after the publication of the Secretary of State's despatch the patwaris are not abolished, the zamindars will naturally think that the Government have some sinister design in retaining them, and that the survey is simply intended as a means of throwing additional burdens upon them. I say deliberately that, so long as the patwari is retained, the zamindars of Bihar are not responsible for the management of their estates. We cannot cope with the universal dishonesty and corruption of the patwaris. If estates are mismanaged in Bihar, the cause of the mismanagement is the patwari.

3. The first thing that strikes one in the arguments put forward for the retention of the patwari is their extreme vagueness. It is difficult to reply to vague generalities. As to the argument that "the Regulations give the Government much control over the patwari, which might be, though it has not been usefully employed," I can only say that more than a hundred years have elapsed since the Permanent Settlement was made, and during this long period the control of Government has been ineffectual to make the patwaris either honest or trustworthy, it is only an act of justice to the zamindars that they should be abolished. How, indeed, can the Government control a patwari? He is the village accountant. He has charge of the zamindar's rent-roll. His duty is to record all payments made by the raiyats, and to give receipts for such payments. How does he perform these duties? Hardly a day passes that I am not asked to have an enquiry into a patwari's account, and the result is always the same. Whenever an enquiry is made, the patwari is invariably found to have embezzled large sums of mony. I have at the present moment the accounts of four villages before me, and in each of these villages the amounts embezzled have varied from Rs. 2,000 to Rs. 3,700. The modus operandi is this. The jeth raiyats and the patwari collect from the raiyats; sometimes no receipts are given; in other cases receipts are given for the amount received, but on the counterfoil of the receipt only a portion of the amount received is entered, and in the village accounts the raiyat is only credited with the amount on the counterfoil, and the consequence is that a raiyat may have paid up all his rent, while heavy arrears are entered against his name. I need hardly say that these accounts, falsified to screen the patwari's defalcation, are a source of the greatest oppression to the raiyats; and hardly a day passes in which I do not receive complaints from the raiyats that large balances are shown against them in the patwari's papers, though no rent is due.

4. The death of a raiyat is another source of illegal gain to the patwari. I have had three cases before me today in which a patwari admitted strangers to the holding of a deceased raiyat, though there were heirs who were entitled to the succession. The stranger got into possession, received receipts for the rent, and of course the only remedy for the heirs was a suit in the Civil Court. In such cases a zamindar cannot summarily eject the raiyat in possession, for he has been entered on the rent-roll as a tenant, and holds the patwari's receipt for the payment of his rent, and the Civil Courts hold the zamindar bound by the patwari's receipts, though he is a servant whom the zamindar has no authority to dismiss.

5. I have also had repeated cases in which a patwari has reported that a raiyat who has fallen into arrears with his rent has absconded, and the land is then entered in the patwari's papers as unoccupied land, while the supposed absconder is continued in possession of the land on the condition of handing over half the produce to the patwari. Where the raiyat has really absconded, the patwari keeps the land in his own possession, by keeping the absconder's name on his papers, and so evading the payment of rent for the land.

6. Under the present law the zamindar cannot eject a raiyat for non-payment of rent; all he can do is to sue him for the arrears, and in execution of the decree put up the holding for sale. In most cases we are compelled to buy in the holding, and then resettle it with another raiyat. Here our difficulties begin. We obtain a decree, and after the sale are put into possession; but the patwari, if bribed by the defaulter, reports that no raiyat will take the vacant land, and allows the defaulter to remain on in possession without paying any rent at all, or in some cases cultivates it himself.

7. That it may not be thought that I am exaggerating the misdeeds of the patwari, I will give a short summary of a report which is at the present moment before me for orders. The name of the village is Gahar near to Hyaghat. There were enormous arrears in the patwari's papers against the raiyats of the village, and a large number of the raiyats came and asked that their accounts might be adjusted, as the patwari had not given them credit for the payments they had made. I deputed an officer to make the enquiry, and he reports that, out of 600 raiyats' receipts which he had then compared in the presence of the patwari with the counterfoils, he found a deficiency of Rs. 3,289. It was also found that the patwari had received from the Raj Rs. 50 for the erection of a bridge, and had in addition levied a contribution from the raiyats, but not a pice of the money had been expended on the work. It was also found that he had taken benami the settlement of a fishery, which he underlet to the raiyats at treble the amount he paid. It was also found that he had dispossessed a number of raiyats of their holdings, reporting them either to be dead or absconded, and had then enjoyed the produce of the land himself, and that a number of raiyats had in consequence left the village. In a neighbouring village of 1,300 bighas, of which he was also patwari, it was found that 243 bighas of land had not been entered on the rent-roll, and that the raiyats in collusion with the patwari were enjoying the land without paying any rent.

8. Now I ask is it fair to the zamindars that they should be compelled to employ in the management of their estates scoundrels like these? They are all alike. Their official position as Government servants enables them not only to oppress the raiyats, particularly the poorer raiyats, and to make a rich harvest out of their appointment at the expense of the zamindar, but they are also the great obstacle to a proper adjustment of the village accounts. Their great object is to keep things in confusion and foment quarrels among the raiyats.

9. It may be said, if the patwaris are such unfaithful officers, why do not the zamindars obtain the sanction of the Collector to their dismissal. But to obtain the sanction of the Collector to the dismissal of a patwari is a very difficult and expensive matter. We have to bear the cost of a long and tedious enquiry. We have to produce witnesses to prove each act of misconduct, and these enquiries sometimes last for days, and even if we succeed in having the patwari dismissed, we are in no better position. The new patwari is appointed by the Collector and is generally as big a scoundrel as his predecessor. The last case in which I applied for the dismissal of a patwari was an amusing one. We had charged the patwari with various acts of misconduct: the patwari replied that the charges had been brought to spite him, because he had refused to execute a sharanamah for the lands he held. The Assistant Collector who tried the case adopted the patwari's statement and dismissed our application.

I was somewhat surprised when I read the decision, and called for a statement of the lands held by the patwari. It then appeared that the man held no land at all under the Raj, and that the whole story was a pure invention; and this is the man whom we are still bound to employ as our village agent.

10. If a fair trial is to be given to Sir Charles Elliott's scheme for the maintenance of the record, as directed by the Secretary of State, I say it is absolutely essential that the village agent, instead of being a quasi-Government servant, removable only by the Collector, should be absolutely under the control of the zamindar. It is the one great difficulty I have in the management of these estates that the patwaris know I have no power to dismiss them, however flagrant may be their misconduct. They know that it is impossible for zamindars to be constantly instituting suits before the Collector for the dismissal of patwaris, and they naturally presume on their position as quasi-Government servants. The management of a zamindari is as much a business as the management of a merchant's firm; and if a zamindar is to be held responsible for the management of his estate, he surely ought to be able to employ his own agents, and to dismiss those agents when he finds that they are either oppressing the raiyats or robbing himself.

11. Now what are the counter-arrangements which are set forth for the retention of the patwari. The first argument I have already disposed of.

12. The second argument is that the patwari is even now a valuable protection to the raiyats against illegal claims. I am not aware of a single instance in which a patwari has protected a raiyat. If there are disputes in the village, the patwari is simply guided by his own self-interest; he would laugh at the idea of taking the part of a poor raiyat against either a rich raiyat or a rich zamindar. He will no doubt take part with the raiyats against the zamindar when his interests and the raiyats' interests are the same; as for instance where he is a raiyat, and there is a general combination against the zamindar to evade the payment of rent; and in such cases it is manifestly unfair that the zamindar should be compelled to employ as his agent a man who takes part in a combination against him.

These, however, are the only cases in which he is on the side of the raiyats. An unscrupulous zamindar will always have the patwari on his side; so will a rich raiyat in a dispute with a poor raiyat. His position as a quasi-Government servant gives him means of oppression which he would not have as a simple zamindari servant.

13. As to the third argument that the patwari has often been made use of for numerous important uses throughout Bihar, I believe he was employed in the last census operations; but this was done with the concurrence of the zamindars It was no part of his customary duty, under section 16, Regulation XII of 1817, to make a census of the population, and any zamindar might have objected to his employment upon such duty. In the Raj estates the patwari worked under our tahsildars, and the zamindars generally gave every assistance to the Government. I am not aware of any public duties upon which he has been employed independently of the zamindars.

14. It is hardly necessary to refer to the fourth argument that the patwari is the nucleus out of which an effective land record agency could be developed. It is simply an argument for reviving the patwari scheme for the maintenance of the record which has been disallowed. If what I have said of the patwari is true, the very last person who should be employed on the maintenance of the record is the patwari. In all the arguments about the maintenance of the record it seems to be assumed that the zamindar has no interest in keeping up a correct rent-roll of his estate. It is, however, a matter of life and death for him to do so. A correct and undisputable rent-roll is the salvation of a zamindar. The patwari's interest is to have a confused rent-roll, for where the raiyats' accounts are properly adjusted, and the rents are undisputed, there is to a great extent an end to the patwari's peculations. He simply lives by creating confusion and introducing disputes. The obvious advantage of the survey is to have the area and rent of the holdings authoritatively recorded, and when this is done, the zamindar is the person who is interested in keeping his rent-roll up to date. If he fails to do so he loses his rents: and if the zamindar in his own interest cannot keep his records up to date, no one else can. But if the patwari is to be employed in keeping up the records, the sooner the survey is stopped the better.

8. From H. C. STREATFEILD, ESQ., Collector of Darbhanga, dated the 22nd November 1894.

WHILE my experience of patwaris in Bihar is not sufficient to give much weight to my views, I have no hesitation in saying that, as far as it goes, the abolition of Regulation XII of 1817 would be an unmixed blessing.

1. As to the control of Government over the patwari. We have here a thoroughly bad lot of patwaris in our Wards' estates, but I have not found that even here, where Government retains the landlord's powers as well as those conferred by the Regulation, we have any real effective control over them. In my experience the only effect of the Government control over the patwaris is to prevent the landlords from appointing the best men available, owing to the rules in force regarding succession, etc., and from dismissing men whom they know to be worthless or dishonest.

2. I never heard of a patwari affording any protection to the raiyats against illegal claims. He is too much the landlord's servant to refuse to assist the latter in exactions, even if he were so disposed, which he is not: and though he may, and often does, after quarrelling with his landlord, who cannot of course dismiss him at once, take up the position of the unjust steward and combine with the raiyats to defraud his employer, I cannot consider that this is any benefit to the raiyats in the long run, or any argument for his retention.

3. The past usefulness of the patwari is a matter of history. I never heard any tradition of such a thing, but you yourself and other old Bihar officers doubtless know far more about it than I.

4. This question of a land record agency is also one on which I do not feel myself qualified to speak with any assurance. As a class, however, I consider the patwaris of this district a poorly educated, self-seeking, and not over-honest set, to whom it would not be safe to entrust any Government work of importance.

9. From D. J. MACPHERSON, ESQ., Collector of Gaya, dated 8th December 1894.

I.

I DO not think that the control which the Regulations give over the patwari could be usefully employed so long as he owes a divided allegiance to Government and to the zamindar. Every instance in which Government might seek to enforce that control more effectually than at present would only serve to irritate the zamindar and put the patwari into a position in which he might do much mischief to the latter for his own ends, without at the same time benefiting the raiyats.

II.

I can call to mind no specific instance in which the patwari has proved a "valuable protection to the raiyat against illegal claims." In the cases in which he has taken up an attitude of opposition to the landlord, the impression left on my mind is that his action has not been prompted by a desire to advance the true interests of the raiyats, or that it has had that effect. For the most part it has been in support of the claims of a rival landlord.

III.

The patwari has certainly been made use of in Gaya in making appraisements, but that is in his capacity as a servant of the zamindar for writing up the papers. I have not had experience of other uses to which he has been put that could fairly be described as of importance from a public point of view.

IV.

The patwari might become the nucleus of an effective land record agency, if it be assumed that none could be devised in which such a person had no place; but his whole status would have to be changed before he could be so employed. I think, however, that advantage might be taken of the present control of Government over him to compel him to submit periodical lists of changes in holdings that have been surveyed so as to afford a guide to the officers who may be charged with the maintenance of the record. But I think it would be expedient even in this matter to work through the landlord, so as to get over the present difficulty of dual control. In this view the landlord class might possibly accept the duty of filing these mutation lists in consideration of Government giving up all control over the patwari. Of course, they would also have to accept liability to penalties in the event of failure to file them. But in this matter I speak at a disadvantage, as I have never seen any papers bearing on the subject, except the Secretary of State's despatch recently published in the newspapers.

No. 528/356, dated Calcutta, the 18th February 1895.

From—DENZIL IBBETSON, ESQ., C.S., Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

I AM directed to reply to your letter No 5764L.R., dated 21st December 1894, regarding the proposed repeal of the Patwari Regulation, No. XII of 1817.

2. The Governor-General in Council is most anxious not to differ unnecessarily from Sir Charles Elliott on a matter to which he seems to attach considerable importance, and accordingly has carefully considered your letter and its enclosures, and has again reviewed the discussions which have taken place on this subject. He notices that the Board of Revenue and the Director of Land Records and Agriculture* are strongly against the repeal of the Patwari Regulation until some better agency is devised, and he observes that this opinion is in accord with views which were accepted by former Governments of Bengal. The weight of past and present opinion seems to His Excellency in Council to be entirely in favour of making no change at present, and under the circumstances he regrets that he is unable to see any reason to modify the opinion expressed in paragraphs 6 and 7 of my letter No. 2548 of the 4th September last.

* See Bengal Revenue Proceedings, September 1894, Nos. 51 and 52.

Indeed the Government of India find much in the papers now before them to support their contention that the patwari in Bihar is, even under present conditions, a valuable agency both to Government and to the raiyats. It is doubtless true that he is not all that could be wished, and still less all that he might be made. But to abandon such control over him as Government now possesses, to deprive him of the measure of independence which he now enjoys, and to convert him into a zamindari servant pure and simple, will not tend to improve him; while it will completely destroy his present and potential usefulness to the Government, and so far as the raiyats are concerned remove the last vestige of protection which the Regulation provided for them.

3. In a province where the only other local machinery available to the Government is that of the police, an agency which it is undesirable to employ on fiscal or agrarian enquiries, the Government of India are most unwilling to relinquish, without an equivalent, any form of organization, however imperfect, which forms a link between the State and the cultivator. The object with which the Government of Bengal is now preparing a record-of-rights, at much cost both to itself and to the people, is to put itself into a better position from which to fulfil its duties towards the agricultural classes which form so large a portion of the community; and its efforts should be directed towards strengthening and improving, rather than towards abolishing, such remnants of the village organization as remain to it. This is being done in every other province; it is even being done at the present time in certain parts of Bengal, and there is no substantial reason why all hope of doing it in Bihar should be destroyed by the abolition of that very system which in other parts of India has been, in the space of a few years, brought to a high state of efficiency.

4. The present utility of the patwari is, however, but a small part of the argument on which the Government of India base their desire to retain the Regulation of 1817. It is true that previous efforts to improve the existing organization have failed. These failures have been due partly to the persistent opposition with which measures of reform have been met, and partly to a want of perseverance in prosecuting the schemes for improvement. But a further and very effective cause of past failure is to be found in the absence of reliable material upon which the patwari could be utilized, and of any system under which he could be employed. The record-of-rights now under preparation will supply this want; and, to use the words of the Commissioner of Patna, to whose opinion His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor refers with approval, "it is too early yet to say that he can be made of no use" for the maintenance of that record. It is true that the employment of the patwari forms no integral part of Sir C. Elliott's scheme for maintaining the record. But there is much in the present correspondence, especially in the very important and weighty opinion of the Board of Revenue, to indicate the use that might be made of him in working even that scheme; and though His Honour does not at present propose to utilize him in this manner, it may eventually be found possible and advisable to do so.

5. The discussions on the subject of the Bihar patwari to which you refer in your letter present a remarkable consensus of opinion that a reformed local agency is desirable in place of the patwari as he stands. There are authorities who hold that such reform can be carried out under the Regulation without cost to Government or the raiyats. Others think differently; but at all events proposals for creation of a reformed patwari agency were disallowed in the case of the Patwari Bill, and have now been postponed by the Secretary of State until Sir Charles Elliott's scheme shall have had a fair trial. If that scheme succeeds, the existence of even an unreformed agency cannot, if properly utilised, fail to greatly enhance its success. But in paragraph 14 of his Despatch of 5th July 1894 the Secretary of State recognises that a reformed agency may be required: and, if Sir Charles Elliott's scheme fails, such an agency must necessarily be created. And to release the zamindars from their present liability for the maintenance of a patwari staff would, in the opinion of the Governor-General in Council, be on its merits a great mistake, while it would place Government in an unnecessarily disadvantageous position should the necessity contemplated by the Secretary of State arise. The retention of Regulation XII, 1817, intact as it stands, will not in any way interfere with the working of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor's scheme for maintaining the record, while in the opinion of the Governor-General in Council, having due regard to all that has passed in this connection, the repeal of the Regulation would not have any real effect in abating such opposition as still exists, on the landlords' side only, to the cadastral survey and record-of-rights. His Excellency in Council believes on the information before him that the raiyats of Bihar would not be a consenting party to the abolition of the Patwari Regulation, if nothing clearly better can be supplied.

6. With reference to the earlier portion of the second paragraph of your letter, I am to refer you to paragraph 6 of my letter No. 2548—61 of 4th September 1894 to your address. The orders of the Secretary of State to which you refer are merely permissive; and in the exercise of the discretion allowed by them, the Government of India have decided that the legislation proposed by His Honour should proceed without any reference to the Patwari Regulation, with which, as has been observed, it has no necessary connection, either inherent or incidental.

7. The present correspondence will form a portion of the papers which will be forwarded to the Secretary of State with the Bill that has been introduced in the Bengal Council in compliance with his orders.

HOWRAH-AMTA TRAMWAY.

No. 111.—Notification.—It is hereby notified that an application has been duly made to the Local Government of Bengal by Messrs. Martin & Co., Successors to Messrs. Walsh, Lovett & Co. of Calcutta, for and on behalf of a Company about to be formed and to be called the Bengal District Road Tramways Company, Limited, for sanction to the construction of a line of tramway between the town of Howrah and the town of Amta, within the district of Howrah viâ Jagatbalabpur; and whereas it appears to the Local Government expedient and proper that the said application should be granted, the Local Government, in pursuance of section 5 of the Bengal Tramways Act, 1883, makes the following Order:—

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Order may be cited as the Bengal District Road Tramways Company Order, 1895.

Interpretation clause.

2. The several words and expressions to which meanings are assigned by the Bengal Tramways Act, 1883, have in this Order the same respective meanings:

Provided that in this Order the expression "the tramway" or "the undertaking" shall mean the tramway and works and undertaking by this Order authorised, and the term "tramway" shall include that portion of the Howrah Conservancy Line over which running powers have been arranged for with the Local Authority in that area, except where the context may require a different meaning, and the words "the Act" shall mean the said Bengal Tramways Act, 1883.

Law applicable to the tramway.

3. (1) The tramway authorised by this Order shall be constructed, maintained, and worked, subject to the provisions of the Act, of the rules from time to time in force under the Act, and of this Order.

(2) No powers or rights shall be deemed to have been conferred on the Promoters or to have been relinquished by Government, except as in this Order expressly provided.

Promoters and Company.

4. Messrs. Martin & Co., successors to Messrs. Walsh, Lovett & Co. of Calcutta, shall be the Promoters for the purposes of this Order, and are in this Order referred to as "the Promoters," and this expression shall, except where the context may require a different construction, include the Company to be formed and called the Bengal District Road Tramway Company, Limited, hereafter in this Order referred to as "the Company."

CONSTRUCTION OF TRAMWAY.

Authority to Promoters to construct tramway.

5. The Promoters shall construct and maintain, subject to the provisions specified in this Order, and to the agreements made between the Promoters and the Local Authorities, which are set forth in Parts I and II of the First Schedule attached to this Order, and in accordance, also, with plans and sections deposited by the Promoters with the Local Government, the tramway hereinafter described, with all proper establishments, rails, bearings, stations, offices, works, rolling-stock, and conveniences connected with the tramway or required for the purposes thereof.

Dates for commencing and completing the tramway.

6. (1) Subject to any extension of time that the Local Government may see fit to grant, the Promoters shall substantially commence the construction of the said tramway within nine calendar months from the date of this Order, and shall complete and equip the same in every respect for opening and working for traffic to the satisfaction of the Local Government within two years from the date of this Order.

(2) In the event of the said Promoters failing to commence the construction, and to complete and equip the tramway as provided in the first paragraph of this clause, then and in any such case the Local Government shall be at liberty to revoke this Order, and the Local Government shall thereafter be at liberty to enter into any arrangements with any other person or persons for the construction of a tramway from Howrah to Amta, and in the event of this Order being revoked by reason of the said Promoters failing to complete and equip, and open for traffic, the said tramway within the period of two years from the date of this Order, the Local Government shall have the option of taking over all the permanent-way and rolling-stock of the tramway at a reasonable valuation to be determined by the Local Government, and in the event of the Local Government exercising this option, all the other works and buildings of the tramway may be dealt with under the provisions of the Act relating to the discontinuance of tramways, as a tramway whereof the discontinuance has been proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government.

If, however, the Local Government do not desire to exercise the option of taking over the permanent-way and rolling-stock of the tramway, as herein provided, then and in such case the tramway including the permanent way, the rolling stock, and all the buildings and works of every kind connected therewith may be dealt with under the provisions of the Act relating to the discontinuance of tramways as a tramway whereof the discontinuance has been proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government.

Description of the tramway authorised.

7. The tramway authorised by this Order is a single line, with necessary passing places within the district of Howrah from the town of Howrah to the town of Amta, on the river Damooda, a distance of about 30 miles along the district road. The line will start at or near to Telkul Ghât, and will pass along and on one side of the road, skirting the Howrah maidan, and thence along the Panchanantolla Road to the Bantra Road, where it will effect a junction with the conservancy line of the Howrah Municipality, over which line running powers have been arranged. Leaving the conservancy line at a point a little to the south of the place known as Kadamtola (the first stopping place), the line will proceed in a westerly direction along the Makurda Road to Baltikri (four miles from Howrah), the next stopping place. From Baltikri the line goes (1 mile) on to Bankra, thence (1 mile) to Solap, thence (1½ miles) to Makurda, thence (2½ miles) to Doomjore, where a diversion of 46 chains will be made to carry the line over a bridge to be constructed at a lower level than the existing road bridge. From Doomjore the line proceeds (1½ miles) to Rajapur, and thence (3½ miles) to Borgachia. This last stretch of 3½ miles crosses the Rajapur Jheel. The district road thence goes in a north-west direction to Jagatbalabpur, and thence due south towards Amta, forming thereby two sides of a triangle. Jagatbalabpur (1½ miles) will be served with a branch line, and the main line will proceed from Borgachia to Nycoolee (4 miles) partly across land to be acquired. From Nycoolee the line proceeds (10 miles) to Amta vid Narendrapur, Dipa, and Moonshee Hât.

Promoters authorised to use the road subject to limitation.

8. The Promoters may use for the construction of the tramway, but not for the purposes of any building or erection connected therewith, one side of all roads over which the tramway is to run six feet in width.

In cases where there are no buildings on that side of the road on which the tramway is laid, the said width of six feet shall be measured from the gutter on that side of the road, or where the road is in embankment, from the edge of such embankment; and in cases where there are buildings on that side of the road, the said width shall be measured from such point on that side as in the opinion of the Government Engineer in charge of the road is safe and proper; but for the purpose of crossing bridges where desired, the tramway may approach the centre of the road as far as shall, in each case, be deemed unavoidable by the said Engineer:

Provided always that—

(1) there shall nowhere be a less width of metalled road clear of the inner rail of the tramway than 16 feet;

(2) if any addition to the existing width of the metalled surface of the road is rendered necessary in order to comply with the terms of this Order, or if any addition to or alteration of any bridge is, in the opinion of the Government Engineer in charge of the road, rendered necessary by the tramway, the same shall be carried out by and at the cost of the Promoters to the satisfaction of the said Engineer;

(3) at no point on the metalled road shall there be more than one line of rails; any loop-lines, turn-outs, or sidings that may be required must therefore be placed elsewhere than on the metalled portion of the road;

(4) the metalling of the roadway shall not be interfered with more than is absolutely necessary for the proper construction of the tramway; and in all cases where such metalling has been so interfered with, it shall be repaired and made good with all reasonable promptitude by and at the cost of the Promoters to the satisfaction of the Government Engineer in charge of the road.

Bridges.

9. In all cases where, in the opinion of the Government Engineer in charge of the road, the existing road bridges are not sufficiently strong to carry the tramway, the Promoters shall make at their own cost such additions to or alterations of any such bridges as may be required by the said Engineer, and the work shall be carried out and completed to his satisfaction:

Provided that the Promoters may, at their option, construct at their own cost, for the purposes of the tramway, separate bridges of such design and in such manner as shall first be approved by an Engineer or other officer duly appointed in this behalf by the Local Government, and shall complete the same to the satisfaction of the said officer.

Acquisition of additional land required by the Promoters. Disposal of land not required by the Promoters.

10. (1) Such additional land (over and above that which the Local Authorities have agreed to grant free to the Promoters, in terms of clause 1 of Part I and clause 1 of Part II of the First Schedule hereunto annexed) as may be required by the Promoters and sanctioned by the Local Government as necessary for the purposes of the tramway shall be acquired by the Local Government on behalf of the Promoters under the Land Acquisition Act, I of 1894, and the cost of acquiring such land shall be met by the Promoters.

(2) The Promoters may, from time to time, with the approval of the Local Government, but not otherwise, sell or otherwise dispose of any land acquired by the Local Government on their behalf which may no longer be required for the purposes of the undertaking.

Gauge of tramway and provisions regarding grooved or double rails.

11. The tramway shall be constructed on a gauge of 2 feet. In villages and at all level crossings of district or village roads and wherever the width of metalled road left clear of the inner rail of the tramway is less than 16 feet and the tramway is not fenced, either grooved or double rails shall be used, and, at all such places, the metal of the road shall be maintained flush with the level of the top of the rails. At all places where double rails are used, such rails shall be kept properly secured to each other by distance pieces placed at regular intervals to the satisfaction of the Government Engineer in charge of the road.

Standard dimensions to be observed.

12. Without prejudice to the powers conferred on the Local Authorities by section 14 of the Act, as regards the type of cars and carriages to be used on the tramway and the brakes and other appliances with which they are to be furnished, the standard weights and dimentions of rails, sleepers, rolling-stock and other equipment of the tramway are to be as set forth and described in the Second Schedule attached to this Order. The Local Government, however, reserves to itself the right to revise the said standard weights and dimensions, and the special sanction of the Local Government must be obtained before the materials, etc, required for the tramway are ordered.

Stations and buildings.

13. The Local Government shall have the power of determining, from time to time, the situation and dimensions of all stations, station yards, offices, warehouses, houses for employés, conveniences and works to be constructed in connection with or as part of the tramway.

Fencing.

14. The Promoters shall, within three calendar months of being called upon by the Local Government to do so, be bound to provide at their own expense fencing on both sides of the tramway, either along the whole or any part of its length, and shall carry out and complete the work in such manner and in such time as the Local Government may direct.

Provision of Level Crossings, Gates and Gatemen.

15. (1) The Promoters bind themselves to provide at their own cost, and to the satisfaction of the Local Government, suitable level crossings wherever the tramway crosses district and village roads, and at such other places as the Local Government or any officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf may, from time to time, direct.

(2) The Promoters shall, at their own cost, provide gates with gate-keepers' lodges, and shall maintain, at their own cost, gate-keepers at such level crossings or bridges crossed by the tramway as the Local Government may, from time to time, direct.

16. Subject to the previous sanction of the Local Government in each case, the Promoters may hereafter from time to time make, at their own cost, such crossings, passing-places, junctions, and other works as may be required, in addition to those specified in their application for this Order or authorized by this Order, and all such works shall, when sanctioned by the Local Government, be completed to the satisfaction of the Local Government.

Provision of additional crossing places, etc., required by Promoters.

17. The Promoters shall, at their own cost, construct and maintain all such stations, passing-places, sidings, junctions, and all other works, in addition to those specified in or authorised by this Order, and shall also employ and maintain all such establishments, in addition to those specified in or authorised by this Order, as the Local Government may, from time to time, consider to be expedient for the safe and efficient working of the tramway, or for the convenience and safety of the public and of the traffic of the roadway. All such additional works shall be completed to the satisfaction of the Local Government.

Additional works required by Local Government.

MOTIVE POWER, SPEED AND SIGNALS.

18. The vehicles used on the tramway may be moved by steam power. For that portion of the tramway within the Municipality of Howrah noiseless and smokeless locomotives, with running parts concealed, shall be used. For the remaining portion of the line, the outside cylinder type of locomotive may be used, but the Local Government reserves to itself the right to order noiseless and smokeless locomotives, with running parts concealed, to be used on any portion of the tramway.

Power to be used by the tramway.

19. The speed of trains on the tramway shall not exceed 12 miles, or such other speed as may, from time to time, be authorized by the Local Government: Provided always that, until the whole line is fenced on both sides, the maximum speed shall not exceed 10 miles an hour and the engines shall be fitted with cow-catchers, and provided further that, within the Howrah Municipality and other populous places to be determined by the Local Government, the speed shall always be limited to 6 miles an hour.

Speed of trains.

20. All the permanent and crossing stations of the tramway shall be provided with home signals, which shall be at least 20 feet in height, and shall be located on the platforms. The Local Government, however, reserves to itself the right to order distant signals to be provided at the permanent and crossing stations, as well as both home and distant signals at such other stations, in addition to those referred to herein, and at such other places as may be considered necessary by the Local Government.

Signals.

In thick, foggy, or tempestuous weather detonator signals shall be used in addition to the ordinary day and night signals, and all signals in use on the tramway shall be constructed, worked and used in accordance with such orders as may be prescribed, from time to time, by the Local Government.

MAINTENANCE AND WORKING OF TRAMWAY.

21. The Promoters shall at all times maintain and keep in good condition and repair, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, or of any officer duly appointed in this behalf by the Local Government, all way, works, rolling-stock, and appliances appertaining to the tramway; and shall maintain the tramway, way, works, rolling-stock, and appliances, and shall work the same in such manner as will, to the satisfaction of the Government Engineer in charge of the road, avoid all risk of danger or annoyance to the ordinary road traffic.

Maintenance of way, works and stock.

22. HOWRAH-SHEAKHALLA TRAMWAY.

No. 112.—Notification.—It is hereby notified that an application has been duly made to the Local Government of Bengal by Messrs. Martin & Co., successors to Messrs. Walsh, Lovett & Co. of Calcutta, for and on behalf of a Company about to be formed and to be called the Bengal District Road Tramways Company, Limited, for sanction to the construction of a line of tramway between the town of Howrah within the district of Howrah and the town of Sheakhalla, within the district of Hooghly viâ Jonai; And whereas it appears to the Local Government expedient and proper that the said application should be granted, the Local Government, in pursuance of section 5 of the Bengal Tramways Act, 1883, makes the following Order:—

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Order may be cited as the Bengal District Road Tramways Company Order, 1895.

Interpretation clause.

2. The several words and expressions to which meanings are assigned by the Bengal Tramways Act, 1883, have in this Order the same respective meanings:

Provided that in this Order the expression "the tramway" or "the undertaking" shall mean the tramway and works and undertaking by this Order authorized, and shall include that portion of the Howrah Conservancy Line over which running powers have been arranged with the Local Authority in that area, except where the context may require a different meaning, and the words "the Act" shall mean the said Bengal Tramways Act, 1883.

Law applicable to the tramway.

3. (1) The tramway authorized by this Order shall be constructed, maintained, and worked, subject to the provisions of the Act, of the rules from time to time in force under the Act, and of this Order.

(2) No powers or rights shall be deemed to have been conferred on the Promoters or to have been relinquished by Government, except as in this Order expressly provided.

Promoters and Company.

4. Messrs. Martin & Co., successors to Messrs. Walsh, Lovett & Co. of Calcutta, shall be the Promoters for the purposes of this Order, and are in this Order referred to as "the Promoters," and this expression shall, except where the context may require a different construction, include the Company to be formed and called the Bengal District Road Tramway Company, Limited, hereafter in this Order referred to as "the Company."

CONSTRUCTION OF TRAMWAY.

Authority to promoters to construct tramway.

5. The promoters shall construct and maintain, subject to the provisions specified in this Order, and to the agreements made between the Promoters and the Local Authorities which are set forth in Parts I, II and III of the first schedule attached to this Order, and in accordance, also, with plans and sections deposited by the Promoters with the Local Government, the tramway hereinafter described, with all proper establishments, rails, bearings, stations, offices, works, rolling-stock, and Dates for commencing and completing the tramway.

6. (1) Subject to any extension of time that the Local Government may see fit to grant, the Promoters shall substantially commence the construction of the said tramway within nine calendar months from the date of this Order, and shall complete and equip the same in every respect for opening and working for traffic to the satisfaction of the Local Government within two years from the date of this Order.

(2) In the event of the said Promoters failing to commence the construction and to complete and equip the tramway as provided in the first paragraph of this clause, then and in any such case the Local Government shall be at liberty to revoke this Order, and the Local Government shall thereafter be at liberty to enter into any arrangements with any other person or persons for the construction of a tramway from Howrah to Sheakhalla, and in the event of this Order being revoked by reasons of the said Promoters failing to complete and equip, and open for traffic, the said tramway within the period of two years from the date of this Order, the Local Government shall have the option of taking over all the permanent-way and rolling-stock of the tramway at a reasonable valuation to be determined by the Local Government, and in the event of the Local Government exercising this option, all the other works and buildings of the tramway may be dealt with under the provisions of the Act relating to the discontinuance of tramways as a tramway whereof the discontinuance has been proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government.

If, however, the Local Government do not desire to exercise the option of taking over the permanent-way and rolling-stock of the tramway as herein provided, then and in such case the tramway, including the permanent-way, the rolling-stock, and all the buildings and works of every kind connected therewith, may be dealt with under the provisions of the Act relating to the discontinuance of tramways, as a tramway whereof the discontinuance has been proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government.

Description of the tramway authorised.

7. The tramway authorised by this Order is a single line, with necessary passing places to be laid within the districts of Howrah and Hooghly from the town of Howrah to the town of Sheakhalla, a distance of about 20 miles along the district road. The line will start at or near to Telkul Ghat, and will pass along and on one side of the road, skirting the Howrah maidan, and thence along the Panchanantolla road to the Bantra road, where it will effect a junction with the conservancy line of the Howrah Municipality, over which line running powers have been arranged. Leaving the conservancy line, where it crosses the old Benares road (2 miles), the line will proceed to a westerly direction along the old Benares road to Kona (1½ miles), from there the line goes to Kooledanga (½ mile), thence (1 mile) to Deburpara, thence (1½ miles) to Kristopur, thence (1½ miles) to Booita, thence (1 mile) to Beladanga, thence (1 mile) to Chanditolla. From Chanditolla the line proceeds to Kolachora (1 mile), where a diversion of 26 chains will be made to carry the line to Jonai (1 mile). From Jonai the line thence (1 mile) to Junglepara, thence (1½ miles) to Mokoondpur, thence (½ mile) to Modhopur, thence (½ mile) to Roghoonathpur, thence (½ mile) to Dabee battee, thence (1 mile) to Sheakhalla.

Promoters authorised to use the road subject to limitation.

8. The Promoters may use for the construction of the tramway, but not for the purposes of any building or erection connected therewith, one side of all roads over which the tramway is to run, six feet in width.

In cases where there are no buildings on that side of the road on which the tramway is laid, the said width of six feet shall be measured from the gutter on that side of the road, or where the road is in embankment, from the edge of such embankment; and in cases where there are buildings on that side of the road, the said width shall be measured from such point on that side as in the opinion of the Government Engineer in charge of the road is safe and proper; but for the purpose of crossing bridges where desired, the tramway may approach the centre of the road as far as shall, in each case, be deemed unavoidable by the said Engineer:

Provided always that:—

(1) there shall nowhere be a less width of metalled road clear of the inner rail of the tramway than 16 feet;

(2) if any addition to the existing width of the metalled surface of the road is rendered necessary in order to comply with the terms of this Order, or if any addition to or alteration of any bridge is, in the opinion of the Government Engineer in charge of the road, rendered necessary by the tramway, the same shall be carried out by and at the cost of the Promoters to the satisfaction of the said Engineer;

(3) at no point on the metalled road shall there be more than one line of rails; any loop-lines, turn-outs, or sidings that may be required must therefore be placed elsewhere than on the metalled portion of the road;

(4) the metalling of the roadway shall not be interfered with more than is absolutely necessary for the proper construction of the tramway; and in all cases where such metalling has been so interfered with, it shall be repaired and made good with all reasonable promptitude by and at the cost of the Promoters to the satisfaction of the Government Engineer in charge of the road.

Bridges.

9. In all cases where, in the opinion of the Government Engineer in charge of the road, the existing road bridges are not sufficiently strong to carry the tramway, the Promoters shall make at their own cost such additions to or alterations of any such bridges as may be required by the said Engineer, and the work shall be carried out and completed to his satisfaction;

Provided that the Promoters may, at their option, construct at their own cost, for the purposes of the tramway, separate bridges of such design and in such manner as shall first be approved by an Engineer or other officer duly appointed in this behalf by the Local Government, and shall complete the same to the satisfaction of the said officer.

Acquisition of additional land required by the Promoters. Disposal of land not required by the Promoters.

10. (1) Such additional land (over and above that which the Local Authorities have agreed to grant free to the Promoters, in terms of clause 1 of Part I, clause 1 of Part II, and clause 1 of Part III of the First Schedule hereunto annexed) as may be required by the Promoters, and sanctioned by the Local Government as necessary for the purposes of the tramway, shall be acquired by the Local Government on behalf of the Promoters under the Land Acquisition Act, I of 1894, and the cost of acquiring such land shall be met by the Promoters.

(2) The Promoters may from time to time, with the approval of the Local Government, but not otherwise, sell or otherwise dispose of any land acquired by the Local Government on their behalf, which may no longer be required for the purposes of the undertaking.

Gauge of tramway and provisions regarding grooved or double rails.

11. The tramway shall be constructed on a gauge of 2 feet. In villages and at all level crossings of district or village roads and wherever the width of metalled road left clear of the inner rail of the tramway is less than 16 feet and the tramway is not fenced, either grooved or double rails shall be used, and, at all such places, the metal of the road shall be maintained flush with the level of the top of the rails. At all places where double rails are used, such rails shall be kept properly secured to each other by distance pieces placed at regular intervals to the satisfaction of the Government Engineer in charge of the road.

Standard dimensions to be observed.

12. Without prejudice to the powers conferred on the Local Authorities by section 14 of the Act, as regards the type of cars and carriages to be used on the tramway and the brakes and other appliances with which they are to be furnished, the standard weights and dimensions of rails, sleepers, rolling-stock, and other equipment of the tramway are to be as set forth and described in the Second Schedule attached to this Order. The Local Government, however, reserves to itself the right to revise the said standard weights and dimensions, and the special sanction of the Local Government must be obtained before the materials, etc., required for the tramway are ordered.

Stations and Buildings.

13. The Local Government shall have the power of determining, from time to time, the situation and dimensions of all stations, station yards, offices, warehouses, houses for employés, conveniences and works to be constructed in connection with or as part of the tramway.

Fencing.

14. The Promoters shall, within three calendar months of being called upon by the Local Government to do so, be bound to provide at their own expense fencing on both sides of the tramway, either along the whole or any part of its length, and shall carry out and complete the work in such manner and in such time as the Local Government may direct.

Provision of Level Crossings, Gates and Gatemen.

15. (1) The Promoters bind themselves to provide at their own cost, and to the satisfaction of the Local Government, suitable level crossings wherever the tramway crosses district and village roads, and at such other places as the Local Government or any officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf may, from time to time, direct.

(2) The Promoters shall, at their own cost, provide gates with gate-keepers' lodges, and shall maintain, at their own cost, gate-keepers at such level crossings or bridges crossed by the tramway as the Local Government may, from time to time, direct.

Provision of additional crossing places, etc., required by Promoters.

16. Subject to the previous sanction of the Local Government in each case, the Promoters may hereafter from time to time make, at their own cost, such crossings, passing-places, junctions, and other works as may be required, in addition to those specified in their application for this Order or authorized by this Order, and all such works shall, when sanctioned by the Local Government, be completed to the satisfaction of the Local Government.

Additional works required by Local Government.

17. The Promoters shall, at their own cost, construct and maintain all such stations, passing-places, sidings, junctions, and all other works, in addition to those specified in or authorised by this Order, and shall also employ and maintain all such establishments, in addition to those specified in or authorised by this Order, as the Local Government may, from time to time, consider to be expedient for the safe and efficient working of the tramway, or for the convenience and safety of the Public and of the traffic of the roadway. All such additional works shall be completed to the satisfaction of the Local Government.

MOTIVE POWER, SPEED AND SIGNALS.

Power to be used by the tramway.

18. The vehicles used on the tramway may be moved by steam power. For that portion of the tramway within the Municipality of Howrah noiseless and smokeless locomotives, with running parts concealed, shall be used. For the remaining portion of the line, the outside cylinder type of locomotive may be used, but the Local Government reserves to itself the right to order noiseless and smokeless locomotives, with running parts concealed, to be used on any portion of the tramway.

Speed of trains.

19. The speed of trains on the tramway shall not exceed 12 miles, or such other speed as may, from time to time, be authorised by the Local Government. Provided always that, until the whole line is fenced on both sides, the maximum speed shall not exceed 10 miles an hour and the engines shall be fitted with cow-catchers, and provided further that, within the Howrah Municipality and other populous places to be determined by the Local Government, the speed shall always be limited to 6 miles an hour.

Signals.

20. All the permanent and crossing stations of the tramway shall be provided with home signals, which shall be at least 20 feet in height and shall be located on the platforms. The Local Government, however, reserves to itself the right to order distant signals to be provided at the permanent and crossing stations, as well as both home and distant signals at such other stations, in addition to those referred to herein, and at such other places as may be considered necessary by the Local Government.

In thick, foggy, or tempestuous weather detonator signals shall be used in addition to the ordinary day and night signals, and all signals in use on the tramway shall be constructed, worked and used in accordance with such orders as may be prescribed, from time to time, by the Local Government.

MAINTENANCE AND WORKING OF TRAMWAY.

Maintenance of way, works and stock.

21. The Promoters shall at all times maintain and keep in good condition and repair, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, or of any officer duly appointed in this behalf by the Local Government, all way, works, rolling-stock, and appliances appertaining to the tramway; and shall maintain the tramway, way, works, rolling-stock, and appliances, and shall work the same in such manner as will, to the satisfaction of the Government Engineer in charge of the road, avoid all risk of danger or annoyance to the ordinary road traffic.

Maintenance of portion of road over which tramway runs.

22. (1) The Promoters shall maintain and keep in repair, to the satisfaction of the Government Engineer in charge of the road, so as not to interfere in any way with the efficient drainage of the road, the portion of the road on the side on which the tramway is laid: such portion shall include the width of the side of the road on which the tramway is laid from a point three feet from the centre line of the tramway on the side nearest to the centre of the road and on the other side to the bottom of the slope of the embankment when the road is in embankment, or to the top of slope of the cutting when it is in cutting, or where there are buildings to the point to be determined by the Government Engineer in charge of the road, under the provisions of clause 8 of this Order.

The said portion of the road shall be ballasted by, and at the cost of, the Promoters, who shall also, at their own cost, alter the position or level of the tramway and of the said portion of the road to suit future alterations in the road or such future alterations in the tramway as may be approved by the Local Government, and shall forthwith repair, make good and reinstate, to the satisfaction of the Government Engineer aforesaid, any other portion of the road which shall at any time be in any way damaged by reason of any fault of the Promoters or of any accident to or upon the tramway. The gutter or drain on the side of the road on which the tramway is laid, as the same at present exists or shall hereafter be constructed at the cost of the Local Government or of Local Authorities, shall likewise be maintained in efficient order by and at the cost of the Promoters.

(2) The portions of the road from three feet from the centre line of the tramway to the opposite side of the road from the tramway will be maintained and kept in repair by and at the expense of the Local Authorities.

Inspection of works, accounts, etc.

23. The undertaking and all works, stock, appliances and accounts appertaining thereto shall, at all times, be open to the inspection and examination of any persons whom the Local Government may appoint for that purpose, and the Promoters shall afford all reasonable facilities for the inspection or examination to the officer making it.

24. When, after inspection of the tramway or portion of the tramway or any rolling-stock used thereon, the officer making the inspection under clause 23 of this Order reports to the Local Government that, in his opinion, the use of the tramway or any portion thereof, or of any specified rolling-stock, will be attended with danger to the public using it, the Local Government may direct that the tramway or portion thereof be closed for the public conveyance of passengers, or that the rolling-stock so specified shall no longer be used, as the case may be.

Closing of tramway and disuse of rolling-stock by order of Local Government.

25. When the tramway or any portion of the tramway has been closed under clause 24 of this Order, it shall not be re-opened for the public conveyance of passengers unless and until it has been inspected by the officer referred to in clause 23 of this Order, and its opening sanctioned by the Local Government.

Tramway not to be re-opened without sanction.

26. When the Local Government has, under clause 24 of this Order, prohibited the use of any rolling-stock, the said rolling-stock shall not be used unless and until the Local Government sanctions its use.

Rolling-stock not to be used again without sanction.

27. (1) In the event of any necessity arising for carrying out, in or on land occupied by the tramway, any works of any kind whatsoever for which interference with the tramway may be considered necessary by the Local Government, the said Government may, by notice in writing, and without prejudice to the powers conferred on the Local Authorities by section 38 of the Act, call upon the Promoters to show cause why such portion of the tramway should not be closed for traffic as may enable the said works to be carried out in safety.

Powers of Local Government to authorize interference with tramway in carrying out necessary works, &c.

After considering the necessity for closing such portion of the tramway, as well as any objections or suggestions that may be made by the Promoters, the Local Government may direct that the Promoters shall close the said portion of the tramway for such a period of time, and under such conditions, as in the circumstances of the case may appear necessary.

(2) The Promoters shall be bound to comply with such directions and allow the work referred to therein to be carried out: Provided that, unless otherwise directed, any portion of the tramway which it may be necessary to remove in order to carry out such work shall be removed and reinstated by, or at the expense of, the Local Government, or the person or persons at whose instance the work is carried out: And provided also that the Promoters shall, if they are, at the time the Local Government either interferes with or stops the working of the tramway under the first paragraph of this clause, paying any rent to the Local Authorities for the use of road, receive an abatement of such rent proportionate to the length of road over which and to the time during which the working of the tramway is stopped.

28. In the event of the Promoters desiring that any bridge, drain, culvert, water-course, telegraph line or other thing whatsoever on or adjacent to the land to be used for the tramway should be removed or the position thereof altered, the Promoters shall give notice in writing to the Local Authority, who shall thereupon deal with the matter themselves if within their powers, and, if not, shall refer the matter to the Local Government or other authority competent to deal with it, who shall pass such orders thereon as in the circumstances of the case may appear fit.

Conditions on which Promoters allowed to interfere with structures in or on the road.

29. When from accident or flood, or by reason of the execution of any works under the provision contained in clause 27 of this Order, or when, from any other reason, it is in the opinion of the Local Government necessary or expedient to remove or discontinue the use of the tramway or any part thereof, the Promoters may, subject to such conditions and in accordance in all respects with such regulations as the Local Government may, from time to time, make, construct and maintain, so long as occasion may require, a temporary tramway in lieu of the tramway or part of the tramway removed or discontinued.

Power of Promoters to make temporary tramway.

30. The Promoters shall not, without the consent in writing of the Government Engineer in charge of the road or of the Local Authorities, as the case may be, cut down or lop any tree growing along or by the side of the road, provided that in case of emergency the Promoters may remove or lop the branches or any portion of a tree which projects or hangs in such a manner as to be a source of danger or impediment to the tramway traffic.

Lopping trees.

31. Any road metal or material excavated by the Promoters from the road, in the construction or maintenance of the tramway, may be applied by them in or towards reinstating the said road, or in or towards completing any work thereon required by this order.

Use of excavated material.

32. 1. The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the 1st Monday in June. The examination will be conducted either at the College or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph) in Bengal, Assam, and Burma only. The examination will be ipso facto vitiated if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed, but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements in regard to the place and hour of examination with the candidates.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it, but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways.

* This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies if such is pensionable by the British Government.

2. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient. The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs. 10 and the following certificates, and must be forwarded by him not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

ACCOUNTS.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned :—

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2) Certificate of age (baptismal or of birth; not required if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ).

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's handwriting.

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, on a consideration of these certificates, to decide whether the candidate should be registered for the examination or whether his application should be rejected. He will only forward the names of accepted candidates to the Principal, together with their applications in their own handwriting, statement of their ages, and fees. These should be transmitted altogether under one covering letter on the last day allowed by the rule.

3. Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates.

5. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

6. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

7. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the fourth grade of Accountants, Public Works Department.

J. S. SLATER, Principal,

1. The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the 1st Monday in June. The examination will be conducted either at the College or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph) in Bengal, Assam, and Burma only. The examination will be ipso facto vitiated if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed, but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements in regard to the place and hour of examination with the candidates.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it, but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways.

* This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies if such is pensionable by the British Government.

2. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient. The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs. 10 and the following certificates, and must be forwarded by him not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

ACCOUNTS.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned :—

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2) Certificate of age (baptismal or of birth not required if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ).

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's handwriting.

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, on a consideration of these certificates, to decide whether the candidate should be registered for the examination or whether his application should be rejected. He will only forward the names of accepted candidates to the Principal, together with their applications in their own handwriting, statement of their ages, and fees. These should be transmitted altogether under one covering letter on the last day allowed by the rule.

3. Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates.

5. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

6. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

7. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the fourth grade of Accountants, Public Works Department.

J. S. SLATER, Principal,

Local Governments may direct that the supply to be maintained, either generally or in respect of any particular kind of stamp or in certain local depôts, shall be equal to the probable consumption of such other period as they deem expedient.

8. As soon as the number of stamps in the local depôt falls below the number issued from the depôt in the preceding six months, the officer in charge of the depôt shall prepare an indent for a supply equal to the probable consumption of three months. The indent shall show in separate columns for each denomination of stamp of which a supply is required the total of the balance in the local depôt and any branch* depôts subordinate to it, the quantity sold in the preceding six months, and the quantity indented for, which should be approximately one-half of the quantity sold in the preceding six months. The periods of "six months" and "three months" of this rule may, like that of five months in rule 7, be altered by Local Governments to such other periods as they may deem expedient. This indent will be forwarded direct to the Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, or Calcutta, as the case may be; but the Local Government of any province may direct that the indents shall be forwarded through any other officer, such as the Superintendent of Stamps of the province, or that a copy of the indent shall be forwarded to such officer.

9. If the supply of stamps in any local depôt should run short before the receipt of the supply from the central depôt, the officer in charge of the local depôt should indent for a supply from a neighbouring depôt, sending a copy of the indent to the Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps of the province, or such other officer as the Local Government may direct. It is the duty of the Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, or Calcutta, to report to the Local Government (or such authority as the Local Government may direct) in the case of General and Court-fee stamps to the Director-General of Post Office in the case of Postage stamps and to the Director-General of Telegraphs in the case of telegraph stamps, any case in which it may come to his knowledge that the stock of stamps in any local depôt of any description has fallen below the prescribed amount.

10. As soon as possible after the arrival of a supply of stamps from the central depôt or from another local depôt, the officer in charge of the local depôt shall have the boxes or packets opened in his presence, and the contents of each box or packet counted either by himself or in his presence immediately on being opened. The number of stamps received shall be compared by the officer in charge with the submitted invoice, and a receipt shall be sent as soon as possible to the officer who despatched the stamps.

11. Local Governments may issue such orders as may be thought necessary regarding the detailed counting of stamps received in a local depôt, and as to the description of stamps which the officer in charge must count with his own hands. Such orders may include instructions that a certain percentage only of sealed packets marked as containing a certain number of stamps need be opened and counted at the time of receipt, and the remainder, if the percentage opened are all found correct, left with seals unbroken to be counted as they are required on being given out from double lock. The officer in charge is responsible for observing any such instructions, and for satisfying himself as to the number of stamps received before signing the receipt.

12. If any of the stamps received are found to be unfit for issue, they should be at once returned to the Superintendents of Stamps. Stamps which are through any accident rendered unfit for issue, at any time after receipt, should be similarly returned to the Superintendent as soon as their unfitness is discovered. The necessary entries on account of stamps so returned should be made in the monthly statement (rule 34), and in the plus and minus memoranda (rule 36).

13. Immediately after the stamps received have been counted, they shall be placed in proper receptacles in the store under double lock, arranged in parcels or packets containing known quantities, the amount of each denomination being entered in a register, maintained to show the receipts and issues to and from the store under double lock.

14. The treasurer, or such other officer as the Local Government may direct, shall be the ex-officio vendor of all descriptions of stamps in each local depôt. Sales to the public or to licensed vendors shall not be made direct from the stores under double lock, such sales being made by the ex-officio vendor from the supply entrusted to him for this purpose, to be kept by him under single lock, as prescribed in the following rules.

15. The stock to be made over to the ex-officio vendor to be kept by him under single lock should ordinarily be sufficient for the probable demand of one month. On a fixed date near the beginning of each month the ex-officio vendor shall prepare an indent for the quantity required for the month in a form showing the balance in his hands, an average month's consumption, and the quantity required. When this indent is approved by the officer in charge, who should examine the balance under single lock, and ascertain that the quantities shown agree with the quantities shown in the indent, he shall give out the quantity required from the store under double lock. The same procedure shall be followed if any stamps should be required at any intermediate date. Local Governments may reduce the period of one month mentioned in this rule to one week or any other period less than a month, if they consider this desirable with reference to the amount of the treasurer's security or for any other reason.

16. From the stock so made over to his charge and kept by him under single lock, the ex-officio vendor shall sell stamps to the public and to licensed vendors for cash. He shall keep in such language as the Local Government may direct an account of the daily sales for each of the four descriptions of stamps in a form showing for each denomination the balance in his hand at the beginning of the day, the quantity sold during the day, and the balance in his hand at the end of the day. He shall pay daily into the treasury the cash received by him for stamps sold, the amount realised on account of each of the four descriptions of stamps—namely, General, Court-fee, Postage, and Telegraph—being paid in separately. The account of daily sales should be inspected every day by the officer in charge of the depôt.

17. The rules regulating the grant of discount and the grant of licenses to licensed vendors for the sale of General and Court-fee stamps vary in different provinces, and are prescribed by Local Governments, subject to the general rule that no change in the rates of discount shall be made without the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council.

18. Local Governments may direct that the sales to the public of General and Court-fee stamps by ex-officio vendors shall be limited to stamps of a value higher than a named amount, the sale to the public of stamps of lower value being left to licensed vendors.

19. Telegraph stamps shall be sold to the public for cash by the ex-officio vendors, provided that the quantity of stamps sold to one person at one time shall not be less in value than Rs. 5, and that the quantity sold shall not include less than one rupee worth of any particular denomination. On such sales no discount is allowed.

20. Telegraph Masters shall obtain supplies of telegraph stamps from the local depôts, subject to the same conditions in regard to the quantity supplied at one time as those of the preceding rule, and shall sell to the public Telegraph stamps of all descriptions and to any value. No discount is allowed to Telegraph Masters for the sale of stamps; but they are allowed permanent advances of Telegraph stamps without payment, the amount of the permanent advance being fixed by the Director-General of Telegraphs. When the permanent advance of Telegraph stamps has once been taken, subsequent issues to Telegraph Masters are made only on cash payment. But when the local depôt is closed for holidays of more than one day's duration, officers in charge of local depôts are authorised to issue Telegraph stamps to Telegraph Masters without payment in excess of the value of the permanent advance, these temporary advances being adjusted, when the treasury re-opens, by the return of stamps or the payment of their value, if sold.

21. Service Postage stamps shall be sold for cash from local depôts to Government officials and to persons specially authorised to purchase and use service stamps on a written application. On such sales no discount is allowed.

22. Ordinary Postage stamps shall be sold to the public for cash from local depôts, provided that the value sold to any person at one time shall not be less than Rs. 5, and shall not include any fraction of a rupee, and that embossed envelopes and post-cards shall be sold in complete packets only. No discount is allowed on such sales. Soldiers' envelopes are sold from certain selected local depôts only to Commanding Officers in complete packets, no discount being allowed.

23. The officer in charge of every post office, receiving office, tahsil, thana, and police-station at which letters are received for despatch, and every person licensed under the rules framed under the Stamp Act, 1879, to sell General stamps, are required to keep a supply of ordinary Postage stamps for sale to the public sufficient for the probable demands of one week. To such persons ordinary postage stamps, except soldiers' envelopes, are sold from local depôts for cash, on the same conditions as to quantity as those prescribed in the preceding rule; and on such sales discount at the rate of quarter of an anna in the rupee is allowed.

A special extra commission of ½ anna in the rupee has been sanctioned, with effect from 11th November 1892, on all sales of the large size registration envelope.

24. The officers in charge of post offices, receiving offices, tahsils, thanas, and police-stations at which letters are received for despatch are also required to keep a supply of one-anna Revenue stamps for sale to the public. To such officers one-anna Revenue stamps are sold from local depôt, on the same conditions as to quantity as those prescribed in rule 22. On such sales discount at the rate of one half-anna in the rupee is allowed.

25. A District Officer may authorise the grant of discount at the rate of quarter of an anna in the rupee to any bonâ-fide retail vendor of ordinary Postage stamps, provided he is not employed in a Government treasury. Such authority shall be in writing, and shall remain in force for one year. It may contain conditions in all or any of the following respects, namely, the maintenance of a sufficient supply of stamps of all or any specified denominations of Postage stamps for retail sale; the sale of the stamps at one or more particular shops or places, and the prohibition of sales at other shops or places; and the days and hours of sale. The District Officer shall keep a register showing the name, residence, and occupation of every person to whom he grants such authority.

26. Superintendents and Inspectors of Post Offices within their respective jurisdictions, and any other officers of the Post Office authorised on that behalf by the Postmaster-General or Deputy Postmaster-General, are empowered to examine the stock of Postage stamps kept by any of the persons required or authorised to keep Postage stamps for sale to the public under rules 23 and 25.

BRANCH DEPÔTS.

27. Every subordinate, branch, or tahsil treasury shall be a branch depôt for the sale of stamps of all descriptions.

But in any case where the sale of stamps from such a branch depôt is insignificant, and equal facilities exist for the supply of stamps from a depôt in the same station as the branch depôt, the Local Government may direct the closing of the branch depôt.

28. The sub-treasurer, or such other officer as the Local Government may direct, shall be the ex-officio vendor of stamps at a branch depôt.

29. The officer in charge of the branch depôt shall obtain his supplies from the local depôt to which the branch depôt is subordinate, in the same manner as the ex-officio vendor at the local depôt obtains his supplies, except that the indent and the stamps must be sent by post or messenger to and from the local depôt; and that the examination of the balance in hand and the comparison of the amounts shown with those shown in the indent shall be done by the officer in charge of the branch depôt. In cases where there is likely to be a distinct saving of cost of greater security of the stamps in transit, the Local Government may empower the Board of Revenue or other superior Revenue authority to sanction the despatch of stamps direct from the central depôt to branch depôts, such supplies being passed through the accounts of the local depôt treated by the Superintendent of Stamps as supplies to the local depôts to which the branch depôts are subordinate.

The ex-officio vendor shall obtain his supplies from the officer in charge of the branch depôt, in the same manner as the ex-officio vendor at the local depôt obtains his supplies from the officer in charge.

30. The supply to be kept in a branch depôt should be equal to the probable demand for three months; but Local Governments may direct that the supply shall be equal to the demand of any other period instead of three months which they may consider expedient. The stock should be kept up to this amount by indenting and obtaining supplies from the local depôt from time to time as may be necessary.

31. Local Governments shall fix the period a supply sufficient for which shall be kept under single lock by the ex-officio vendor, and the remainder of the stamps in the branch depôt shall be kept under double lock of the officer in charge of the branch depôt and of the ex-officio vendor, and given out to single lock as required.

32. Sales from branch depôts will be made subject to the same rules as those from local depôts.

34. Monthly statements showing the receipts and issues of each local depôt, including the transactions of the subordinate branch depôts, shall be prepared by the officer in charge of the local depôt, and forwarded in the first week of the succeeding month to the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or the local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in rule 33, separate statements being prepared for General stamps, Court-fee stamps, Telegraph stamps, and Postage stamps.

These statements shall show for each denomination of stamp the values of the balance in hand at the beginning of each month, of the quantities received from the Superintendent of Stamps or other officer during the month, of the quantity sold during the month, and of the balance in hand at the end of month. The statements may be forwarded direct to the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or the local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or through any officer named by the Local Government.

35. The statements shall be checked by the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or by the local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in rule 33, by comparison with previous statements and the accounts of the central depôts, and shall be used by him to check indents and to watch the balances in the local depôts. If the monthly statements of transactions show that the balance of any kind of stamp in any local depôt is falling too low, the attention of the officer in charge should be called to the fact. To enable him to check the returns, each local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in rule 33, will be supplied by the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta or Bombay, with monthly statements showing the stamps issued to and returned by the local depôts subordinate to each.

36. Treasury officers and other officers in charge of local depôts shall forward to the local Accountant-General or Comptroller such returns of the receipts and sales of stamps as the Comptroller-General may direct, in the form of plus and minus memoranda or otherwise.

37. Each Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in rule 33, shall send to the Accountant-General or Comptroller such accounts of the transactions of the central and local depôts as the Comptroller-General may prescribe.

38. They shall also every six months intimate to the Accountant-General or Comptroller, for comparison with the amounts shown in the returns received from treasuries and other local depôts under rule 36, the receipt of the certificates prescribed in rule 33, and the amount of stock certified to be in balance in each local depôt.

39. The Comptroller-General shall prescribe such rules as he considers necessary for the disposal of the accounts mentioned in the foregoing rules, and for the check of the receipts, issues, and sales.

40. The Local Governments in Bengal, Madras, and Bombay shall arrange for a periodical verification by counting of the stock of stamps in the respective central depôts. The verification shall be carried out in the manner and form prescribed by the Comptroller-General, to whom the result will be reported.

41. The Superintendents of Stamps, Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, shall forward every month to the Director-General of the Post Office a statement showing the balances and receipts in the central depôt and the issues to each local depôt of Postage stamps during the month. Each Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in rule 33, shall also send monthly to the Comptroller of the Post Office a statement of the sales during the past month of the several denominations of Postage stamps in the local and branch depôts subordinate to him. Each Accountant-General or Comptroller will, with his monthly account current with the Examiner of Telegraph Accounts, forward a statement showing the total realisations at each treasury from the sales of Telegraph stamps during the month.

THE YEARLY EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR FOURTH GRADE OF ACCOUNTANTS.

THE yearly examination of candidates for fourth grade of accountants, Public Works Department, will be held at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on Monday and Tuesday, the 3rd and 4th June 1895, at 10-30 A.M. :—

SUBJECTS.

	Full marks.	Minimum pass marks.
Writing (neatness, clearness and rapidity) ...	100	50
Dictation (spelling, punctuation, etc.) ...	100	50
Arithmetic (the whole) ...	240	160
Mensuration (a), the whole ...	60	30
Book-keeping (b), mercantile ...	100	50

Minimum required in all papers collectively.

(a) Todhunter's Mensuration for Beginners.
(b) "Book-keeping" by Ball and Hamilton.
"Book-keeping," by double and single entry, by W. Inglis (Chambers Educational Course).

The marks gained by candidates who fail will not be published.

1. The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the 1st Monday in June. The examination will be conducted either at the College or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph) in Bengal, Assam, and Burma only. The examination will be ipso facto vitiated if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed, but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements in regard to the place and hour of examination with the candidates.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it, but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways.

* This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies if such is pensionable by the British Government.

2. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient. The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs. 10 and the following certificates, and must be forwarded by him not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

ACCOUNTS.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned :—

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2) Certificate of age (baptismal or of birth not required if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ).

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's handwriting.

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, on a consideration of these certificates, to decide whether the candidate should be registered for the examination or whether his application should be rejected. He will only forward the names of accepted candidates to the Principal, together with their applications in their own handwriting, statement of their ages, and fees. These should be transmitted altogether under one covering letter on the last day allowed by the rule.

3. Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates.

5. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

6. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

7. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the fourth grade of Accountants, Public Works Department.

J. S. SLATER, Principal,
Civil Engineering College.

SIBPUR, the 26th March 1895.

N.B.—The attention of candidates is drawn to the alteration in rule 2 (3). In future no candidate is to apply direct to the Principal for permission to attend the examination, but must send his application through an Examiner of Public works Accounts, who will decide whether the candidate is to be admitted.
The Principal will attend to no application received direct.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT,—(LAND REVENUE).

NOTIFICATION—No. 29T.R.

The 24*th April* 1895.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 55 of the Land Acquisition Act, I of 1894, and with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following rules in supersession of the rules issued under section 59 of Act X of 1870 and published under notification, dated the 4th November 1889, at pages 898-900, Part I, of the Calcutta Gazette of the 6th idem.

RULES UNDER THE LAND ACQUISITION ACT, I OF 1894.

1. When any revenue-paying land is acquired under the Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894), the proprietor shall, except as provided in rule 6, be relieved of liability to pay revenue to the extent of the Government demand upon the said land, and such relief shall have effect from the date on which the Collector may take possession of the land on account of Government.

2. In such cases the Collector shall, before making an award, ascertain, in accordance with the two next following rules, and record the amount of Government revenue which is to be taken as payable in respect of the acquired portion, and shall, in the event of a reference being made to a Court, furnish the Court, at the time of making the reference, with particulars of the amount of the share so ascertained and recorded.

3. If the land to be acquired be an entire estate or tenure assessed with a specific amount of revenue, the whole of such amount shall be remitted.

4. If the land be not liable for a specific amount of revenue, but be a portion of an estate or tenure which is liable for a specific amount, the proportion of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the land taken shall be ascertained under the following rules :—

1st.—When an estate has, within twenty years next preceding the date of the commencement of proceedings for the acquisition of any land situate therein, been subjected to a detailed settlement, or has formed portion of an estate brought under partition under the Estates' Partition Act, VIII (B.C.) of 1876, made after inquiry into and record of the assets of the estate, the Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the said land shall bear to the assets of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the assets of the whole estate, as shown in the settlement or partition proceedings.

2nd.—When there has been no such settlement or partition as aforesaid, then, if the area of the estate is known with accuracy the amount of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the portion of the land taken shall bear to the Government revenue of the whole estate the same proportion as the area of the said portion bears to the area of the whole estate.

3rd.—When the Government revenue deemed payable in respect of the land taken cannot be determined by either of the above rules, one-fourth of the net rent (i.e., the gross rental less a deduction of 10 per cent. for the expenses of collection) of the said land shall be taken to be the amount of Government revenue thereon chargeable.

5. In determining the amount of compensation to be awarded, the Collector shall take into consideration the fact that the land acquired is subject to the burden of the payment of Government revenue.

6. In the event of the proprietor declining to accept an abatement of revenue, such circumstance shall not entitle him to any compensation over and above the amount fixed for the award under section 23 of the Act on the original basis of calculation. In cases, however, in which the area of the portion of land acquired does not exceed one-twentieth part of the area of the estate, it shall be competent to the Revenue authorities, if the proprietor of the estate so desire, to pay to the proprietor the computed value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of such portion on the condition of his continuing to pay the revenue of the entire estate, without abatement: provided that, in computing the value of the revenue so assigned, the basis of calculation shall not exceed the number of years' purchase (if known) upon which the market value of the proprietor's profits, i.e., the amount of compensation to be awarded for the land, has been determined. Thus, if the market value of the said profits has been computed at twelve years' purchase, the capitalized value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of the portion of land acquired shall be calculated at not more than twelve years' purchase of the amount of revenue in question.

7. When there is any question whether the land to be acquired is part of a revenue-paying estate, or is revenue-free, the Collector shall decide the matter before making his award, leaving it to the claimants to apply for a reference to the Court if they object to his decision. In case of a reference being applied for, the Collector shall, if he has decided that the land is revenue-free, determine the amount of revenue which would be payable for it in the event of its being held to belong to the revenue-paying estate of which it is alleged to form a part.

8. To enable him to calculate accurately the additional compensation to be given under section 23 (2) of the Act, and to keep up fully and clearly his registers of all lands occupied and compensation paid for them, the Collector shall invariably record separately his finding under the first head of section 23 (1) of the Act, which concerns the market value of the land.

9. The procedure laid down as to the payment of the compensation money in cases of references under section 18 shall apply also to references under section 30 or section 35. The compensation-money, or, if any of the parties are willing to accept payment of their shares and payment to them is admissible, the portion of it which is in dispute and cannot be paid away shall be deposited in Court when the reference is made.

10. In giving notice of the award under section 12 (2) and tendering payment under section 31 (1) to such of the persons interested as were not present personally or by their representatives when the award was made, the Collector shall require them to appear personally or by representatives by a certain date, to receive payment of the compensation awarded to them, intimating also that no interest will be allowed to them if they fail to appear. If they do not appear, and do not apply for a reference to the Civil Court under section 18, the Collector shall, after such further endeavour to secure their attendance as may seem desirable, cause the amounts due to be paid into the Treasury on revenue deposit, and vouched for in the form prescribed by rule 5 on page 211 of the Civil Account Code, Volume I, 5th edition. When the payees ultimately claim payment of sums placed on deposit, the amounts will be paid to them in the same manner as ordinary revenue deposits, under the authority of the Collector. Whenever payment is claimed through a representative, whether before or after deposit of the amount awarded, such representative must show legal authority for receiving the compensation on behalf of his principal.

C. E. BUCKLAND,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION—No. 2250L.R.

The 30th April 1895.—In supersession of the rules for cultivation leases of small lots of waste land in the district of Chittagong, published with this Government's notification dated the 7th May 1880, in the Calcutta Gazette of the 12th idem, and printed at pages 27-30 of the Board's Waste Lands Manual, 1888, the Lieutenant-Governor, with the previous sanction of His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, is pleased to direct the publication of the following revised rules for general information.

C. E. BUCKLAND,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

1. In leasing waste lands in a deltaic tract, care should be taken to lease areas sufficiently large and compact to admit of economical embanking.

2. In order to avoid interference with the operation of the Forest Department, care should be taken that no large unculturable tract, such as forest-clad hills, and no lands entirely surrounded by hills, and no lands included in the areas proposed by the Collector for enforestation, should be included in such leases.

3. Where a District Board road runs through or alongside the tract for which settlement is applied for, no land lying within a distance of 60 feet from either edge of such road should be settled.

4. Selection of settlement-holders.—Care should be taken that the persons admitted to settlement are substantial men. Residents near the waste lands leased should be preferred to outsiders. Other things being equal, the earliest of two or more applicants for the same area should have the preference. When several persons of equal or nearly equal merit have applied for the same area, it may be put up to auction and settled with the one who offers the highest lump sum for settlement. When the area to be leased requires embanking on an extensive scale, it may sometimes be advisable to give a joint lease to a number of substantial persons, who will be jointly and severally responsible for the rent assessed, and can apportion the lands amongst themselves as convenient.

5. Term of settlement.—The settlement should ordinarily be granted for a term which will expire at the same time as the Noabad taluki settlement of the thana in which the lands leased are situate.

6. Rent assessed.—Each case must be treated on its own merits, taking into consideration the initial expense of bringing the lands under cultivation, the quality of the lands, &c., but the following principles are laid down for guidance :—

(a) If the lands are not cultivable at the time the lease is granted, they should ordinarily be leased rent-free for such a term of years, not exceeding five, as will, in the opinion of the Settlement Officer, be required to bring one-quarter of the area under cultivation.

(b) A rate should be fixed, which should be regarded as the full rate demandable when the lands are brought under cultivation.

(c) The conditions of the lease should be such that the full rate should come into force from the date when it is considered probable that the entire area will have been brought under cultivation.

(d) Settlements at progressive rates may be given, but there should in no case be more than two gradations in the increase of rents. The gradations should be so fixed that the progressive rates should be in proportion to the probable progress in cultivation. For instance, a lease is to be given of 100 drones, of which the full rate, if the lands were under cultivation, would be Rs. 24 a drone. It is estimated that it will take five years to bring 25 drones or one-quarter [Rule (a)] under cultivation. It is also estimated that, after another period of five years, 50 drones will be under cultivation, and the whole area after a third period of five years. In such a case no rents should be fixed for the first term of five years, quarter rates or Rs. 6 should be assessed on the whole area after the first five years, half rates or Rs. 12 after the second period of five years, and full rates or Rs. 24 after the third period.

(e) In calculating the full rate provided for in (b), care should be taken to allow for any such recurring charge as the repairs of embankments.

(f) No new jote with a rent of less than Re. 1 should be brought upon the tauzi. The rent should ordinarily be fixed in multiples of four annas, never in multiples of less than two annas.

7. Procedure.—The Assistant Settlement Officer should take a kabuliyat in the form appended to these rules from the selected settlement-holders, and forward the record to the Settlement Officer for his sanction.

8. When the settlement has been sanctioned by the Settlement Officer, the record will be forwarded to the khas tahsildars concerned for realization of rent.

9. If, with regard to any application, a survey is necessary, the applicant shall deposit, to meet the expense of such survey, a sum not exceeding four annas per acre of the estimated area. But no such deposit is to be taken until the Settlement Officer has decided that the lands in question are such as can be settled. If the cost of survey exceeds 4 annas per acre, the balance shall be paid by the applicant before he receives the kabuliyat.

10. If the boundaries of the lands settled are not clearly defined by natural features, they are to be demarcated by boundary marks, the nature and number of which shall be determined by the Settlement Officer, against whose orders there shall be no appeal, and the lessee shall engage to erect and maintain such boundary marks at his own expense, failing which the Settlement Officer may do so, and realize the cost incurred from the lessee under the Certificate Act. This condition is to be included in the lessee's lease and kabuliyat.

11. After the conclusion of the present settlement operations, these rules will be followed in dealing with any application for the settlement of waste lands, and in that case, wherever in the above rules the words "Settlement Officer" or "Assistant Settlement Officer" occur, it will be understood that the Collector of the district, or the local khas tahsildars respectively, are referred to.

12. For all jotes whose rent does not exceed Rs. 10, one kist will be fixed payable on the 25th January. The rent of jotes paying over Rs. 10 will be made payable in two kists, viz., 6 annas on the 25th May, and 10 annas on the 25th January.

13. Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose, may be taken up by Government free of cost, a reduction being made in the rent payable under the lease proportional to the area taken up by the Government; but the value of any improvement or property therein shall be paid to the lessee, and shall be assessed under the provisions of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

14. The Government reserves to itself the right to all minerals on the lands which may be leased, together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting, and carrying away such minerals.

Revised form of kabuliyat for occupancy-raiyats and talukdars.

I enter into a temporary taluki / raiyati settlement (as the case may be) at progressive rates with permanent right of renewal for the land known as in the Khas Mahal, thana and lying within boundaries as shown in the map filed in the settlement records measuring, more or less, kanis. I take the lease and give this kabuliyat for the term of years from to , and declare that the said engagement is binding not only on myself, but also on my heirs, representatives, and assigns precisely as if it had been executed by them.

The conditions of this preliminary lease are :—

(1) That the land shall be held by me free of assessment for a term of years from the to and shall be subject thereafter to annual payment at the following rates, namely,—

The further conditions of my lease which will be retained in future leases are—

(2) That I shall construct and thenceforward from time to time repair and renew such sufficient embankments, drainage channels, and outlets as shall serve effectually to protect such lands from inundation.

(3) I shall pay the rent of the taluk / jote (as the case may be) herein stipulated kist by kist according to the instalments noted at the foot of this engagement to Government, or to whomsoever be authorised to receive the same, together with any cesses lawfully imposed on the land.

If I fail to pay the full amount of an instalment or a part thereof, such arrears shall be recoverable under any law for the time being in force for recovery of arrears of revenue.

(4) That I shall not raise any objection to the payment of Government revenue on the score of inundation, drought, or any other providential visitation, neither will such objection be granted.

(5) I shall not fell any of the following timbers growing on the lands of my settlement without the special permission of the Collector, nor shall I allow any other person to do so; and I have no power to sell them. Such trees are exclusively Government property:—

1. Jarool.	5. Gurjun.
2. Tulsur.	6. Chapalis.
3. Toon.	7. Chowangiri.
4. Shagoon.	8. Chagaroshi.

9. Gamar.

(6) That the right of using all streams and channels in any way navigable shall be reserved to the public, as also the use of a tow-path not less than 25 feet in width on each side of every such stream and channel. No right of fishery, and no right to dam up or otherwise obstruct the passage of any navigable channel, is given by this lease.

(7) That all mineral products above and below the surface, and the full rights of the State in mines and minerals, and right of access and other reasonable convenience for working them on behalf of Government, are reserved.

(8) That beyond the fixed Government revenue and the reservation mentioned above, the Government shall have no claim to any profit which may accrue from the land included in this $\frac{\text{taluk}}{\text{jote}}$ (as the case may be) during the currency of my term of settlement.

(9) That any time after expiration of this present term of years, and similarly after expiration of each future term, the $\frac{\text{taluk}}{\text{jote}}$ (as the case may be) shall be open to survey and renewal of settlement for such period as the Government shall think fit at fair and equitable rates in accordance with the law at that time in force, and I shall be entitled to renewed settlement forever on the same conditions as are stipulated herein, omitting clause 1 of this lease, and subject only to such changed rent as may be fixed upon the taluk according to law.

(10) Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose may be taken up by Government free of cost, a deduction being made in the amount of assessment payable under the lease proportionate to the area so taken up, and compensation being made for the value of any improvement or property thereon under the provisions of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

(11) The title conveyed by this lease is heritable and transferable, provided, however, that the Government will in no way be bound to recognize any division of the rent payable on the $\frac{\text{taluk}}{\text{jote}}$ (as the case may be), nor of the several interest of joint-owners of the tenure or holding (as the case may be), and provided that every succession or transfer shall be registered in the office where the rent is payable within six months of its taking place under section 42, Act VII (B.C.) of 1876, or any other law for the time being in force for the registry of mutation of dependent tenures.

(12) I shall have power to lease out the land and to make any arrangements I think best for its cultivation, provided that no lease granted or tenancy or occupancy permitted by me shall be binding upon Government after the expiry of my current term of settlement nor otherwise than as a raiyat's holding.

(13) I shall be entitled to excavate tanks for the convenience of raiyats, but the site and dimensions of such tanks shall be fixed by the Collector, whose permission to such an excavation shall be indispensable.

(14) I will do everything for the good cultivation of the $\frac{\text{taluk}}{\text{jote}}$ (as the case may be), and will act fairly in accordance with the conditions of my lease.

(15) I will erect, maintain and take care of all the boundaries and boundary marks at my own expense, and will not allow any mischief to be done to the lands, nor to the interests of my landlord, that is Government; and on failure on my part to carry out this condition, the Settlement Officer may do so and realize the cost thereof from me as an arrear of revenue.

(16) If any of the conditions of my lease be broken, either wilfully or by neglect, my $\frac{\text{taluk}}{\text{jote}}$ (as the case may be) will be liable to be forfeited, or else I will submit to any other penalties which the Collector may impose in lieu of such forfeiture.

NOTIFICATION.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

Bombay Castle, the 29th April 1895.

No. 1701.—In exercise of the power conferred by Act I of 1870, the following Rules for Quarantine against Plague have been made by the Government of Bombay, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council: they have effect from 15th April 1895 in the Ports of Aden, Perim, and the Somali Coast as a temporary measure :—

I.—The Commander of every vessel, including buggalows or other native craft, arriving at Aden, Perim, and Somali Coast ports from the Red Sea Coast from Lith to Lohaiya shall, before entering the harbour, hoist a yellow flag (or if entering a port at night time, show whatever quarantine light signals are customary in the port) and indicate by signal the port from which such vessel has come, and shall keep such flag and signals flying until permitted to take them down as hereinafter provided. The pilot on going alongside the vessel shall direct the flag prescribed above to be hoisted, if it has not already been done.

II.—Such Commander shall not, without first having obtained permission as hereinafter provided, allow any communication, except orally, with the shore, or any other vessel or boat, excepting with the boat supplying pilots, and in that case communication shall be limited to receiving on board the pilot, his servant and baggage.

III.—On any such arrival being signalled, the Health Officer of the Port shall, as soon as possible, go alongside the vessel and ascertain by enquiry from the Commander whether any person on board is suffering, or has during the voyage suffered, from plague, and if the Health Officer is satisfied by such enquiry that no person on board is suffering, or during the voyage has suffered, from plague, and if the ship carries a qualified Medical Officer, quarantine shall be dispensed with, and pratique granted.

If the vessel does not carry a qualified Medical Officer, he shall direct the Commander to take the vessel to the quarantine anchorage duly appointed and notified by the Resident and there to remain for a period of eight clear days from the date of arrival in the harbour. The Health Officer shall also direct the Commander to prohibit, during the period for which the vessel remains at the quarantine anchorage as aforesaid, all communication, except such as is hereinafter provided for between such vessel and the shore, or other vessels and boats in the harbour.

IV.—If the Health Officer, as the result of the enquiry made under paragraph III above, shall have reason to believe at the time when the vessel arrives in the harbour that any person on board is suffering, or during the voyage has suffered, from plague, he shall direct the Commander to take the vessel to the quarantine anchorage as aforesaid and there to remain for a period of fifteen days from the day of arrival in the harbour; and shall further direct that during such fifteen days, intercourse between the said vessel and the shore or other vessels and boats in the harbour shall be prohibited as provided in Rule III.

V.—If during the period a vessel is at the quarantine anchorage aforesaid, any case or cases of plague should occur on board, the said vessel shall remain in quarantine for a period of fifteen days from the date of termination of the last case either by death, recovery or removal from the vessel and be subject to all the prohibitions provided for in Rules III and IV.

VI.—When any vessel has been placed in quarantine as aforesaid, the Health Officer may direct the removal of so many of the passengers and crew as may not be suffering from illness, and whose services may not be required on board the vessel, to such particular spots as may from time to time be selected by the Resident as places of quarantine, there to remain for a period of eight days, or if the vessel has been placed in quarantine for fifteen days, for a period of fifteen days. If a case of plague occurs among such passengers and crew during any such period, they shall remain in a place of quarantine for a period of fifteen days from the date of the occurrence of the last case of such illness.

VII.—Any mails or cargo which may be brought by any vessel so arriving shall be landed under such precautions as the Health Officer may deem necessary to prevent the spread of the disease.

VIII.—It will be the duty of the Port Officer to facilitate the conveyance to all vessels in quarantine of such supplies of provisions, stores, and other articles as may be required by those on board. Such supplies will be placed on the boats of the vessels in quarantine, to be subsequently removed by members of their crews.

IX.—All vessels arriving at Aden, Perim, and the Somali Coast, which may have communicated with vessels coming from the Red Sea Coast from Lith to Lohaiya, shall be subjected to the same rules as vessels arriving at Aden, Perim, and the Somali Coast from the Red Sea Coast from Lith to Lohaiya.

H. J. S. COTTON,

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION—No. 3324A.

The 28th May 1895.—The following revised rules for the conduct of the departmental examinations, held under the direction and control of the Central Examination Committee, having been sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor and approved by the Government of India, are hereby published for general information:—

Section 1.—General.

1. These rules shall apply to the departmental examinations of the junior members of the Indian Civil Service, the Executive Branch of the Provincial Civil Service, Subordinate Civil Service, Police, Opium, Forest and other Departments of the Public Service to whom they may from time to time be made applicable.

2. All Assistant Magistrates, Deputy Magistrates and Collectors, Special Deputy Collectors, Sub-Deputy Collectors who, on the 4th July 1892, had not been confirmed in their appointments (vide Appendix XII), Assistant Superintendents of Police, and others (to whom these rules may be applicable), who may have been more than six months on duty, shall, and those who have been less than six months on duty, may, at their option, be subjected to half-yearly departmental examinations, and shall be required to pass according to the standard, or the standards, of examination which may be applicable to them respectively in each subject, according to the rules hereinafter set forth.

3. To direct and control these (half-yearly) departmental examinations, there shall be a Central Examination Committee appointed by Government. It shall consist of a President and of as many members (of whom one shall be Secretary) as the Government may think proper to appoint from time to time.

4. The examinations will be held, in the Regulation Provinces, at any station which is the head-quarters of a Divisional Commissioner, or where there is a District Judge. They may also, with the previous consent of the Central Examination Committee, be held at any station where there is a Deputy Commissioner.

5. Each Divisional Commissioner shall notify in the Calcutta Gazette, at least one month before the date of examination, at what stations in his Division examinations are to be held, and shall report to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal the names of intending examinees, specifying at which centre of examination each is to attend. If a Divisional Commissioner has only a very few examinees, and if the means of locomotion are easy, he will probably have only one or two centres of examination in his Division. Heads of Departments will, in the same way, notify to the Chief Secretary the names of intending examinees in their respective departments, specifying at which centre each is to attend.

6. The Government, after collecting all the lists, will prepare a complete list of all officers liable to appear at the examination, and forward a general list to the Secretary to the Central Examination Committee at least three weeks before the examination, and extracts to the Presidents of the Local Committees.

7. The Central Examination Committee may, on sufficient cause being shown, permit the appearance of an officer for examination at a station other than that at which, under ordinary circumstances, he would be required to present himself.

8. Local Committees shall be formed at the several stations at which examinations are to be held, and they shall conduct the examinations under the instructions of the Central Committee.

9. The Local Committee at each station, which is the head-quarters of a Commissioner, shall consist of the Commissioner, the Collector (or Deputy Commissioner), and a native civil officer to be selected by the Commissioner. In the absence of the Commissioner, the Judge (or Judicial Commissioner) shall take his place on the Committee. At the other stations the Committee shall consist of the Judge, the Collector, and a native officer to be selected by the Judge. In the event of the Collector being unavoidably prevented from attending for reasons to be submitted to the President of the Local Committee in writing, the Commissioner or Judge may appoint a Deputy Magistrate or other native civil officer to take the Collector's place on the Committee. At the stations in the Non-Regulation Provinces which are not the head-quarters of the Commissioner, the Deputy Commissioner shall form a Committee, with one or two other officers to be selected by him.

10. The Government will, in communication with the Central Committee, fix the dates for the half-yearly examination, which shall be the same for every district. The first half-yearly examination will usually be held in the month of April or May, and the second in the month of October or November.

11. It shall be the duty of the Central Committee to prepare, previous to each half-yearly examination, sets of questions to be put to the examinees, to forward a sufficient number of copies of each of such sets to the President of each Local Committee in a sealed packet, to determine the order in which the examination in each paper and subject shall be held, and to arrange all other details for the conduct of the examinations. The time fixed for each paper shall be notified in the Calcutta Gazette. The Central Committee shall from time to time lay down such rules as may appear to them best for the guidance of the Local Committees, in order to ensure a fair and uniform method of ascertaining the proficiency of the examinee in each subject.

12. The sealed packet of papers shall remain in the custody of the President of the Local Examination Committee, who shall not open it until the time of examination. The Committee shall superintend the written examination of the examinees only so far as may be necessary to ensure its being conducted with proper strictness; they shall not examine the written answers, but shall forward them to the Central Committee with a statement specifying the marks which they assign to candidates for conversational proficiency in the vernacular, in which branch their decision shall be final. They shall further, in the case of the members of the Indian Civil Service, the Executive Branch of the Provincial Civil Service, the Subordinate Civil Service, and the Police Department, forward a report which shall be furnished by District Officers and Commissioners under whom the examinees have been employed, respecting their official character, qualifications, and the work done by them during the preceding six months.

13. The Central Committee, after perusing the reports and the examination papers, shall report to Government the names of such officers as, in their opinion, have passed, noticing specially, in the order of their merit, those who may have passed with distinction. They shall also report the names of those officers who have succeeded in some of the subjects only.

Section II.—Officers of the Indian Civil Service, the Executive Branch of the Provincial Civil Service, and Subordinate Civil Service.

14. There shall be two standards of examination in Law, Treasury and Local Fund Accounts, and Languages,—the Lower and the Higher Standards. With the exceptions specified below, officers are required to pass in Law, Accounts and in the language of the district by both the Higher and the Lower Standards, and in a second language by the Higher Standard only.

15. In Appendix V will be found the rules prescribing the tests in the vernacular which officers are required to satisfy.

16. The object of the Lower Standard of examination in Law shall be to test the examinee's practical acquaintance with the Criminal Codes, and his general knowledge of certain of the more important local laws, regulations and rules. One paper shall be prepared specially for this examination, which shall be confined to the Criminal Codes. The use of only Codes as issued by the Legislative Department, shall be allowed for this paper. The questions must not be such as can be answered by copying a passage from a book; but they must be such as shall thoroughly test the capacity of the examinees to understand the bearing of facts, and to ascertain the law and apply it. Another paper shall be prepared consisting of questions on the local laws, regulations and rules enumerated in Appendix I. These must be answered without the aid of books. This paper is designed equally for the candidates for examination by the Lower and Higher Standards, but the number of pass marks shall be less in the case of examinees by the Lower than in that of those by the Higher Standard of examination.

17. In the examination by the Higher Standard, it is necessary for the examinee to pass under the rules referred to above in two vernacular languages—ordinarily Bengali and Hindustani. All examinees will be required to pass in Law in two papers. The nature of the one, in answering the questions in which the use of books will not be allowed, has already been explained in paragraph 16. The other paper, for which the use of books will be allowed, will contain questions on the local laws, regulations and rules, set forth in Appendix II. Only unannotated editions of Acts or Codes and Manuals issued by authority will be allowed in answering this paper. The questions should be confined as much as possible to cases commonly arising in the ordinary routine of the office of a Magistrate and Collector. Certain facts of probable occurrence in real practice should be stated, and the examinee required to find and apply the law applicable to the facts.

18. In Accounts there will be two Standards of examination,—the Lower and the Higher. The scope of the questions at the former will be somewhat elementary, but candidates at the latter will be required to exhibit a satisfactory general acquaintance with the whole system of provincial accounts. The examination will be with the aid of books, a list of which is given in Appendix III.

19. An officer of the Indian Civil Service must pass the examination in Law, in Accounts, and in both languages by the Higher Standard. He will be required to pass by the Lower Standard only in Accounts and in the vernacular of the district in which he is serving.

20. Officers who, after passing in the higher grade the examination for admission into the Subordinate Executive Service held in 1873 or subsequently, have received appointments in that service, will be subject to no further examination except the Higher Standard departmental examination. Candidates who passed at the Subordinate Executive Service examination which was held in 1872 are exempted from examination by the Lower Standard in the vernacular only. They will be required to pass in Law and in Accounts by that standard.

21. Officers (except those whose cases are provided for by rule 20), who obtained appointments in the Subordinate Executive Service after passing the competitive examinations held in 1884 and in subsequent years, and all who may similarly obtain them in future, will be required to pass the departmental examinations by both standards.

22. An officer of the Indian Civil Service is permitted to present himself for examination by both the Higher and Lower Standards at the same time. If he passes in either of the papers, he will be held to qualify for the Lower Standard, but passing marks should be obtained in both sets of papers to qualify for the Higher Standard. No other officer shall be permitted to take up any of the subjects by the Higher Standard examination until he shall have completely passed in such subject by the Lower Standard.

23. An officer, who succeeds in passing by either standard (a) in Law, (b) in Accounts, or (c) in either of the languages, shall not again be required to present himself for examination by the same standard in the subject in which he was successful, but only in those in which he failed.

24. The marks to be assigned to each branch of the examination in Law and examination in Accounts, the proportion required for passing by the different standards, and the time allowed for each paper, are set forth in Appendix IV. The same information as regards the examination in Languages will be found in Appendix V. Uniformity must be rigidly enforced in the time allowed for each subject, whether in Law, Accounts or Language.

25. An officer who has passed according to the Lower Standard of examination, and who has exercised the powers of a Magistrate of the third class for six months, shall usually be vested with the powers of a Magistrate of the second class, described in sections 32, 33, 35, and 36 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (Act X of 1882), provided he is certified by the Commissioner to be fully competent to exercise them. Assistant Magistrates will also then be vested with the powers of a Deputy Collector.

26. An officer, however, who shall have passed by the Lower Standard in the Criminal Codes, accounts, and in the language of his district, may on the Commissioner's recommendation be vested with the powers of a Magistrate of the second class, provided he has had not less than six months' experience in his magisterial duties.

27. An officer who has passed according to the Higher Standard shall be eligible to be vested with the powers of a Magistrate of the first class, but not until he shall have exercised the powers of a Magistrate of the second class for at least six months.

28. An officer, who has passed in law and in the language of his district according to the Higher Standard, may also be vested with the powers of a Magistrate of the first class, subject to the condition of his having exercised the powers of a Magistrate of the second class for six months; but he shall not be entitled to any promotion or increase of pay until he has passed fully by the second standard. He shall exercise the powers of a Magistrate of the first class so long only as he is employed in a district where the language in which he has passed is the vernacular.

29. Assistant Magistrates being members of the Indian Civil Service, on first appointment, draw only Rs. 400 a month. On passing the Lower Standard of examination and being invested with the powers of a Magistrate of the second class, they shall be allowed an increase of Rs. 50 a month, provided they have exercised the powers of a Magistrate of the third class for six months at least; and on passing fully the Higher Standard, and being invested with the powers of a Magistrate of the first class, they will receive a second increase of Rs. 50, provided they have also exercised the powers of a Magistrate of the second class for not less than six months.

30. It is the duty of district officers to look to the practical training of the young officers placed under them from their first entering into official life till they acquire a practical experience of their work and qualify themselves for the exercise of higher powers by passing the prescribed examinations. District officers are expected to take active interest in the well-being of the young men placed under them, by exercising due supervision over their studies, by holding periodical examinations to test their qualifications and official knowledge, and by any other means which may seem to them to be expedient for the purpose. They will be careful to see that the young officers subordinate to them are afforded opportunities, whenever possible, of learning Treasury work (vide Appendix XI).

Section III.—Police officers.

31. There shall be two standards of examination in Law and Languages,—the Lower and the Higher Standard. As regards the examination in Languages, rules 15 and 22 above shall apply to Police officers. The same papers in Languages will be set for Police officers as for the officers to whom the rules in section II apply. For the Lower Standard in Law, questions shall be set from the Penal Code, the Code of Criminal Procedure, Act V of 1861, the Village Chaukidari Act, VI (B.C.) of 1870, or any Act amending it, in force at the time of examination, Act I (B.C.) of 1871, Act I of 1886, and Chapters IV, VIII, XV, and XVI of the Police Manual. The use of books will be allowed in answering these questions: only unannotated Codes, or Acts issued by authority, and the Police Manual may be used. For the Higher Standard the questions will be taken from the same Acts, from any part of the Police Manual, from all the Circulars of the Police Department, from the Excise, Salt and Opium Laws, from Act III (B.C.) of 1884 (so far as it relates to Police), and from the Evidence Act I of 1872, Act IV of 1884 (Explosives), Act II (B.C.) of 1889 (Fisheries), Act II (B.C.) of 1867 (Gambling), Act IV of 1879 (Railway), Act IX of 1890 (Railway) Act I of 1882, sections 172, 173 (Emigration), Act XI of 1890 (Cruelty to Animals), Act XXVII of 1871 (Criminal Tribes), and all amending Acts. In this examination the use of books will not be allowed. No officer will be permitted to take up Law by the Higher Standard until he has passed in that subject by the Lower Standard.

The marks to be assigned to the examination in Law, the proportion required for passing by the different standards, and the time allowed for each paper, are set forth in Appendix IV. The same information as regards the examination in Languages will be found in Appendix V.

32. Police Officers transferred to the Executive Service, or who desire such transfer, will be required to satisfy the same tests as those prescribed above for officers of the Executive Branch of the Provincial Civil Service, subject to the exception noted below.

33. When such an officer has already passed by either standard in a language, the pass will be accepted as sufficient to that degree.

34. Any officer so transferred who has passed in Law by the Lower Standard (as hitherto required for the Police) will be required to pass for the Lower Standard in the general papers of local laws, etc. He will be exempted from examinaton in the Criminal Codes prescribed for the Lower Standard if he so desire; but if he elects to pass, such pass will be taken into account in his favour.

35. Such officers who have passed by the Higher Police Standard in Law will still be required to pass in both law papers prescribed in paragraph 17 above, the term "law" including Revenue and General law.

Section IV.—Officers of other Departments to whom these Rules have been made applicable.

36. Officers of the Opium Department will be examined, after admission to the Department, in the subjects mentioned in Government orders No. 1157G. of 28th October 1872, as amended by Government orders No. 2504-Opium, dated the 17th July 1893, to the address of the Secretary, Board of Revenue, particulars of which are stated in Appendix VII.

37. Forest officers will be examined, after admission to the Department, in the subjects mentioned in sections 72, 73, 74, 76, 77 and 78 and Appendix V of the Forest Department Code, 4th edition particulars of which are stated in Appendix VIII.

38. The rules regulating the Departmental Examination of Cantonment Magistrates are contained in Appendix IX.

39. Officers of the Public Works Department will after admission to the Department, be examined in Law, once a year in April or May, as directed in Government Resolution No. 44T.E., dated the 31st May 1894, which is printed in Appendix X.

40. For the examination of Officers in cases, a case not being of special difficulty should be selected by the President of the Local Examination Committee. In selecting a case it should be remembered that Officers will only exercise magisterial powers under Act III (B.C.) of 1876 (Bengal Irrigation Act). The local Committees will merely state their opinion on the merits of each candidate's judgment and not transmit this part of the proceedings. The case selected shall be in the Court vernacular of the district in which the examination is held.

Section V.—Miscellaneous.

41. Officers attending these examinations will be allowed travelling allowance, subjec to the rules laid down in Section IV, Chapter L, of the Civil Service Regulations.

42. No application, from any junior officer liable to examination, for privilege leave or leave on private affairs, will be entertained if the following half-yearly examination takes place before the expiry of the leave applied for, unless the application specifies that the applicant will attend the examination.

43. If such leave is applied for, and the application from such an officer is submitted to Government, it should be stated that he is liable to pass an examination, and that the next examination will be held within the period of the leave applied for. This will enable the Lieutenant-Governor to decide whether, for the reasons stated, the leave should be granted; and, if so, on what conditions.

APPENDIX V.

Rules for the examination of Civil Officers in the Lower Provinces of Bengal in the Vernaculars.

Officers to whom the rules apply.

The following rules for the examination of civil officers in the Lower Provinces of Bengal apply to all officers of the classes specified in them, and to such others as the Local Government may from time to time direct. They do not affect the rules for the encourgement of the study of the languages of frontier tribes, a copy of which is given in Appendix VI.

2. Two grades of examination are recognised:—

(I) The Higher Standard of examination for civil officers, held under the direction and control of the Central Examination Committee.

(II) The Lower Standard of examination for civil officers held under the direction and control of the Central Examination Committee.

Officers of the Survey, Education, and Public Works Departments.

3. Officers of the Public Works, Education, and Survey Departments are examined under special rules. In their case the standard specified in grade II will be accepted as sufficient, should they exceptionally have to be examined along with the officers attached to the general administration.

Officers of the Executive Branch of the Provincial Civil Service and the Subordinate Civil Service.

4. No native member of the Executive Branch of the Provincial Civil Service and the Subordinate Civil Service is liable to examination in a language which is his own vernacular.

Subject to the above proviso—

(i) All members of the above services are required to pass by the Higher and Lower Standards in the vernacular of the district in which they may be serving.

(ii) After so passing, if transferred to a district with a different vernacular, they will be required to pass in that vernacular by the higher standard only within two years of their arrival in the district. During this period they will, if otherwise qualified, be considered as eligible for promotion, but after the expiry of the two years they will, as long as they remain in the district, receive no promotion until they pass in the second language.

* For the lower standard of examination, candidates are required to pass in the following chapters of Volume I of the Civil Account Code only, viz., Chapters 1, 3 to 6, 9, 13, 15, 16, 18, 19 to 21, 29 to 31, and Appendix K.

(iii) If, after passing in the second language referred to above, they are again transferred to a district where there is a third vernacular, they will be required to pass in that vernacular also by the Higher Standard only within two years* of their arrival in the district. During this period they will, if otherwise qualified, be considered as eligible for promotion, but after the expiry of the two years they will, as long as they remain in the district, receive no promotion until they pass in the third language.

Officers passing in a third language under this rule will be entitled to a reward of Rs. 180.

Special rules for medical officers.

5. Medical officers in civil employ, if they have not already passed by the Military Higher or Lower Standard, will be required to pass in the language of the district by the standard specified in grade II.

6. Medical officers in civil employ, who have passed in one language under the above rules, if posted to a district where another language is the vernacular, will be required also to pass in it, but only by a conversational test designed to prove their ability to converse with the people and be understood by them.

No native medical officer shall be liable to examination in a language which is his own vernacular.

Officers required to pass in two languages:—
1. Indian Civil Servants.
2. Assistant Superintendents of Police.

7. The officers named in the margin are required to pass by the standard specified in grade I above in two languages, of which Hindustani is one and Bengali the other. In the case of officers employed in Orissa, the two languages will be Hindustani and Uriya.

Order in which the languages must be taken up.

8. Officers generally are required, in the first instance, to pass in the language of the district in which they are serving by the Lower Standard specified in grade II above, before attempting a second language, in which passing by the Higher Standard only will be required.

Officers exempt from the Lower Standard of Examination.

9. Uncovenanted officers, who have passed in any vernacular at the Native Civil Service Examination, are not required to pass in it again by the Lower Standard of departmental examinations, but may go up for the Higher Standard in cases where they become liable to this examination.

10. An officer liable to pass in two languages when he has passed in the language of the district by the Lower Standard, as required in rule 8 above, may present himself for examination by the Higher Standard in that language and in the second language, which will be Hindustani in the case of those who first qualify in Bengali or Uriya, and in the case of those who first pass in Hindustani, Bengali, or, if they be posted in Orissa, Uriya.

Cases in which a third language is compulsory.

11. Members of the Indian Civil Service and the Statutory Civil Service who are of less than 12 years' standing, and have passed in Hindustani and Bengali, will, on transfer to Orissa, as a condition of promotion to the substantive grade of Magistrate, be required to pass in Uriya as a third language. Similarly, those who have passed in Hindustani and Uriya only, will, on transfer to Bengal, be required to pass in Bengali as a third language. On passing in a third language under this rule, covenanted and statutory civilians become entitled to a reward of Rs. 500.

12. Assistant Superintendents of Police, who have passed in Hindustani and Bengali under rule 7 of Appendix V above, will on transfer to Orissa be liable to pass in Uriya as a third language, and unless they pass in it within two years* after their arrival there, they will not be considered eligible for promotion after that period until they have passed. On passing in Uriya they will be entitled to a reward of Rs. 180. Similarly, for those officers who have passed in Hindustani and Uriya, and are transferred to a Bengali-speaking district, Bengali will be a third language to be treated as above.

13. The examination specified in grade I above and the Lower Standard of examination specified in grade II above will be held under the rules for the conduct of the departmental examination of civil officers, and under the direction and control of the Central Examination Committee in Calcutta.

The following are the tests prescribed for the two grades of examinations :—

Grade I.—The Higher Standard of Departmental Examination.

A.—Reading current handwriting in the vernacular.†

A document of the more difficult description of office papers, selected and lithographed by the Central Examination Committee, shall be transliterated‡ into the Roman character according to the Hunterian or Wilsonian system. Special marks will be assigned for the correct use of this system.

B.—A written translation from the vernacular into English.

The same document shall also be translated into English correctly.

C.—A written translation from English into the vernacular.†

* In the case of officers serving on the date of this notification, the two years referred to in the above rule will count from such date.

† The Hindustani paper will be in the Kaithi character for all officers except Opium Officers of the Benares Agency, for whom special rules have been prescribed (vide Appendix VII)

‡ For the rules for transliteration, see circular order No. 311, dated the 20th March 1894, issued by the Central Examination Committee.

An English judgment or other official document of a somewhat difficult nature, selected by the Central Examination Committee, shall be translated into the vernacular without assistance, and in a generally correct manner.

D.—Dictation from English into the vernacular.

An English report or other official paper of some difficulty shall be translated into the vernacular and dictated off-hand fluently and intelligibly, and the translation written down by a clerk exactly as dictated.*

E.—Conversation in the vernacular.

The examinee shall be tested in conversation with several natives in such a manner as to satisfy the local Committee of his power of making himself understood by them, and of explaining himself with clearness and sufficient propriety in the vernacular in an argument or topic of some difficulty, such as may occur in official business.

The maximum and the pass marks assigned to each branch of the examination, and the time allowed for the papers, are subjoined:—

Subjects of examination.		Maximum marks.	Passing marks.	Time.
Transliteration	One paper ...	20	10	One and-a-half hour.

For this examination the tests shall be the same as the above, but the papers shall be less difficult. The proportion of marks to be obtained in order to pass, and the time allowed for the papers, shall be the same as for the Higher Standard above described. The principal object of this examination shall be to test the proficiency for practical purposes of the examinee in such language.

14. No native officer (these rules notwithstanding) shall be liable to examination in a language which is his own vernacular. The Commissioners or Heads of Departments submitting the lists of intending examinees under rule 5 of the Rules will consider each case, and, on satisfying themselves, may exempt the candidate from examination in such language, reporting their reasons for doing so to Government.

15. No reward shall be paid to any native officer for passing in any language with which, from his birth or education, he is naturally familiar, or which is closely allied to his vernacular language. For the purposes of this rule Bengali and Uriya will be considered to be closely allied languages.

APPENDIX VI.

Rules for the encouragement of the study of the languages of Frontier Tribes mentioned in paragraph 1 of Appendix V.

The following are the rules sanctioned for granting rewards to civil officers in Bengal for proficiency in the languages of frontier tribes.

2. A reward of Rs. 1,000 will be granted to any Member of the Indian Civil Service, Deputy Commissioner, Deputy Collector, District or Assistant Superintendent of Police, Civil Surgeon, or Civil Medical Officer, whether European or Native, who shall pass by the prescribed standard an examination in any one language, in any of the groups of languages noted in the margin, provided that the language is spoken within the district where the officer is at the time employed, or by tribes conterminous to it with whom he has official relations. A second reward will in no case be given to an officer for proficiency in a second language of the same group. The grant of a reward is in every case subject to the condition that it will not be allowed to a native candidate for passing an examination in any language with which, from his birth or education, he is naturally familiar, or which is closely allied to his vernacular language.

Group I.—Kol or Munda, Sonthali.
" II.—Oraon, Rajmehal Pahari.
" III.—Khond of Orissa.
" IV.—Thibetian, Lepcha, Bhutia.
" V.—Kuki or Lushai.
" VI.—Garo.

3. The examination shall be conducted by a local Committee to be specially appointed by Government on each occasion.

4. The tests which a candidate for the above reward must undergo are as follow:—

(a) He must be able to converse freely with the people of the tribe in whose vernacular he may wish to qualify to understand and to make himself understood by them.

(b) He must write down in the English, or the Bengali, or Hindi character sentences spoken in the tribal language by one of the tribe, or a conversation held between two of them, and must explain it correctly in English.

* The words dictated by the examinee may be recorded by the clerk in any character.

(c) He must without assistance translate from English or his mother-tongue into the tribal language (writing it in either the English, or Bengali, or Hindi character) sentences not of a more difficult nature than those described in clause (b). The translation must be substantially correct and intelligible when read to a native in whose language it might be written.

5. These rules will not affect those prescribing the rewards to which junior civilians, who succeed in passing High Proficiency and Honours examinations in certain specified languages, will be entitled.

APPENDIX VII.

1. After admission into the Opium Department, Assistant Sub-Deputy Agents in the Bihar and Benares Agencies are subject to a departmental examination which will be held under the control of the Central Examination Committee.

2. This examination will be held twice a year in June and December at Baukipore for the officers of both Agencies under a Local Committee, consisting of one or both Opium Agents, the Patna Factory Superintendent, and a Native Civil Officer to be selected by the Commissioner of the Patna Division.

3. The Central Examination Committee will arrange before each examination to set question-papers in communication with the Principal of the Sibpur Civil Engineering College.

4. The Opium Assistants will be required to pass in the following subjects necessary for their practical work :—

1. Opium Laws.
2. Surveying.
3. Language of the district in which they may be serving.

5. Candidates may be asked to answer questions in Chemistry and Botany so far as these subjects are embodied in the Opium Manual.

6. The text-books prescribed for these subjects are as follows:—

2. Surveying.—Mr. Kelly's Hand-book of Surveying.

7. In the examination in Language separate papers will be set in the same way as is done in the case of Lower Standard Hindustani papers for Assistant Magistrates and others, specified in grade II, Appendix V.

Assistants in the Benares Agency will ordinarily pass in Urdu (Persian character) and Hindi (Nagri character), and the Assistants in the Bihar Agency in Hindi (Kaithi character). Assistants are liable to transfer from one Agency to the other. On such transfer, if otherwise qualified, they will be considered as eligible for promotion without passing in the vernacular of the Agency to which they have been transferred for a period of two years from the time of their arrival in the Agency to which they have been transferred. After the expiry of that period they will not be eligible for promotion until they pass in the vernacular of the Agency.

8. The table showing the subjects of examination in Opium Laws and Surveying, the maximum number of marks assigned to each, the minimum number required for passing, and the time to be allowed is subjoined:—

APPENDIX VIII.

The following rules regulate the examinations of Forest Officers in the provinces under the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal:—

1. Officers of the Forest Department in Bengal will be required to pass in both the grades referred to in rule 2, Appendix V, in Bengali or Hindustani, according as the one or the other is prescribed for each officer by the Conservator, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-

Governor, under section 73 of the Forest Department Code. The examinations will be conducted under the orders of the Central Examination Committee, Calcutta, at the several local centres, as provided for in the foregoing examination rules. Special papers will, however, be prepared for Forest Officers, in which technical judicial terms will be avoided and such terms substituted as bear directly on forest work.

2. A Forest Officer passing the above examinations will be considered to have fulfilled the conditions as regards examination in Languages laid down in section 73 of the Forest Department Code, 4th Edition, for the purpose of promotion to the higher grades. The examinations passed by Forest Officers in Hindustani by the Military standard in the other provinces or in Bengal, previous to the issue of these orders, will, however, hold good for the purposes of promotion.

3. The rules prescribed in Appendix V for the conduct of departmental examinations of other Civil Officers will, as far as practicable, be applicable to the examinations of Forest Officers.

4. Forest Officers will be allowed to present themselves for examination in any "principal" language of their province by both the Lower and the Higher Standards at the same time with the permission of the Conservator of Forests: an officer who passes in either of the papers will be held to have qualified for the Lower Standard, but passing marks must be obtained in both sets of papers to qualify for the Higher Standard.

5. The examinations in the Land Revenue systems of Bengal, in Forest Law, and in Forest Procedure and Accounts will be conducted as follows:—

(a) Written Examinations.

The papers are set by the Central Examination Committee in communication with the Conservator of Forests, and the following table shows the particulars of marks assigned to each subject and time allowed:—

Subjects of Examination.	Maximum marks.	Passing marks.	Time allowed.
Land Revenue systems of Bengal	100	60	Two hours.
Forest Law	100	60	Ditto.
Forest Procedure and Accounts	100	60	Ditto.

For examination in Languages—vide Appendix V.

(b) Oral Examinations.

The questions are set by the Conservator of Forests. The answers of each examinee are taken down in writing by, or under the immediate superintendence of, a member of the Local Examination Committee; and are forwarded (under their joint signatures) in a registered cover on the day of the examination to the Conservator of Forests, who will adjudge the marks to be allotted on the system in force for the written papers.

A total of over 160 marks, gained on both the papers in the written and oral examinations together in any one of the three subjects will entitle the examinee to a certificate of having passed "with credit," in that subject, and a total of over 180 marks to a certificate of having passed "with great credit" provided that no examinee can be held to have passed "with credit" in any subject, if no marks are allotted for the answer to any one of the questions set in that subject either in the written or in the oral examination.

6. The Central Examination Committee, after perusing the reports of the Local Committees and the answer-papers in the written examinations with the assistance of the examiners who set the papers, will report to Government the names of such officers as in their opinion have passed, noticing specially those who have passed "with credit" or "with great credit" in the Land Revenue systems of Bengal, in Forest Law, and in Forest Procedure and Accounts.

* * * * *

Nothing in section 37, 44 or 72 is intended to prevent an Assistant Conservator of the 2nd grade, or an Extra Assistant Conservator, from presenting himself for examination by the Lower Standard in any principal language of the province.

Examinations will be held both in the Lower and Higher Standards, and will be conducted in accordance with such rules as may from time to time be promulgated by Local Governments, with the previous sanction of the Government of India.

In the case of those provinces in which two languages are entered as "principal," the Conservator may, with the sanction of the Local Government, prescribe in which of the two languages any officer will be required to pass.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

Examination in Law to be passed by officers of the Public Works Department serving in Bengal.

READ—

Notification No. 221 of the 15th June 1891.

1. The Lieutenant-Governor has had under consideration the orders quoted above, under which officers in the Irrigation Branch of the Public Works Department are required to pass an examination in law before being invested with magisterial powers. These orders apply only to officers who joined the Department after the 1st of January 1881. In the notification referred to, no disqualification is attached to officers who do not pass further than that preference is to be given to passed officers for the charge of an Irrigation Division.

2. Assistant Engineers are now ordinarily attached to the Irrigation Branch on appointment, and it is desirable that all officers employed in the Public Works Department in Bengal shall be qualified to take charge of an Irrigation Division. The Lieutenant-Governor has therefore determined that all Assistant Engineers employed in Bengal shall, whether they have or have not been invested with magisterial powers, be required to pass the examination in Law, parts A, B, and C, as shown in the appendix to this Resolution, before being promoted to be Executive Engineers, 3rd grade, permanent rank.

APPENDIX XI.

Resolution of the Government of Bengal, in the Appointment Department, No. 4717A., dated the 15th December 1892.

READ—

The Resolution of Government, dated the 28th March 1882, on the subject of the training, selection and qualification of officers for charge of District Treasuries.

Read also—

The Resolution of Government, No. 3111A., dated the 4th July 1892, on the admission of Special Deputy Collectors and Sub-Deputy Collectors to the Departmental Examination of Junior Members of the Covenanted and Provincial Civil Services.

In paragraph 4 of the Resolution of the 28th March 1892, quoted in the preamble, it was declared to be the duty of Commissioners and District Officers to see that young officers, until they have passed the departmental examination by the Higher Standard, are allowed opportunities of gaining practical acquaintance with the duties of a Treasury Officer, and that they are placed for the purposes of training in charge of district treasuries under the general supervision of the Deputy Collector ordinarily in charge, or of some other competent officer on the spot, for a period of not less than six weeks or more than two months in each year, and it was also laid down that a certificate from the Collector of the district, that each officer in training has, under the above provisions, duly attended to and satisfactorily discharged the duties of Treasury Officer, should be indispensible to his being declared to have passed any departmental examination.

2. The orders contained in the Resolution of the 4th July 1892, under which Special Deputy Collectors and Sub-Deputy Collectors are required to pass the departmental examinations, have, however, so largely increased the number of officers liable to those examinations that a strict compliance with the above rules is no longer possible. The production of a certificate regarding treasury work will therefore not be an obligatory condition of the examination in future, and it will be considered sufficient if candidates are able to pass their examinations in treasury subjects. At the same time the Lieutenant-Governor is convinced of the importance of allowing to young officers in training sufficient opportunity of learning treasury work, and hopes that District Officers will be careful to see that Assistant Magistrates, Deputy Collectors, and Sub-Deputy Collectors under them are afforded such opportunities whenever possible.

APPENDIX XII.

Resolution No. 3111*A*., dated the 4*th July* 1892, regarding the admission of Special Deputy Collectors and Sub-Deputy Collectors to the Departmental Examinations. (Extract paragraphs 7 to 9.)

* * * * * * * *

7. In these circumstances, the Lieutenant-Governor considered it desirable to lay down as an inflexible rule that all Special Deputy Collectors shall be required to appear at the departmental examinations under the same conditions as Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors of the Provincial Service. If they do not pass these examinations within the time prescribed from the date on which it is made compulsory on them to appear, they must be reduced to their permanent appointments as Sub-Deputies.

8. In regard to Sub-Deputy Collectors, also it is now laid down that they shall be required to appear at the examinations under similar conditions. In their case, however, the rule can only be enforced, in the first instance, with considerable exceptions. It cannot be applied to the senior officers of the service, who have reached an age when they cannot be expected to pass examinations. Nor would it be fair to extend the rule to officers who, at the date of the present orders, have been confirmed in their appointments. For such officers, therefore, the examinations will be optional. But it must be distinctly understood by all who are concerned that if they do not succeed in passing at least the Lower Standard of examination, they will not be eligible for promotion to the grade of Special Deputy Collector. It is optional for them to compete at the examinations, or not, as they please; but if they have not passed the Lower Standard, they will be passed over for promotion. There is no need, however, to make any exception in the case of officers who have not yet been confirmed in their appointments or are still probationers in the service, and for such officers the Lieutenant-Governor is now pleased to decide that it shall be compulsory on them to appear at the examinations. The following orders are applicable to their case:—They will not be confirmed in any grade higher than that of the fourth grade of Sub-Deputy Collectors until they have passed the Lower Standard of examination, and they will not be confirmed in any grade higher than the third grade until they have passed the Higher Standard. Their position in these grades will primarly depend on the date on which they are declared to have passed, and their eligibility for substantive pro tempore promotion will (other things being equal) be regulated accordingly. If they fail to pass their examinations within the prescribed periods, they will be liable to lose their appointments under the same conditions as now apply to Officiating Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors.

9. All Sub-Deputy Collectors, for whom the examinations are now declared to be optional, will be required to send in their names as intending candidates through their District Officer and Commissioner to the Under-Secretary to Government in the Appointment Department, at least two months before the date which is ordinarily fixed for holding the half-yearly examination. If they neglect to comply with this rule, they will not be allowed to appear. The names of those officers for whom the examination is obligatory will be included in the half-yearly lists of those who are liable to appear at the examination without any further representation on their part.
